AT THE THEATERS

Harold Lloyd and Thunder on Star Double Bill

It is one thing to make pictures that are funny and quite another to make ones which are fine in the truest sense of the word. It is the custom of Harold Lloyd to make pictures of the latter type, "Humping Into Broadway," which will be shown Tuesday and Wednesday at the Star theatre. It is said to be a perfect example of the comedy which has its deeper side as well as its many hilarious moments. This picture was one that really made Lloyd what he is today. It was a sensation a few years ago, and believing that many people would like to see it again, Pathe is re-releasing it at this time. Like a famous story, Lloyd pictures do not grow old without growing more popular at the same time.

Doug Fairbanks Picture Full Of Adventure

Never in all Fairbanks' career, it is said by critics everywhere, did he have a photoplay what gave him such splendid opportunities for athletic stunts—the type of film portrayal which brought him his earlier success, and in "Don Q, Son of Zorro," at Sherrys there are feats of nimbleness and daring that are said to be far in excess of anything the redoubtable "Doug" has ever presented.

One of the unusual things in this Fairbanks United Artists Corporation release is the exceptional skill shown by the star in manipulating the menacing and snake-like bull-whip. This weapon—for such it really is in the hands of a skilful person—is a very long, very slender and very sinuous lash, fastened to a short butt-like handle, and tapering from an inch or so in thickness to little more than a small cord in its fifty or sixty feet of length. It was used by cattlemen in the early ranch days of Southern California.

With this whip Fairbanks performs feats that surprise and startle. With it he first wins his way into the hearts of the Spanish populace; with it he saves many persons—and the life of an enemy—when a madman lunges from the ring and invades the streets; and with it, also, he triumphs in the most daring and lady-love as well as against himself.

The cast includes Paulette Goddard, Malcolm Waite, and Margaret Redmond.

The "Smiffo" are in town for a short stay in "Smith's Vacation," the new Mack Sennett comedy which will also be a feature attraction on the program. Ruth Hiatt, Raymond McKee and little Mary Ann Jackson head the cast.

You Wouldn't Keep Her Waiting at Your Door

When the doorbell rings you answer it promptly because you don't like to keep people waiting.

It is even more important that your telephone callers are not kept waiting. Calls are often lost because the person at the other end of the line thinks there is no one at home and hangs up.

Answering the telephone promptly helps us to provide you with the best possible service.
