YANKEE INFIELD SECOND IN DOPE

St. Louis Players Outthit Opponents on American League Team

NEW YORK Sept. 27 (AP)—Offensively the infield of the St. Louis Cardinals champions of the National league, shows a slight superiority over the New York Yankees, coming to bat in behalf of the American League in the approaching world series.

The four regular infielders of the Cards have a batting average of .293 against .274 for the same number of players likely to occupy places in the Yankees first line of defense. Base running activities of the two quartets are not impressive but the westerners maintain their slight edge here, also with a total 37 to 29.

Gehrig Tops Bottomley Lou Gehrig, with a batting average of .311 tops Jim Bottomley, who has compiled .297. Gehrig has been more successful in hitting for extra bases than the guardian of the first floor for the Cardinals with 46 doubles, 29 triples and 14 home runs. Bottomley has hit for the circuit more often than Gehrig with 19 home runs but is behind in doubles and triples, his totals being 28 and 13.

Manager Hornsby, even though below his usual form has out hit Tony Lazzari but the Yankee second sacker has been much more successful in negotiating triples and home runs. With a batting average of .317 compared to .279 for Lazzari, Hornsby has made only five triples and 11 home runs while the former Pacific coast star has 14 three base hits and 18 home runs. Hornsby drove out 25 doubles to 27 for Lazzari.

Bell Better Hitter Lester Bell, Cardinal third baseman, has a better record than that of Joe Dugan, who will play opposite him. On paper Bell is the best hitter in either infield. His average for the season is .329. Dugan has hit .284. Bell, however has made 30 doubles, 14 triples and 17 home runs while Dugan has been forced to satisfy himself with 22 base hits, five for three bases and one for the circuit.

Mike Koenig, of the Yankees, and Tom Thoenow, representing the opposition at shortstop are not among the leading hitters but Koenig's average tops that of Thoenow .269 to .255. The advantage also extends along the line of extra base hitting. Koenig leads in doubles 28 to 13; in triples 8 to 4; and in home runs 5 to 2. Thoenow is the better base runner, 7 to 4.

George Toporec probably will have a chance to look over the tops of his "spears" from an infield position for the Cardinals during the series. He has out hit Mike Gazetta, who has the first call as a Yankee infield sub, .266 to .232.

MEDFORD IS VICTOR MEDFORD, Ore., Sept. 27 (AP)—Medford defeated Grants Pass 11 to 10 in the second game of the play-off series to decide the championship of the Southern Oregon baseball league, in a game marked by many errors and weird umpiring there being three umpires. Medford took the lead in the 7th inning when they scored 7 runs on
