"How does it feel to be mauling an heiress?"

"Great! Every time I kiss her I feel as if I were clipping the coupon off a government bond."

SHOWING HIM THE WAY!

Goody Goody Young La Grande Man: "Dear, speak the words that will mean Heaven to me!"

Pippy Plapper (bored stiff): "Go and shoot yourself!"

The youngster put on roller skates. Of four there was no trace. Until the sidewalk came right up And slapped him in the face.

"Daddy, do you remember where you first met mummy?"

"Yes, dear, it was at a dinner party and there were 13 at table."

Mary had a little waist, Where waists were meant to grow And everywhere the fashions went The waist was sure to go.

How the children do discipline their parents these days!

"Wild-eyed man," Officer, I want you to arrest my boss for complicity in a murder!"

Officer: Who did he kill?"

"Nobody yet, but he just told me that he's transferring me to Chicago next week."

"Doctor, if there is anything the matter with me, don't frighten me half to death by giving it a long scientific name. Just tell me what it is in plain English."

"Well, sir, to be frank, you are lazy."

"Thank you, doctor. Now tell me the scientific name for it. I've got to report to the nucleus."

Wilson and Grange Both Appear in Football Picture

The All-American picture that all America has been waiting to see—"One Minute to Play!" The Greater P. H. O. production, now showing at the Sherry theatre, has not only Red Grange, the greatest player of all times as its star, but the cast includes another All-American, George Wilson, the famous halfback. The story, an original by Byron Morgan, was written with the express purpose of showing Grange at his best. There is plenty of football in the picture, and it's superb, each play and each play being there for all the world to see. The big football game which is the climax of the picture is made thrillingly realistic by the fact that Grange has Wilson as his rival on the opposing team. The production was made under the direction of Sam Wood. The cast includes such favorites as Mary McAlister, Ben Hendricks Jr., Lincoln Steadman, Lee Shumway, Charles Ogle, Jay Hunt and Edythe Chapman. Comedy showing "Soda Clerks".

"Stella Dallas," the Samuel Goldwyn production directed by Henry King from Olive Higgins Prouty's famous novel, which portrays with romantic realism the love-life of a typical American girl is also a picture of womanly contrasts.

Frances Marion, adept at disclosing those things which throw light on the inner workings of the weaker sex, has contrived in her scenario to place the three main feminine characters in direct contrast with each other by means of comparison and conflict.

In the photo-dramatic version of "Stella Dallas," the three type of women follow their patterns exactly as created by the author in the widely read book.

Belle Bennett, the choice after seventy-two applicants were discarded, plays the title role of Stella. Alexis Joyce plays Mrs. Morrison and Lois Moran, the unsophisticated and unmoderated child wonder, plays Laurel, daughter of Stella.

In the film, Stella is the generous-hearted, unrefined mill-town middle-class woman who rises with tumult and flame. The conventional and amenities of life puzzle her. Her clothes are gaudy, her jewelry garish, her manner out-spoken, harmless and tactless; yet withal her outward display, she has splendid capacity for great love and devotion.

Mrs. Morrison, on the other hand, has been accustomed to the finer things of life. She is kind, considerate, reserved—a lady in the highest expression of the term, a flower horn and bred to thrive in society.

Laurel is a strangely beautiful child. She is a mystery to Stella, who cannot fathom the sweet simplicity of her own child.

The production is now playing at the Arcade theatre, and will continue a day or two longer.

AT THE THEATERS

Art Acord Is Star in Western Movie at Star

A western story with many unusual twists, many thrills, and two hair-raising fights, and with Art Acord the popular western star, playing an unusually human and likable character is being screened at the Star theatre today only.

It is "The Scraggy Kid," a Universal Blue-Strick western production, and in it Art lives up to the title by battling large hosts of villains and conquering them plausibly enough without once resorting to gun-play.

Art proves himself a capable actor as well as a champion of the range, and does some trick riding which equals anything of its kind on the screen.

The picture, in addition to its thrills and thrills, has many touches of human interest and comedy. Little Jimmy Howdwin, as a member of the orphaned family taken in by a big-hearted Art, proves himself a remarkably gifted child actor, and plays many deliciously funny comedy scenes.

Velma Connor, who plays the feminine lead opposite Acord, makes a beautiful and appealing heroine and also demonstrates that she isn't far behind the male western actors in her ability to ride.

The supporting cast in "The Scraggy Kid" also includes Edna Cobb, Dudley C. Hendricks, Jess Deffenbach, C. E. Anderson, "Hank" Bell and others.

A comedy is also being shown.

WHEN WE THINK THE OTHER FELLOW KNOWS

Some people would be far better off if they used their own judgment rather than placing so much confidence in the judgment of the other fellow. The lack of self confidence has cost many a man a considerable sum. If we were able to think as fast as the other fellow can talk, likely our judgment would save us money.
