AT THE THEATERS

Versatile Stars Appear on Vaudeville Bill

An entirely new program of novelty, gretty girls, comedians, singing and dancing revues will be the attraction at the Arcade theater on Sunday.

The bill is headed by the Bolduc Six who present a high-class musical program. Jim Willis, "The Musical Chatterbox," is a clever fun-maker with constructive ideas in the way of humorous monologue. Wardley and Peters make their appearance in an act entitled "The Girl and the Gawk." Jesse Calbert in "Songs that Reach the Heart," is a pleasing entertainer and Manuel and Ruby, "The European Fearless Wonders," are a distinct novelty with a routine that is varied.

Gripping Picture Showing at Sherrys Tonight

Banner Productions' new melodrama, "Whispering Canyon," from John Merseaux's novel, is at Sherrys tonight. The story is one of rapid action and crashing situations which carries the spectator along at a breathless clip. Tom Forman did an excellent job of directing, increasing the suspense with every episode unfolded.

Mary Astor Stars in "Forever After"

A love story that starts in the halls of a schoolhouse of a New England town, breezes through the adolescent high school age and blooms among the fresh adventures of college days forms the theme of "Forever After," which will bring Lloyd Hughes and Mary Astor to the Star theater Sunday and Monday.

"Volga Boatman" Is Praised by Its Producer

Cecil B. DeMille himself cannot forward with the unqualified statement that, in his opinion, "The Volga Boatman," his latest independent screen production, is the greatest picture he has ever filmed. "I know such a statement sounds like a billboard," says the producer, "but inasmuch as I have only made this very broad statement once before in my career of 50 pictures, perhaps the underline will be accepted."

either with a princess of the blood when servant became master and master servant! And all of this great romance, played out in modern clothes against the red background of a modern social overthrow. Think back over the great romances of the French revolution, how all of them have been successful in stories and on the stage, and then consider the possibilities inherent in a modern French revolution.

"Third, I covet this opportunity because as yet it has been comparatively neglected in literature and art."

"Fourth, not since Swainson River has there been such a distinctly national, stirring folk song as the Volga Boat Song. Its rhythm supplied the excuse for this photodrama and its use during the playing of the picture will carry with it a tremendous parallel emotional force. As I've said, I've only used the term 'my greatest' once before and that for 'The Ten Commandments'. I expect much from 'The Volga Boatman'."

"The Volga Boatman," which will be shown at the Sherry theater Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, was adapted by Lenore J. Coffey from Berceville's novel. Featured are William Boyd, Elinor Fair, Victor Varconi, Kostoff, Julia Faye and Gilbert Edson.

"Comedy, Matt and Jeff. 'They Shall Not Pass.'"

Mary Astor Stars in "Forever After"

A love story that starts in the halls of a schoolhouse of a New England town, breezes through the adolescent high school age and blooms among the fresh adventures of college days forms the theme of "Forever After," which will bring Lloyd Hughes and Mary Astor to the Star theater Sunday and Monday.

The romance is brought to a thrilling climax in a war sequence which shows the hero as a captain in the American infantry in France and the girl a Red Cross nurse.

Based on the ever new, ever old theme of a rich girl and a poor boy, "Forever After" is given a decidedly original touch by the fast moving series of combative thrill football games, even more, hand-to-hand engagements between the lines in France.

Indeed, the inclusion of an actual game between the University of Southern California football team and an opponent in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena makes "Forever After" one of the most unusual action pictures first National has produced this year.

Lloyd Hughes plays the role of the poor but ambitious New England boy; Mary Astor makes of the rich town belle a screen character that will be remembered for months for her beauty and charm.

David Torrence and Alec Francis, two of the best characters on the screen; Eulalia Jensen, charming as a matronly figure in the film; Hallam Cooley and Lila Lee.

WHEN WE THINK THE OTHER FELLOW KNOWS

Some people would be far better off if they used their own judgment rather than placing so much confidence in the judgment of the other fellow. The lack of self confidence has cost many a man a considerable sum. If we were able to think as fast as the other fellow can talk, likely our judgment would save us money.
