Union County M. E. Aid Societies in Annual Meeting

The La Grande Ladies Aid society of the First Methodist Episcopal church will be hostess next year when the M. E. aid societies of Union county meet for their annual convention. An invitation for next year's convention was extended by Mrs. D. W. Beck, of La Grande, yesterday afternoon when 196 women gathered at Cove for this year's meeting, and it was unanimously accepted.

The convention of the Union county aid societies, the first of which was held a year ago at Union, was called to order by the president, Mrs. Sherwood Williams of La Grande, at 11 o'clock, in the M. E. church of Cove after all of the members present had registered.

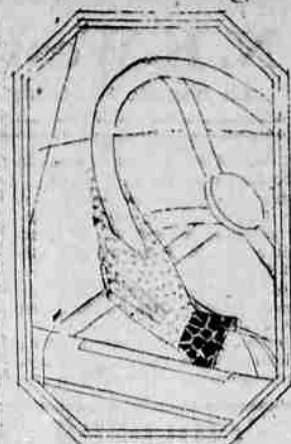

A song by the congregation opened the meeting, followed by prayer led by Mrs. Alice Payne, pastor of the Cove church. Miss Payne also gave the address of welcome, which was responded to by Mrs. Linzie Dalton, of North Powder.

Mrs. Williams then named the nominating committee for the purpose of selecting officers for the coming year. Mrs. A. Brockbank of Island City, Mrs. Herbert Speckhart, of Alsea, and Mrs. E. Williams, of North Powder, were named on the committee.

A hot-luck lunch and visiting hour occupied the time from noon until 1:30 o'clock, when the meeting was again called to order, followed by congregational singing. A trio—Mrs. Will Adler, piano; Mrs. Ed Jasper, violin; and Mrs. Ray Fuller, soprano—furnished several selections, followed by songs by a double quartet made up of members of the Cove society and directed by A. A. Ancker. Mrs. Anson, of Island City, gave a reading and Mrs. R. Ralph Clark, of La Grande, played two piano numbers.

The convention address was given by Mrs. George M. Pierce. Her subject was "The Women of the Bible." Two announcements were made during the afternoon; Mrs.

The nominating committee recommended Mrs. W. W. Wade, of Island City, as president of the county organization for the new year, Mrs. Everett Wallingford, of Alsea, as corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Baker, of Cove, as recording secretary. The nominations were accepted and the new members took office, succeeding Mrs. Williams, of La Grande, Mrs. George M. Pierce, of La Grande, and Mrs. E. R. Reuter, of Union.

The presidents of the various county societies, who are vice-presidents, reported their year's work.

After the invitation for the meeting next October, the convention closed with the song "Hail to the One That Rides," and prayer by Mrs. Hall K. Wallin, of Island City.

Mrs. A. A. Antles and Mrs. B. B. B. headed the Cove committee on arrangements for the meeting and much credit is due them for the success of the convention, local women declare.

Officers of the Ladies Aid society of the First Presbyterian church were hostesses yesterday afternoon at the regular meeting of the society, which was set aside as a special day for guests. Sixty women were present.

The business session was presided over by Mrs. C. R. Eberhard, vice president, in the absence of the president, Mrs. John Thelen, who is in Portland. Plans for the annual bazaar of the society to be held Nov. 19 and 20 were discussed and further arrangements made.

During the social hour refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Eberhard, Mrs. Ray Murphy, Mrs. E. M. Jackson, Mrs. W. C. Ross, Mrs. Oscar Porech, and Mrs. Walter Nowland.

Twenty-seven members and five visitors were present for the meeting of the Missionary society of the Christian church yesterday afternoon in the annex of the church.

After a short business session, presided over by Mrs. R. J. Kitchin, of the Bay, C. V. Dunn, pastor of the church, had charge of the program, the subject being "The Rural Church." Mrs. Ida Frensen gave a talk on the rural church. Mrs. C. V. Dunn read a letter from a friend who is a missionary in Africa, and Mrs. Silvis read a poem entitled "The Hills of the Field." Mrs. Stanton Lapham spoke on "Gospel Missions in Korea," and was followed by a prayer by Mrs. George Anderson, Mrs. Walter Price, Mrs. Purdy and Mrs. Dallas Green.

