Gertrude Brown And H. E. Skala Married Here

Miss Gertrude L. Brown and Herman E. Skala were married yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the First Presbyterian manse by the Rev. William Crosby Ross, pastor of the church, accompanying them at bridesmaid and best man were Miss Anna Denham and Elmer Skala, brother of the bridegroom.

Immediately following the ceremony the bridal party, accompanied by Miss Jean Chandler and Mat Kuresz, drove to Pendleton, from there Mr. and Mrs. Skala will go to Portland and other Western Oregon points on a short honeymoon trip, after which they will return to La Grande to make their home.

Both Miss Brown and Mr. Skala are well known here. He has been in the hardware business here with his father and brother for the past two years, during which time he has made many friends. Miss Brown has been a nurse at the Grande hospital and has made La Grande her home for a number of years. She is a graduate of the local high school.

ENTERPRISE (Special).—Two weddings of interest took place at Enterprise last week. Miss Velma Davis and Harry Hinton were married Saturday by the Rev. C. C. White, of the Presbyterian church, and Miss Irma Hookett and Ira Warren were married Monday by Justice A. B. Conway.

Entertains at Hallowe'en Party

Carlton Appleby, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Appleby, was host to 16 of his friends at a Hallowe'en party Saturday afternoon. The children came at 4 o'clock and enjoyed two hours of games before they were seated at a dinner table decorated in the Hallowe'en colors, where two courses were served.

Black cats, witches, pumpkins and other Hallowe'en symbols were much in evidence. Appropriate favors were found at each plate.

A magazine social was held Friday evening by the Christian Endeavor society of the Central Church of Christ at the church. Thirty members were present and a variety of games conforming with the name were played during the evening.

Magazine covers were used to decorate the room. After the games the committee in charge served refreshments. Members of the committee were Miss Anetta Johnson, Miss Byrl Jones, Mrs. Jay Runberg and Miss Edith Ebell.

Character Topic Of P.-T. Meeting

"Character Building" was the subject of Friday's meeting of the Central Parent-Teacher association, and was ably discussed by Miss Tiggelbeck, one of the teachers in the school. Mrs. Lloyd Pierce talked on "The Influence of The Home upon The Child of Pre-School Age," and W. W. Nussbaum, director of music in the La Grande schools, told of the influence of music upon the character.

Mrs. Flavia Hitter Sherwood sang a group of selections and Mrs. Ray Williams talked on "The Influence of Music in The Home upon The Character."

A. H. Hunter spoke briefly on the armory bill and the Eastern Oregon normal school measure and urged that everyone vote for both.

A business meeting preceded the program, presided over by Mrs.

"This dinner is planned to please the man of the house and, while there's nothing elaborate about it, more skill is required to serve this meal perfectly cooked than many that seem much 'dressier.' A broiled steak cannot be kept waiting; it must be served at once or it's ruined. French fried potatoes are spoiled by standing and cauliflower must not be overcooked to begin with nor wait after being creamed. It means a nice calculation of time to have this dinner all done and ready to serve without one dish waiting for the other.

FOUR COMMON DEFECTS OF CHILDHOOD
By C. N. Peeler, M. D., Charlotte, N. C.
Member Georgia Memorial Inst.

"As the twig is bent, so is the tree inclined."

"Train a child in the way he shall go and when he gets old it will not depart from it."

For a month or more now boys and girls have been at work in the public schools of the nation, preparing for the time when they will assume the same sort of responsibilities their parents are now shouldering. To keep children physically well, to train them in health habits, therefore, is a mighty important part of their present training.

There are four common defects for which parents should be on guard if they believe that nothing should be neglected which will maintain or improve health in their children. These defects, all too common, are: underweight; bad tonsils and adenoids; diseased or defective eyes and teeth.

Every boy and girl at the beginning of school should have his weight checked. If much more than ten per cent underweight, it is advisable to consult the family physician to determine whether there exists faulty health or diet habits which should be corrected in order that the child may be able to withstand the strain and exposure of school life.

Have your children examined by your dentist, too. Protect their teeth because there is only one permanent set. By taking care of teeth parents can do a valuable service to their children which in later life will be greatly appreciated. Good teeth are necessary care the mustard is free from lumps and thoroughly mixed with the other seasonings. Add to sauce and cook until thick and smooth. Add carrots and turn into a well buttered baking dish. Cover with buttered crumbs and bake in a hot oven until crumbs are brown.

Enlarged or diseased tonsils and adenoids are defects frequently present in children. These defects are often responsible for frequent colds, mouth breathing, restless sleep, caraches, dull listless face expression, all of which are detrimental to sound present as well as future health.

Does your child's brown wide-rimmed eyes? Has he granulated eyelids? Does he hold the book too close to his eyes? A pair of glasses fitted by a competent oculist, may be what your child needs for his eyes.

Correct these defects and physical and mental development will be normal. Your child also will be happier and do much better work in school.

An Evidence of Refinement

Good taste and good health demand sound teeth and sweet breath.

The use of Wrigley's chewing gum takes care of this important item of personal hygiene in a delightful, refreshing way.

Wrigley's removes odors of dining or smoking from the breath by cleaning the teeth, by stimulating the flow of digestive juices, and by the antiseptic action of the flavoring extracts for which Wrigley's is famous—"The Flavor Lasts!"

The result is a sweet breath that evidences care for one's self and consideration for others—the final touch of refinement.

Wrigley's is a thrice daily routine of people of refinement.
