Lindsey Arrives Here on Train 17 Tomorrow Morn

Judge Ben B. Lindsey, the judge who "has been white with the kids," will arrive in La Grande on No. 17 Tuesday morning for his engagement to deliver a public address at the L. D. S. tabernacle at 8 o'clock in the evening under auspices of the P. T. A. council.

A check on ticket sales indicates that Judge Lindsey will be greeted by a "good-sized" house. Mrs. George R. Lyman, chairman of the committee, said this morning. "The band has promised to play an overture. And since the judge must leave on the 10:15 p. m. train, the program will have to start promptly at 8 o'clock."

ceived third place.

Ivan E. Oakes, who sent his six-horse team to the state fair this year, also is getting ready another team and expects to show it at the Portland show.

One member of the team, a five-year-old purebred Shire mare, brought home first prize from the fair. Besides the Shire mare there is one Percheron and the other are grade horses.

The team will be shipped to Portland Oct. 25. Willis Moss, one of the owners will accompany them and will drive them during the show.

Enter Champion Steer
R. G. Wheeler will enter his fat steer, which won the grand champion prize at the Union stock show this year, and another fat steer, and Green brothers of Union, will send several of their purebred Short-horn cattle.

Besides these stock entries a stock judging team from Union county clubs will also attend, accompanied by H. G. Avery, county judge. A team of this kind, representing Union county, has attended the show since 1921 and has ranked high among the teams from other sections. Last year it won third place in the judging competition and the year before placed fourth.

The members of the team, who will make the trip, will be chosen by the county agent, Saturday, Oct. 23, when a contest of club members from all over the county will be held at the Union experiment station.

A stock judging team represented the Union county clubs at the Pacific International one year before any club exhibits were ever held. The first exhibits were sent in 1922 and since that time the grade and number has been increased materially.

The individual exhibits have probably decreased in the last few years, however, as large numbers of horses, cattle and other stock were entered for some time after the show was reorganized and enlarged. The scarcity of horses now is probably one reason for the decrease.

County Wins Many Prizes
Union county has always carried away its share of the high places at the show, comparing favorably with the other counties of the state. Club members from here have often received better than the average prizes for their stock, as compared with clubs from the other counties also.

In addition to the stock exhibits several Union county legislators will have displays in the grain division.

EAST NORMAL SCHOOL HELD A NECESSITY

permanent, we shall be handicapped in the effort to give our children adequate education.

"An addition of 1,200 new teachers must be found each year to meet the state's requirements for normal trained teachers."

"On the basis of the present capacity of the normal school at Mouth, only 200 of those can be trained in Oregon."

"The new Ashland normal school add some to the training facilities of the state but the stock will be entirely taken up there. I predict by the time the third normal school is authorized by the people and built by the state, the state board of normal school trustees knew the situation when they recommended the Eastern Oregon normal school and the improvement of the referendum measure in November election is one of the most important things that the voters will need to do at the polls."

HUNTERS RETURN WITH PHEASANTS

La Grande Nimrods Successful in Quest of Birds Yesterday

Of the many hundreds who were hunting pheasants yesterday—the first day of the open season—more than a few were successful in bringing home birds. Between five and 1:30 o'clock yesterday morning the streets of La Grande looked more like a Saturday night, judging from the number of cars and all of the country roads in the valley were traveled in much from sun-up to sundown in the main highway on a busy day.

Hunters and dogs could be seen in the pastures and fields over the valley throughout the day. And those who had a good dog to help them were the most successful in finding the pheasants. After the first shots were fired in the morning the birds were aware of what was happening and kept out of the range of the shotguns as much as possible.

Watson in First
Irving G. Watson was probably the first to return to his home here with the first number of pheasants. He had killed four birds and was at home at eight o'clock.

Stanley Stevens, Jimmy Anderson and Merle H. Dwyer, county agents, were out in the morning to hunt. G. R. Claydon and Grover Hodgson were hunting in the Mt. Glen district and returned with two birds before noon. William Miller, W. P. Mohr, Clark Perry and Dr. R. P. Landis also returned home with birds.

Carlisle E. W. Ely and G. L. Dutton both killed four pheasants. They were out in the morning to hunt, each killing three birds. They went out again late in the afternoon and shot one more each, making the limit. George Cochran returned home with three birds.

Back From Malheur
Bill and Herman Seigrist and Walter Leeband, who were hunting in Malheur county, Friday, when the season opened there, killed the limit that day. They went out again yesterday and were successful in killing a few more. Others who returned home with birds were Dr. L. G. Gandy, Bill Wilson, Charles Wilson, P. L. Lilly, Adolph Seigrist and D. D. Putnam, E. T. and A. V. Andrews, county agents in Malheur county, Friday and Saturday and returned home with the limit of birds.

High Green went to Emathia county yesterday and killed his limit. Others from here plan to visit that county before the season closes.

Walter Lehman, Herman and William Seigrist and A. T. Hill are planning a trip to Malheur county Wednesday of this week to hunt pheasants.

PENDLETON, Ore., Oct. 18 (AP)—Many hunters were affixed in Emathia county yesterday and reports are that the bag was plentiful, with both Hungarian and China pheasants being killed.

PORTLAND CITY CLUB IN FAVOR OF NORMAL BILL

Another endorsement of the Eastern Oregon normal school measure is registered in the action of the City Club of Portland, which in a resolution passed recently stated that conditions are overwhelmingly in favor of the establishment of the next normal school here.

"Oregon citizens already has two normal schools and there seems to be no immediate need of establishing such an institution at Seaside," the resolution states.

