OUT OUR WAY

AT THE THEATERS

"Hard Boiled," At Star, Has Swift Action

It would probably be impossible to crowd more thrills into a single picture than Tom Mix has incorporated in his latest production "Hard Boiled" which opened at the Star theatre last night for a three days run. The picture is an adaptation of Shannon Pile's great story of the West and the thrills follow one another so closely that they fairly overlap, for Mix is incessantly on the jump in this picture.

He leaves Chicago for the West to help Abigail Greer manage a judge ranch which belongs to his rich uncle. On the way he is forced to exchange clothes with a physician and when he arrives at the ranch he has to masquerade as the doctor.

Tom knows a lot about fast riding and more shooting, but absolutely nothing about medicine. But his masquerading has won the love of Abigail's beautiful niece and Tom decides to keep up the deception.

The scene where Tom and the crooks have a hand to hand grapple on the roof of the fast moving train is one of the most thrilling climaxes staged in a Mix picture.

Helen Chadwick has the leading feminine role. Phyllis Haver is very realistic as the hard-boiled "Diamond Saddle" and in his comedy bits, Tom is given able assistance by Charles Conklin and "Spec" O'Donnell. Other good performances are given by Ethel Gray Terry, Dan Mason and Emily Fitzroy.

Exciting Drama At Sherrys This Evening

There is excellent and exciting screen entertainment at the Sherry theatre for "Bride of the Storm," a J. Stuart Blackton production for Warner Bros. starts today with Dolores Costello in the stellar role.

"Bride of the Storm" takes its title from the stormy quarrels and scheming battles of three crafty Dutchmen to win the fortune of a lovely orphaned girl by marrying her to the youngest of their family. Hans, a half-witted boy. The girl is saved from a miserable fate by an adventurous young Naval officer who does not speak her language, but wins her by the language of love and rescues her from the keepers of the lighthouse.

From "come-on" to caddy is the range covered by Eddie Cantor, one of Broadway's comedians, in "Kid Boots," Paramount's comedy which opened at the Arcade theatre last night.

"Kid Boots" convicted last night audience with one laugh after another. It starts in an east-side clothing store. Cantor is the "come-on" who forcibly lures customers in from the street.

Eddie finds himself enmeshed in a maze of difficulties when he starts John Barrymore—makes a lovely and appealing heroine. Even in the shabby greasy dress she wears, her charming personality and the sincerity of her acting is apparent. Older stars in the industry are already looking to this gifted young newcomer to outshine them all.

The supporting cast is one of the most brilliant assembled in recent pictures, with such consistently stirring performances being given that the entire performance takes on a most remarkable strength and power. In includes John Harron, Tyrone Power, Sheldon Lewis, Otto Mattsson, Julia Swayne Gordon and others.

"Bride of the Storm" takes its title from the stormy quarrels and scheming battles of three crafty Dutchmen to win the fortune of a lovely orphaned girl by marrying her to the youngest of their family. Hans, a half-witted boy. Today and Saturday will be your last chance to see "Kid Boots" unless you wait to see it in Portland when it plays there at advanced admission prices.

WHEN WE THINK THE OTHER FELLOW KNOWS

Some people would be far better off if they used their own judgment rather than placing so much confidence in the judgment of the other fellow. The lack of self-confidence has cost many a man a considerable sum. If we were able to think as fast as the other fellow can talk, likely our judgment would save us money.
