AT THE THEATERS

"Diplomacy" Is Tale of Suspense And Mystery

A vivid story of love and intrigue is the way Marshall Neilan speaks of his new Paramount production, "Diplomacy," which arrives at the Arcade on Friday for a two-day run.

Adapted from Victorian Sardou's stage play, "Diplomacy" has all the elements which make good screen drama. It has suspense, love interest, and mystery; all placed in the fascinating city of Deauville.

Bianche Sweet is ideally cast as "Dora," while Neil Hamilton plays opposite.

Kaule Williams, Matt Moore, Julia Swaine-Gordon, Sojin, "Huddy" Post, David Mir, and Gustav von Seyffertitz are in the cast.

"Golden Cocoon" Film Version Of Novel

"The Golden Cocoon," the Warner Bros. classic of the screen, began a two-day engagement yesterday at the Sherry theatre. It proved to be an excellent picture-ization of Ruth Cross's novel of Texas life.

Helen Chadwick, in the leading feminine role of Mollie Shannon—dubbed Mollie who later bursts her golden cocoon and is transformed into a radiantly beautiful woman, wife of the governor made a lovely heroine.

Frank Campana, as the governor, gave one of the best performances of his career. Frank Campana was in vivid convincing enough to strike terror in the heart of any

"Runaway Express" Coming to Star, Shot in Sierras

The great Sierras of Nevada with their swirling streams and narrow gorges, rocky declivities, steep passes formed a natural setting, surpassing the greatest height of technical directors, for the most thrilling railroad story ever filmed, "The Runaway Express," the Universal Jewel, starting Friday at the Star theatre.

Weeks of investigation and research by script writer Paul I. Wellman, over the great West, finally located the actual locale of the story.

Beneath towering crags and following the line of snaky canyons, the stinging twin rails of the Pioche Branch of the Union Pacific wind their tortuous way toward the main line. There, in the shadows of the giant Sierra pines, the little company stayed for four weeks, with headquarters at Clente, playing their parts and enduring the hardships of frost and rain to capture for the screen Seaman's matchless tale.

It was the first time that a mo-

"Old Soak" Is Said One of Big 1926 Hits

The perfect picture contains drama and comedy mixed in perfect proportion, with a cast that sincerely portrays its parts.

If a picture lives up to these requirements, it is sure to draw big crowds. Is "The Old Soak" showing for the last time tonight at the Arcade theatre perfect? The crowd last night seemed to think it was and we can find no fault with this admirable presentation of an old toper at his toping.

This is Jenn Hersholt's first starring vehicle and vindicates the decision of Carl Laemmle in starring a character actor. Not only has Hersholt the big role in the picture, but he succeeds through the sheer artistry of his acting in gripping the attention of the audience and winning their hearts by his presentation of the man's weakness.

In this picture, from Don Marquis' famous New York stage success, we have presented a dramatic but logical drama of American family life with plenty of comedy. The Old Soak's weakness might as well have been anything—but it picture is his weakness in this picture.

George Lewis and June Marlowe supply the love interest, Lewis being the son and Miss Marlowe a chorus girl.

WHEN WE THINK THE OTHER FELLOW KNOWS

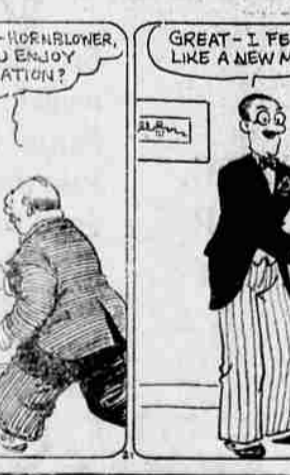

Some people would be far better off if they used their own judgment rather than placing so much confidence in the judgment of the other fellow. The lack of self confidence has cost many a man a considerable sum. If we were able to think as fast as the other fellow can talk, likely our judgment would save us money.
