

SUPPLY YOUR NEEDS FOR THE WINTER AT SPECIAL REDUCED PRICES, NOV. 10-20

There are all kinds of weeks throughout the year—for all kinds of purposes—but seldom does the observation of a special week permit a housewife to make substantial savings in buying actual necessities. That is possible during Canned Foods Week beginning Wednesday, Nov. 10, and lasting until Saturday, Nov. 20.

Because of special emphasis and concessions being made by the National Canners Association and the distributors of their products, special prices will prevail during that time. It is the beginning of the winter season when canned foods are most convenient as well as most in demand. Every housewife will use large quantities of canned goods during the coming months—now is the time to buy them. The stores in the La Grande territory listed below are co-operating to make Canned Foods Week profitable and attractive.

Assuring Food Quality

Canned foods offer you the finest quality that the farms of the world afford. The best scientific methods are combined to handle, prepare, and can the choicest fruits, vegetables, meats, fish, and food combinations desired for the perfect menu. By the latest vacuum processes, the food you buy in cans is not only perfectly preserved with all its nutritious content, but it is kept in that condition until you are ready to use it. Canned foods mean quality—but they also mean convenience to the housewife, less worry, work and time in the preparation of good meals.

WATCH FOR CANNED FOOD SPECIALS

in the grocery ads in The Observer this week and next week. Your grocer is going to offer special values--watch for these and--

Practicing Food Economy

Practical and thrifty household managers are turning more and more to canned foods, not only because of their excellence, but also because of the economy that can be practiced. In canned foods you can buy as little or as much as you need—you can open a small, medium, or large can as the occasion requires. Thus is waste eliminated, food costs cut down. More important still is the price you pay for canned foods. Because of tremendous production, buying foods in great quantity and canning and selling in great quantity, the highest quality products are made available to you at extremely low cost. Canned foods are always a good food investment.