One Injured in Highway Accident

Lewiston County escaped with slight injuries when he ran into a car driven by Lee Warnick, overturning his own machine in the ditch, and badly damaging both vehicles at about 9:25 p. m. Sunday on the Oregon Trail highway, near the Menzies Lumber mill.

The driver, left side of the Warnick car was jammed in the concrete pit. Neither he nor Frank Moffat, his passenger, were injured. Coffin admitted after he had been released from beneath the overturned car—that he was to blame, but could not explain what happened.

Shriners Gather in Baker Ceremony

BAKER, Ore., Oct. 18.—The people of Baker were awakened by the sound of the horns of the Alhambra band at 9:30 a. m. Sunday and 30 other members as they marched from the depot to the main part of town in the first demonstration on the last day of the four-day Eastern Oregon centennial.

leading financial institutions of this city."

Same Management
Under the same management the Equitable Savings bank will provide for La Grande another safe depository for the accumulating surplus funds and will endeavor to take that place in the community which a savings organization usually occupies, Mr. Williams declares.

"Commercial banking will be handled but no direct appeal will be made for this class of business, it being the intention of the new bank to give special attention to savings accounts and the careful investment thereof, and plans are now being formed which will provide for the savings depositors to participate in the earnings, in addition to the usual interest customarily paid. Trust agreements and escrow handlings will also receive attention," Mr. Williams said.

Williams in Charge
Personal supervision will be given the new bank by Mr. Williams, who is also president of La Grande Investment company and who has had 20 years of experience in bank work. Twelve years were spent in the La Grande National bank, six years with the State bank of Inhaber prior to 1918, and he has held the controlling interest and directed the same bank during 1925 and 1926.

Raymond O. Williams, who has been associated with La Grande Investment company for the past four years, will become cashier of the Equitable Savings bank.

Further announcement of the policies and plans of the new bank will be made from time to time, Mr. Williams concluded.

evening on "The Thing Eternal."

W. B. Starnes had charge of the evening, and led in a study of "Government Established in Righteousness."

Nineteen children attended junior church at the Central Church of Christ yesterday. Services of the day included two baptisms and two receptions of members through statements.

Plan "Guest Day"
Next Sunday, the Rev. C. V. Dunn announces, "Guest Day" will be observed. The missionary society will be in charge of the morning service. A rally will be held in the afternoon. In the evening, Mrs. Keithley, of Pendleton, district secretary of the Missionary society, will deliver the address.

Harvest festival was celebrated at the Salvation Army hall Sunday evening. Kevoy J. C. Barker delivered a sermon on "Results of the Harvest." The hall was seasonably decorated with leaves, flowers, fruit, vegetables and grasses.

The usual good-sized audiences heard the Rev. Oliver Riley in services at St. Peter's Episcopal church.

Obituary

FLOYD CARLISLE COOLIDGE
Floyd Carlisle Coolidge, 21, who has been a student of medicine at the University of Oregon, died at the Grande Ronde hospital last evening. He had been ill for about three weeks.

The decedent was born in Portland April 2, 1905. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Coolidge, who survive him.

Other surviving relatives are a brother, Ronald, a sister, June, his grandfather, O. F. Coolidge, an uncle, H. E. Coolidge, and an aunt, Mrs. H. P. Lewis, all of La Grande.

Funeral services will be conducted at the Bohnenkamp chapel at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, with the Rev. William Crockett of the First Presbyterian church, preaching the sermon.

MARIE STEPS ON AMERICAN SOIL TODAY

years was realized when she walked on the promenade deck with her children, Prince Nicholas and Princess Henri, and saw the jagged peaks of Manhattan in the distance.

Like the humblest Rumanian immigrant who has sought American shores, her greatest desire was to see New York's skyline, fantastic with varied monuments to the commerce and industry of the western Eldorado.

Ever since the Versailles conference the dashing queen of the little country so cruelly overrun by powerful enemies during the great war has longed to visit America.

Marie Modern
Although the blood of English and Russian royalty courses through her veins she has realized that the bustling new world republic whose progress dazzled Europe could give her more than war-riven Europe for the betterment of the which has fallen under her husband's sceptre through the crumbling of the empire over which sultans once ruled.

In spite of ancient lineage and medieval traditions with which she has been surrounded, Marie is essentially modern, the most modern queen in Europe and probably more modern in her tastes and sympathies than any European king.

City Prisoners Are Good Workers

"Yes, we certainly get a lot of work done when we put the prisoners out," Police Chief Clint Haynes commented this morning after Officer Roe left the station with three men and a bundle of picks and other similar instruments. It has been the practice for the past few weeks to permit prisoners in the city jail to work on the streets under supervision.

"We find that most of the men in for a short sentence are good workers," he continued. "City Manager W. C. Crews was pleased with the labor they turned in last week and I think we have solved the prisoner problem in pretty fair shape."

Within almost a stone's throw of Paris partridges, hares and other game may be brought down in the environs of Versailles, a prolific hunting ground.

N. Y. DEBATE HEATED
NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (AP)—The chief candidates in the New York state election set out on a second week campaign in the western part of the state today, beginning their tours in Buffalo.

The finger that was injected into the campaign last week has not been ignored, judging from the preliminary blast from the candidates yesterday.

Governor Smith, candidate for re-election on the democratic ticket, declared his opponent, congressman Ogden L. Mills, republican candidate, was untruthful in five distinct ways and was "firing blank cartridges" to add to the noise of his campaign. "The governor proposed to ignore the moral scandal debate and argue for state control of hydro electric power."

Congressman Mills retorted that Governor Smith was "crawling into a beer keg to get away from the rattle of the mills can," and in answer to a challenge from his opponent explained that he himself intends to vote "yes" on the state prohibition referendum, but does not propose to advise voters how they should vote.
