Tilden Makes Debut as Screen Star

With the East Side as the locale, "The Highlanders," William T. Tilden's screen debut, moves through a thrilling series of happenings to a smashing climax.
 Tilden not only acts in the leading role of "The Highlanders," but is responsible for the story as well. Under Johnston's adapted it to the screen.
 Marjorie Daw plays opposite Tilden, while the supporting cast includes George Marion, George H. Matthews, Walter Long, Ben Alexander, and others.
 The Arcade theatre announces "The Highlanders" as a feature attraction tonight only with the comedy "King Bozo."

1500 Indians Take Part in Western Picture

Approximately 1500 Indian bucks, squaws and Navajo children appear in scenes in the Metropolitan production of "The Last Frontier," at Sheehey. An Indian village reminiscent of the days of the pioneers was built close to the Gap Trading Post where the movie outfit established its headquarters. Hundreds of tepees nestled peacefully in the picturesque Gap canyon and at night they presented an imposing background as the Navajo warriors gathered around their camp fires.
 To the south of the canyon rested the tent city thrown up to house the picture company during their period of isolation. Modernity had for the time being supplanted the primitive on the great Painted Desert. With a miniature electric plant installed the incandescents glittered as a means of illumination.

Telephone service was one civilized utility that has not as yet reached the wastes that lie between the scenes of action and Flagstaff, the nearest city. More than a hundred miles of desert road and wash-outs faced the intrepid drivers that grappled the transportation problems between Flagstaff and Gap. It took a skilled pilot at the wheel to navigate the distance that separated the hardy film stars from the last railroad station at "Flag" to the temporary location.

George L. Seltz, who directed "The Last Frontier" for Metropolitan, is enthusiastic in his approval of the natural settings chosen for the picture which is based on the Courtney Ryley Cooper novel. William Boyd, Marguerite De La Motte, J. Farrell Macdonald and Jack Hoxie play the leading roles. The picture is packed with thrill and action.
 Comedy showing, "Yankee Doodle Dude."

After all these years it is with pleasure that we inform you that it finally has happened—a woman tried to mail a letter in a fire alarm box at Warren, Pa.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Cromolumin, an emulsified cresote that is pleasant to take. Cromolumin is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.
 Of all known drugs, cresote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat trouble. Cromolumin contains, in addition to cresote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the cresote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.
 Cromolumin is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, laryngitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

A large audience, some of whom came several miles from the country, listened very attentively to Rev. Knight's lecture on the eleven chapters of Revelation, at the Church of God Chapel, last evening.
 These lectures will continue each evening this week except Saturday. The subject this evening will be "Horses with heads like lions, and fire and smoke issuing from their mouths."
 Come and hear this symbol clearly explained.

Inate father (to lazy son): "Why are you always lying about the house?"
 Lazy son: "I never did! Don't think much of the old shack but I never said so."

FAIRY STORY—Once a young married man invited friends to a turkey dinner and said he would carve the bird himself, which he did very neatly.
 "Marriage makes a great difference to a man," sadly confessed a young wife to her girl friend. "When I sit on my sheik's knee now, his foot goes to sleep quicker than it used to."

"I suppose you find golf a relief from the cares of business."
 "Well, the kind of golf I play gives variety to my worries, at any rate."

THE ROOSTER
 "That rooster," said the turkey, "cocks up in any crowd; he thinks he is somebody just because he crows so loud."
 "Well," said the duck, "you needn't kick. You're only jealous, seems to me, because you cannot crow."

WHEN WE THINK THE OTHER FELLOW KNOWS
 Some people would be far better off if they used their own judgment rather than placing so much confidence in the judgment of the other fellow. The lack of self confidence has cost many a man a considerable sum. If we were able to think as fast as the other fellow can talk, likely our judgment would save us money.