Several women of the society presented a playlet entitled "The Rural Church, the Old and the New."

After the program Mrs. Jennie Byers, Mrs. Freda Byers and Mrs.

Forest Wilson, hostesses for the afternoon, served refreshments.

Bouvys Entertain At Bridge Party

Six tables of bridge were in play last evening when Dr. and Mrs. Lee Bouvy entertained the members of the Evening Club at their home on Washington avenue.

Lovely bouquets of gladiolus were arranged about the rooms, making a delightful setting for the card games.

Mrs. Ray Murphy won high score among the women of the club and was awarded first prize. The men's club prize was won by Chase Pohnenkamp. Guest prizes for the evening went to Mrs. Walter H. Guild and Leslie Kinzel.

A two-course luncheon was enjoyed after the games.

Mrs. Bouvy will be hostess to the women of the club Oct. 12.

Announcements
Social announcements may be printed in this column free of charge. Any announcements pertaining to any function such as cooked food sales, etc., will be refused. Announcements to be printed the same day, must be in society editor's hands by 4:00 o'clock.—News, editor's note.

The Christian church will observe church night, a monthly event, at the church Friday evening. Dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock, with each family bringing something for the dinner. There will be a program of music and talks. All members and friends of the church are invited.

Sister Mary Says:

BREAKFAST—Sliced peaches, cereal, hot milk, broiled bacon and liver, toasted graham rolls, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Potatoes in peanut butter sauce, sliced tomatoes, brown bread, apple charlotte, milk tea.

DINNER—Chicken en casserole, escarole and cucumber salad, pear purfuit, crisp nut cookies, corn bread, milk, coffee.

The casserole of chicken is so rich with vegetables that no other vegetable is planned. Children under 16 years of age should not be allowed to eat escarole, but they may have the escarole finely minced and seasoned with lemon juice and olive oil.

Potatoes in Peanut Butter Sauce—Three cups sliced cooked potatoes, 2 cups milk, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 tablespoon flour, 3 tablespoons peanut butter, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons buttered crumbs.

Melt butter without bubbling. Stir in flour and slowly add milk, stirring constantly. Cook until thickened and smooth. Season with salt. Work peanut butter with a fork until creamy and add 1/2 tablespoonful of the sauce. Work with fork, adding sauce slowly, until blended and smooth. Rubbed the sauce and pour over potatoes in a well-buttered baking dish. Cover with buttered crumbs and bake in a hot oven for 20 minutes. (Copyright, 1926, NEA Service, Inc.)

Movie Sidelights

By the Association Press
Erin Lathissoniers, who plays a small bit in Lou Tellegen's next production appears in a modish black lace gown but wears no hose. Instead, every day she is engaged before the camera, one of the studio scenic artists paints a gaily colored butterfly on one of her legs and a Shasta daisy and foliage on the other.

The sea classic, "Two Years Before the Mast" promises to be two years before the camera in its motion picture production.

In filming Richard H. Dana's immortal story, Roland West will build a copy of the famous sailing vessel and with crew, cast and technical staff will retraced Dana's voyage around the horn. There will be several months of research work and plans call for more than a year of photography.

Universal maintains a silver "minin" department with its own smelting plant for the reclaiming of silver from discarded film.

Savings in silver often run as high as $500 in a single week.

She Has a Very Kind Heart

This is a cold, calloused age, but it has its kind hearts, at that. A burglar climbed through the window of Mrs. Nettie Johnson's house in St. Louis one night, waking her up. Instead of yelling for the cops she listened to his story of being down and out, gave him $14 and let him escape by way of the kitchen, where he fixed himself a 2 a. m. breakfast. He thanked her very kindly.

while waste film sometimes accumulates to such an extent that it has to be shipped to the eastern plant.

The sensitized surface of film, whether it be for a "Brownie" camera or for a motion picture camera, is rich in silver, consisting, as it does, largely of silver nitrate.

In regarding the value from discarded film, the emulsion, as the surface is called, is removed. The silver nitrate is precipitated from the solution and is placed in an electric shaker. The silver is separated, cast in ingots and marketed.

