HUSKIES DOPED TO TRIM BEARS

Cougars Favorites over Vandals—Saints Expected to Win

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 6 (AP)—With two Pacific coast conference games and one inter-sectional contest on the bill in northwest, interest in far western football centered in that section today.

The outstanding event was the annual classic between the University of Washington and University of California at Seattle.

With California staggering under four successive defeats, the Washington Huskies were doped to win their second successive victory over the bears.

Huskies in Pink
The Huskies eleven went through a light workout last night and appeared in better condition than at any time during the season.

The squad is intact with the exception of William Charleston Halfback, who is on the injured list. This place was filled during practice by Charles Carroll, who started against Whitman college a week ago. Coach Nils Irvie, of California, said that he would probably start Earl Jaha at fullback, leaving Captain Bert Griffin, who was slightly injured last Saturday, on the bench.

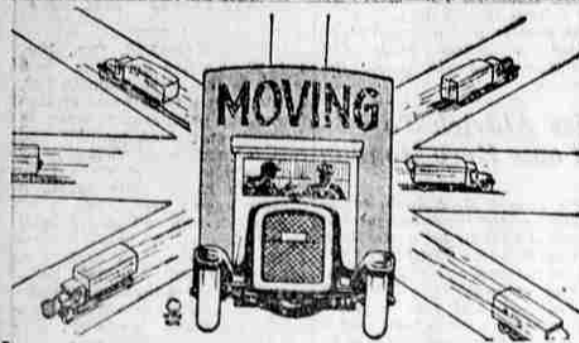

In the second coast conference contest, Washington State college, the only team to defeat the University of Washington this season, clashes with the University of Idaho at Moscow. The Washington Cougars, though nominally looked upon as the probable victors, were seriously handicapped by the loss of four first string players.

Saints Favorites
Unfettered St. Mary's colors which took its place among the strongest teams of the west by conquering California, meets Gonzaga university at Spokane in the inter-sectional battle. The Saints were favored to win.

At Walla Walla, Wash., Whitman college opposes the College of Idaho in a northwest conference game.

No Games in South
No outstanding contests were on the gridiron program in California. Stanford university, which loomed up as a conference winner by defeating the University of Southern California last week, expected to wallop the University of Santa Clara, at Palo Alto while U. S. C. took a day off, having nothing to do until the fray with the Oregon Angies next week.

'Bohemian Girl' To Open Arcade Roadshow Season

On Tuesday night, Nov. 16 the Arcade theater will usher in its roadshow season with May Valentine's comic opera organization presenting Halife's light opera masterpiece, "The Bohemian Girl"

This all-American company numbers 40 artists, including cast, choruses and special orchestra. Miss Valentine will personally conduct her orchestra from the pit.

Of this offering the Spokesman-Review says in part: "The May Valentine opera company in 'The Bohemian Girl' charmed the large audience which filled the Masonic temple auditorium. The opera is so deliciously melodic and its phrases flow so smoothly in a stream of purest music, that the score alone entitles it to kind words. To the delights of the music are added those of a fine presentation. The chorus not only sings well but is young and pretty. The principals are all musicians singing with finish and dramatic feeling."

Miss Valentine, in her tuxedo coat and smart skirt, looks picturesque at the piano, from which vantage point she conducts. The whole production is so workmanlike, so finished and so altogether well done, that the audience enjoyed every measure.

"I Dreamt I Dwelt in Marble Halls" sung by Margaret Hibbard, was like an old memory book become vocal, and Miss Hibbard, who has a soprano of sweetness, exactness of pitch and fine range, sang sincerely. Frederick Wipoloff sang the count when he sang "The Heart Bowed Down" was acclaimed.

George Shields as the chief of the gypsies was probably more entirely in character than any other member of the cast and was a favorite. Thomas Curtin, who looked like Lowell Sherman in a cynical mood, was admirable as the count's nephew. He handled his voice and monologue with equal ease. The role of Thaddeus by William Mitchell was sung with musicianship and real flair for its dramatic moments.

In fact, the opera is just one dramatic moment after another. Elizabeth Bickel as the queen, acted like the gypsy queen she was supposed to be, and sang well indeed. The quartet in the second act brought forth much applause.

Leonard Cassanova, captain of the Santa Clara (Calif.) University football eleven. He's one of Coach Adam Walsh's triple threats and does all the kicking and a big share of the team's passing. He also excels as a broken field runner, being one of the best in the far west sector.

PARKING SPACE FOR 15,000 CARS IN CITY'S HEART

CHICAGO, Nov. 6 (AP)—Parking space for 15,000 automobiles in the heart of the city, without standing one of them in the streets is an unique adjunct of Chicago. The parking area is in Grant park, on the shore of Lake Michigan. Just across Michigan avenue lies the business center. Grant park was made by filling in the lake. It is a half mile wide between the parking space and the shore, but a strip 300 feet in width lies between the depressed tracks of the Illinois Central railroad and the main driveway. In this space, for ingress, 7,200 feet long, 1,200 cars can stand abreast. With longitudinal driveways for ingress, there is room for 14 rows, or 16,800 cars.

APPLE SHIPPING RECORD IS MADE

10,077 Carloads Forwarded from Wenatchee, Wash. Region

WENATCHEE, Wash., Nov. 6.—There were 6304 cars of apples shipped during October, Bert Baker, secretary of the traffic association, announced, bringing seasonal shipments to 10,077 cars. This is a new record for shipments from the north central Washington district up to Nov. 1.

Last year at this time 9,275 cars had been shipped, while two years ago shipments totaled 7,161 cars. In 1925, the year of the record apple crop, the season's total on November 1 was 8,829 cars. During November it is estimated that 2,500 cars will be forwarded, leaving but 2,000 cars in the district.

It is not believed that shipments will equal the November estimate, as apples now in storage will no doubt be held until later in the season. Lou Mielke, Great Northern fruit agent, said there is no indication of any shortage of refrigerator cars. Shippers report that the Great Northern has given excellent service this fall.

Affairs of the "eat Wenatchee apples" have been closed up and the balance remaining on hand has been distributed among growers who paid in their share of the 1925 assessment of 3 cents a box for advertising Wenatchee apples. It was announced today. It was said that it had been necessary to wait until the assessments could be collected from some growers and organizations before the remaining dividend could be paid. Checks sent out to close up the

No Small Store Owner Can Afford to Neglect His Lighting

"It's just a little place, and we don't need much light." Sometimes we hear this from a merchant.

It sounds reasonable—but it doesn't check with the facts. The little place—the moderate sized and growing concern is just the store that needs a lot of light—and can't afford to be without it.

Light has the remarkable power to make big stores out of little ones. It attracts favorable attention—adds a note of up-to-dateness—makes buying and selling easier—speeds up turnover and stimulates profit.

We are particularly interested in the lighting of small stores—and believe you will find much to think about in our special offer on the famous Ivanhoe unit. We will give you lighting planned to fit your store.

A phone call will bring our representative.

We will install these units in your place of business for $1.00 down, 12 months to pay $1.00 per month per unit.
