Natural Figures May Return Soon

By the Associated Press

While there is only a suggestion of waists being shown in the new English models, there are all kinds of devices which hint at the waist line rather than indicate it. There are little gold buckles which fasten in the front and bows which tie at the side.

"Do these effects mean that women are going to have their natural figures again?" a modiste was asked.

"If we succeed," she said, "they may gradually come back in style again and those women who have starved themselves for five years will be able to eat again."

KNICKERS IMMODEST?
JEPPERSON, Ind. — Because the principal thinks knickers are immoral and immodest, nine-year-old Virginia Allen cannot go to school. She has been debauched twice a day for three weeks. Her mother, who insists that knickers are at least as modest as the little short dresses that other children wear on the swings at the school playgrounds, is contemplating litigation.

EUGENE, Ore., Oct. 5 (AP)—The annual Lane county fair ran behind approximately $1500 this year, according to the report of H. H. Earle, secretary. Increased premium list and plentiful show-ers were ascribed as the principal causes of the deficiency.

Imagination must have been more severely taxed in thinking out names for them.

Legion's Style Show Plans Are Making Headway

As plans for the style show, to be given here October 26 and 27 under the auspices of the La Grande post of the American Legion, progress interest becomes greater and already the legionnaires are looking forward to a record attendance on both nights.

Millinery shops and ladies ready-to-wear stores of this city have already selected several pretty models, who will appear at the show, and are choosing the best of their stock to be displayed at that time. Twenty minutes will be the time limit allowed for the display of each store and each will arrange its own set, furnishing music or whatever is desired.

The style show will take place at the Arcade theatre and in addition to it an even more gorgeous display of fashions will be given in pictures, with the showing of

"Fig Leaves" is a regular run picture and was scheduled to show here the 28th and 27th of this month before arrangements were made for the style show, but an exhibition of present styles on living models is expected to add much to the production.

The picture shows the evolution of feminine wearing apparel from 1850's time until the present day. Adrain, designer in pictures, created the clothes for the picture.

The staging of the style show is the first effort on the part of the legion in raising money for the state convention to be held here next summer. Seventy-five cents admission will be charged for the first three rows down stairs and the logs seats of the theatre which will be reserved and 50 cents for the other seats in the house.

Any exhibitors, not already listed, wishing to take part in the style show are asked to notify Raymond O. Williams, chairman of the committee in charge.
