AT THE THEATERS

Fairbanks on At Sherrys Tonight Only

Many screen thrillers have been seen at the Sherry theatre but it is doubtful if anything as exciting as "The Mile a Minute Man" has ever been flashed across the screen here.

The bright star of this startling photoplay which was first shown last night is William Fairbanks a husky youngster who has all the agility of his famous namesake and the physique of an Apollo.

Unlike most pictures of this type in the "thriller" class, there is a well developed story, excellent high class staging and an atmosphere of refinement. The story is of two rival auto manufacturers and their offspring. One is a son and the other a daughter. There is a cross fire romance and also some cross fire business rivalry which culminates in a thrilling track and road race in which high powered speed cars race over mountain and track in a breath-taking manner.

There are also one or two exhilarating fights in which William Fairbanks throws husky rangers around as if they were mere babies.

Mr. Fairbanks has a very capable support in Virginia Brown Fiske who can handle a speed car like Barney Oldfield. The rest of the cast are all well known screen players who, under the direction of Jack Nelson, give excellent performances.

The picture moves very rapidly with a thrill or two in every reel culminating at the end in a race to reach the track in time.

Good clean wholesome melodrama is found in "The Mile a Minute Man."

Comedy showing "The Heavy Pullback."

"Diplomacy," a Neilan Picture, Now at Arcade

Marshall Neilan's production.

"Diplomacy," which plays at the Arcade theatre today and Saturday presents an interesting picture.

The story is exciting and well told. It holds one's interest and, beside the beautiful romance that runs from start to finish, there's a mystery theme that's more intriguing than any heretofore filmed.

From the leading woman, Blanche Sweet, through the entire cast, one finds prominent players.

The story takes place in Deer-ville, Oregon, in the present year. A conference of World Powers is being held, with England, Russia, France, China and America prominently represented. The heroine, an English girl, "Dora" is in love and loved by "Julian Weymouth", handsome young attaché of the British Embassy. "Dora" is accused of selling secret information which she has obtained through her lover. The Casino, an exact replica of the famous one in Deer-ville, is without doubt one of the most impressive sets ever seen on the screen. The side-walk cafe represents another set that calls for particular mention.

Blanche Sweet's acting is superb and she photographs like a girl of sixteen. Hers is the most important role in the picture and she carries off highest honors.

Neil Hamilton plays "Julian Weymouth", the dashingly romantic hero. Women fans are going to enthuse about him.

Matt Moore, the omnipresent American, has most of the comedy scenes.

Arthur Edmund Carew as "Orloff"; Earle Williams, "Sir Henry"; Gustav von Seyffertitz, "Baron Bullin"; Arlette Marchal, "Ziska"; Julia Swayne Gordon, the Marquise; and David Mir as "Teague" all come in for their individual share of prominence.

The picture moves very rapidly with a thrill or two in every reel culminating at the end in a race to reach the track in time.

Comedy showing "The Heavy Pullback."

"Diplomacy," a Neilan Picture, Now at Arcade

Marshall Neilan's production.

A picture that no one should miss is "The Runaway Express", a Universal-Jewel, playing at the Star theatre today and Saturday. It is a masterly portrayal of the romance and thrills, the hardships and humor in the life of a railroad man.

The story concerns the efforts of Joe Foley to win the love of Nora Shannon and there is a "kick" climax that is so hair-raising and stirring that we will not spoil the pleasure of those who have not yet seen the picture, by divulging its nature.

Suffice it to say that for a pulse-throbbing story, a great cast and masterly direction "The Runaway Express" has yet to be excelled. The production was made in its entirety upon the very site of that in the original story, "The Nerve of Foley," by Frank Spearman.

Jack Daugherty, hero of numberless chapter plays, is the hand-some leading player. His characterization of the young engineer in a flawless portrayal. His cheerful smile and wholesome appearance make him ideal for his role.

Harry Todd, Charles K. French, William A. Steele, Madge Hunt and Tom O'Brien were all convincing in their delineations and several

WHEN WE THINK THE OTHER FELLOW KNOWS

Some people would be far better off if they used their own judgment rather than placing so much confidence in the judgment of the other fellow. The lack of self confidence has cost many a man a considerable sum. If we were able to think as fast as the other fellow can talk, likely our judgment would save us money.
