

LINDSEY KNOWN OVER THE GLOBE

Denver Juvenile Judge Coming to La Grande on October 19

Judge Ben Lindsey, of Denver, is coming to La Grande, on the evening of Oct. 19 at L. D. K. tabernacle, to give an address on the subject nearest and dearest to his heart—the subject that has made him famous throughout the civilized world, "The Problem of the Boy and Girl."

Judge Lindsey gained fame through his work as judge of the juvenile court of Denver. He became judge of this court in 1901 and so great has been his work that practically every juvenile court owes its inspiration to him. It is said, European nations have sent royal commissions to Denver to learn his methods and Japan as so filled with the wonders of him that the commissioners from that country even took photographs of the court room so that it might be exactly copied.

As long as he busied himself with playgrounds and public baths he was the universal idol. But the time came when he left symposiums and began to hunt the causes behind the troubles of mothers and children, and this was the beginning of a long and hardfought struggle with the entrenched interests of commercialized vice.

And Lindsey has won for he has been able to make people see that the fight for the children is after all the fight for the fathers and mothers as well, it is said. "I believe in Judge Lindsey because he has brought something of worth to us," says Bishop McConnell, well known as one of the leaders of the Methodist church.

Enter Al From Maryland As A Demo Candidate

By CHARLES P. STEWART NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Governor Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland is now unmistakably in the limelight as a democratic presidential possibility.

It all depended on his renomination as chief executive of the Cockade State at the recent primary. Beaten, he'd have been out of consideration for the presidency. Overwhelmingly victorious, he's in the running.

It remains for him to be re-elected in November, and Maryland isn't always a democratic state, but it always is except when there's disunion in the state democracy's ranks, and there are no signs of it at present.

So it's reasonably safe to assume that the governor will succeed himself by a satisfactory majority.

Ritchie's limelight isn't quite as bright as Al Smith's or William G. McAdoo's. If, however, Smith's and McAdoo's limelight cannot be another in 1928, as they did in 1924, then Ritchie's limelight will be about as good as anybody's.

It may or may not have to compete with Allee Pomerene's.

In case Pomerene is elected to the senate from Ohio, he'll have a powerful limelight, but if he's beaten, he won't have any.

Senator Jim Reed's limelight isn't turned on full blast as yet, and it's too soon to predict how much it will brighten, or whether it will go out altogether.

In the opinion of politicians, Senator Jim was a little too slow in getting into the presidential limelight.

Vale Nimrods Get Bear Cub and Mama

VALE, Ore.—Al Manson and Don M. Graham were deer hunting along the south slope of the south fork of Burnt river, early one morning recently, when out of a thicket rambled a cub bear, Mr. Manson made a perfect shot at considerable distance, and Graham reached the bear first.

Graham heard a shuffle behind him and thought it was Al, but instead he looked into the angry eyes of Mammoth Bear. Mr. Manson, who carried the gun shot her through the hind leg, which turned her back into the underbrush. The hunter followed, while Mr. Graham waited, thinking to complete his inspection of the cub. This he was doing when, out of the thicket again appeared the frenzied parent.

Graham let out a whoop, the bear made a rush, and Mr. Manson, at the edge of the thicket, took a shot. The bear, now fatally wounded, again ran into the brush, followed by both men. They found her 100 feet distant.

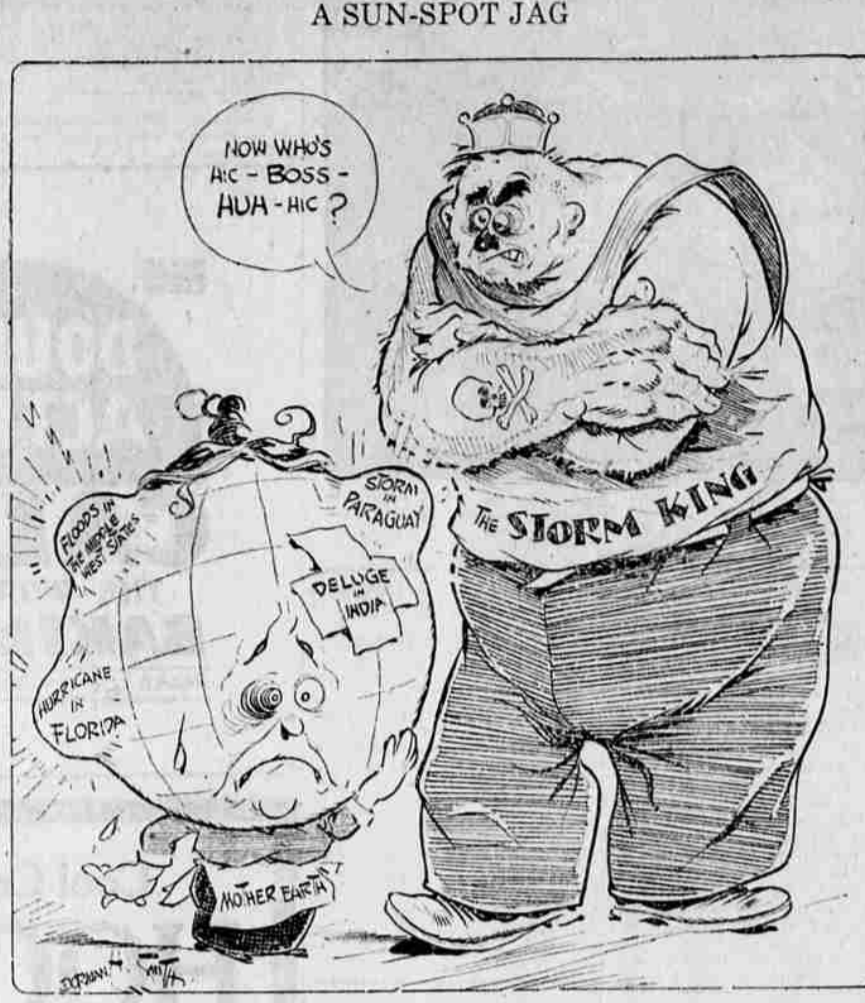

Onion Growers in Idaho Face Loss

BOISE, Ida., Oct. 8.—Idaho's onion crop may be damaged by frost to an extent of 50 or 60 per cent, it was announced here by Julius Jacobson, agricultural statistician for Idaho. The loss depends, Mr. Jacobson says, on the amount of the crop that had been harvested before the frost.

It has been reported to the statistician that probably half of the crop on the Twin Falls tract is a loss. Onions in the field when hit by the frost were first frozen and then when the warm sun hit them literally cooked and became soft and soggy.