Before the government will buy it to make into silver coins it must contain a trace of gold and it is necessary for the plant to purchase a small amount of gold to melt into the silver.

What do stenographers in motion picture scenes write when they are supposed to be turning out reams of work? In Fox Films version of "The City," the girls in the office of George Rand, Jr., during the "Rand for Mayor" campaign, had no choice at all.

They just had to write—"Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their party."—in order to be in the atmosphere of the thing.

WOMAN PAYS PENALTY

BOSTON—The noise of a jazz orchestra from a nearby dance hall was insufficient reason for Miss Marion Bray, 32, to put nails and broken glass where the leader's car would run over them, in the view of Judge Briggs. He fined her $10 and sentenced her to two months in jail.

Bad luck is usually caused for bad luck, while good luck is usually taken for granted.

Chinaman's laundry check.
X-ray plates, too, are interesting but of no value unless the person who looks at them knows the language and he can learn it only by years of study. Unless a man knows anatomy, how can he know whether a bone is larger or smaller, harder or softer than normal?

Unless he knows pathology, that is, the manner in which disease attacks tissue, how can he interpret the X-ray shadows in terms of disease? How can he tell whether the shadows he sees in the lung mean tuberculosis or not?

Many men flock to new medical specialties like gamblers to a new oil field. Some states and cities have done something to mitigate this evil, but "hotheaded" in this line, traffic in health and life, is popular.

A few surgical instruments do not make a surgeon; a saw, hammer and square do not make a carpenter; nor do a wrench or pipe tongs make a plumber. It requires years of special training to become a surgeon or an oculist and it requires an equal time to become a qualified X-ray man.

The Garden
TULIPS FOR THE BORDER
One of the most attractive uses for the May-flowering tulips, the Darwin Cottage and Breeder classes as well as the Rembrandt, business Hybrid and Parrot types which give us a bewildering variety of stripes, is in small groups in the border of hardy perennials. From one to half a dozen bulbs may be tucked in here and there between the perennials, such as delphiniums, columbines and other taller-growing kinds. They will come up and bloom in mid-May before there is any color in the border and by the time their bloom is passed the dying leaves will be concealed by the perennials.

Tulips used in this manner all over the garden give a brilliant effect and are much more easily handled than in large beds and masses which are bound to be unsightly for some time after the

SELECTING A HUSBAND FOR MISS X-RAY.
By Lewis Grayson Cole, M. D., New York City.

X-ray is the youngest sister of the medical specialties. She was born about a generation ago and is just now coming into maturity. In the early days Miss X-ray was not considered a legitimate, dignified member of the family of medical specialties.

Like Tony in Uncle Tom's Cabin, she "just grew up" without much supervision from her parents, General Medicine and Mrs. Electricity and she was rather quarrelsome with all her sister specialties.

But in her early teens she was an interesting flapper who attracted many suitors. Some of them were qualified with medical degrees and some were not. Now comes the selection of a husband for Miss X-ray.

She should be a physician with a knowledge of anatomy, physiology, pathology, medicine and some knowledge of surgery and something of the other sister specialties, pledged to a life of service and high ethical standards, or shall he be a conventional quack to ruin her reputation and wreck her future?

That is for you readers to decide. Every time you or your friends need an X-ray and go to a man, who is not trained in the making and reading of X-ray plates, you are favoring one of the less desirable suitors for the hand of Miss X-ray.

The shadows of X-ray plates are like the hieroglyphics on an obelisk. They are very interesting but of no value unless you know the language. They are like the

A Military Frock

In full command of the new Season's chic.

Precisely tailored, from the epaulette of buttons continued down the Sleeve, to the jewelled fob on the square Pocket, this interesting Frock of Crepe Satin uses the reverse side of the fabric for the snug hip band and border at the hem. A high white turnover Collar completes the military effect.

Satin and Faille

Combine to prove that fabric cleverly used can dispense with trimming.

Nothing more than a gold leather belt and a novelty button at the high Neck is needed to set off the beautifully simple lines of this unusual Frock. The body of the Dress is of Faille, and the Cuffs—while the Sleeves, the set-in Plaits at the sides and the new Yoke that ends in a prolonged V, are of Satin.
