Mrs. Lee Bouvy Entertains at Bridge Luncheon

After a luncheon at 1 o'clock, members of the Glee club and 12 additional guests enjoyed bridge at six tables. Saturday afternoon when Mrs. Lee Bouvy was hostess at her home on Washington avenue.

Luncheon was served at the card tables which were arranged in a yellow color scheme. Bouquets of stateliest yellow chrysanthemums predominated in the decorations.

Mrs. Ray Murphy received high score among the club members at bridge and Mrs. Leslie Kinzel won high honors among the guests present. The second prize went to Dr. Margaret Ingie and a third to Mrs. F. J. Baileton.

With 12 friends as her guests Mrs. May Ledbetter entertained at a bridge party last evening at her home on Adams avenue. Bouquets of red carnations were arranged about the rooms, forming a setting for three tables of bridge.

Mrs. Eugene Millering won high score among the players, and the consolation prize went to Mrs. Clyde Webb.

After the games the hostess served a two-course luncheon.

Mrs. Dale Cox was hostess at a bridge party Thursday evening at her home on N avenue. Guests enough to make four tables were present.

Mrs. Andrew Loney Jr. received the first prize and low score went to Mrs. Hill Trumbull. Mrs. Allen C. Wright, who was in the city from her home at Baker, was among the guests.

Bouquets of pink carnations were used to decorate the rooms. Luncheon was served after the card games.

Leather Flowers

Leather flowers now are worn by the women with either a cloche hat or bag, or both.

Members of the Lather League of the English Lutheran church here spent an enjoyable evening Friday when they gathered in the church annex for social. The attendance was large.

After singing several favorite numbers, the Rev. Leif H. Aweled in several games.

Refreshments, appropriate for the Halloween season—pumpkin pie and cider—were served by Mrs. Ferdinand Jensen and her committee before adjournment.

Children's festival night was observed last evening by the local Women's lodge after the regular lodge meeting at Eagles' hall. Games were enjoyed by the children of the lodge members until a late hour, when the committee in charge of the evening served refreshments.

afternoon yesterday at the home of Mrs. R. E. Westenhaver on N avenue. Dr. Margaret Ingie and Mrs. H. E. Dixon had charge of the program and each read a paper on Greek sculpture. Mrs. Dixon told of the works and life of Scopas, and Dr. Ingie's paper was on Troxadeles, both Greek sculptors.

Mrs. E. P. Mossman gave a short talk on art appreciation, before the class adjourned to meet again two weeks from yesterday.

Annual Pheasant Dinner Is Served

The Willow creek district, near Imbler, enjoyed its annual Chinese pheasant feed Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Hiron. Each year on the first day of the open season residents of this community gather at one of the homes there for a pheasant feed. This year 40 persons were present.

Because of the scarcity of pheasants this year chicken had to supply a part of the meat. Last year 26 pheasants were killed, but not so many were to be found this year. Fruit salads, potatoes and gravy, pumpkin pie, and cakes of all kinds were also on the menu.

The meat and vegetables were served cafeteria style and the cakes, pies and other desserts placed on a large table in the dining room. A venison roast was also a part of the dinner.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Avery, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Longfellow and Mrs. R. W. Laughlin, of La Grande, Mr. and Mrs. Knight and Mr. and Mrs. L. Hinoman, of the Elgin vicinity, and Mr. and Mrs. Cap Tuttle's aunt and uncle who are visiting at Imbler from their home in California.

QUICK QUAKER, hot and enticing, is faster than plain toast. For scores of thousands it is solving the breakfast problem.

The most delicious of breakfasts, it provides an excellent food "balance" of protein, carbohydrates and vitamins—plus the "bulk" to make laxatives less often needed—that authorities have made the dietetic urge of the world.

Less nourishing foods, less delicious foods, simply to save time are a folly. Start now every day with food that "stands by" you through the morning.

S. P. Refuses to Carry Queen for $1

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 19 (AP).—The San Francisco Examiner says that the decision over whether Queen Marie of Rumania is to eliminate California from her itinerary followed closely a refusal on the part of the Southern Pacific and other railroads to transport the ruler and her party from Seattle to Los Angeles for $1.

The newspaper explains that when plans for the queen's tour were made it was arranged by Samuel Hill, an attorney of Mary Hill, Wash., for three American roads to carry the royal train across the continent at a cost of $1 a line, making a total transcontinental fare of $3 for the queen's party. When the Southern Pacific was asked to fall in line it declined, and was backed up by the Santa Fe.

Sister Mary Says:

SISTER MARY—Womans for BREAKFAST—Honeydew melon, cereal, thin cream, shirred eggs and tomatoes, crisp rye toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Baked macaroni and cheese, graham bread and lettuce sandwiches, caramelized apples, ginger snaps, milk, tea.

DINNER—Baked haddock with cucumber sauce, browned sweet potatoes, cabbage salad, Concord grapes, fudge cake, whole wheat bread, milk, coffee.

Children under six years of age should be served orange juice or a baked or stewed fruit in place of the melon suggested in the breakfast menu. And, of course, small persons should not have the sauce served with the dinner fish.

The woman who lives on a farm with apples always at hand will welcome the caramelized apple rule.

BISCUITS

Snowdrift is such a rich creamy shortening that it makes biscuits so good that the supply always runs low. It doesn't make any difference whether you use Snowdrift in your own biscuit recipe or in this one for Snowdrift Biscuits which Kate Brew Vaughn has given us.

2 Cups Flour (Sifted Before Measuring)
4 Teaspoons Baking Powder
1 Teaspoon Salt
4 Teaspoons Sugar
1/2 Cup Milk

Sift flour, baking powder, salt and sugar together. Pinch in the shortening, not too thoroughly, and add the milk all at one time. Do not stir but rather cut and fold in the dough until smooth and elastic. Take out on a floured board and pat and roll to about one-fourth inch in thickness. Form with large biscuit cutter and place on an ungreased biscuit sheet. Bake in oven 450 degrees F. (hot) for about ten minutes. When baked these biscuits should be flat on top like English muffins and therefore, just before putting in oven press down with palm of hand.

In the meantime put remaining sugar and nuts into a small iron spider and cook over a hot fire, stirring constantly until the sugar melts and discolors. Fill the cavities of the apples with the heavy jelly-like syrup in which they were cooked and pour the caramel mixture over the apples. Pour any remaining syrup around the fruit and top each apple with a spoonful of cream whipped until stiff and lightly flavored with sugar and vanilla.
