Bridge Club Is Entertained at W. Wilson Home

With members of the Tuesday Evening Bridge club as their guests, Mr. and Mrs. William Wilson entertained Tuesday evening at their home on Adams avenue.

Yellow and white chrysanthemums and poinsettias were used to decorate the rooms. Four tables of bridge were at play.

Mrs. Lester Bramwell made high scores among the women players, and the men's first prize went to Mr. Bramwell.

The club will meet again two weeks from Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. Bramwell as host and hostess.

Seven candidates were initiated into the Degree of Honor Protective association Tuesday evening, at a meeting held at Eagles hall. After the initiation the floral degree was given by the state vice president, Mrs. Minnie Card, of Baker, when each candidate was presented with the official flower of the lodge, the pink carnation.

The new members of the lodge are, Mrs. Edna Owen, Mrs. Ernest Landry, Mrs. Ernest Waldon, Mrs. Edith Dean, Mrs. G. R. Williams, Mrs. Pearl Campbell and Mrs. Ruby Halgeman.

After the business and lodge meeting, which was presided over by Mrs. R. E. Swan, the husbands and friends of the association members joined them in a soiree.

Dancing was enjoyed until 12 o'clock, when Mrs. Jack Hill, Mrs. Al Herman and Mrs. E. M. Keown, members of the refreshment committee, served.

Besides the pink carnations, the lodge flower, red and green were used to decorate the hall. The decoration committee consisted of Mrs. C. E. Waite, Mrs. H. E. Williams and Mrs. R. E. Swan.

Two new members, Mrs. Edna McCleary and her daughter, Mrs. Catherine Stine, were initiated Tuesday evening when the Woman's Benefit association met at the home of Mrs. Stine.

Officers for the coming year will be elected, Mrs. Pearl Wood, in the absence of Mrs. Frank Pike, commander. Thirty-three members were present for the meeting.

A part of the evening's program was the draping of the chair for the late Mrs. Anna Galvin, who was a member of the organization.

The next meeting of the association is scheduled for Dec. 14, at which time officers for the coming year will be elected. Mrs. Adelaide Packard, of Pendleton, district deputy of the W. B. A., will be present. This will be her first official visit to the review and she will report on the activities of the organization at that time.

Mrs. T. R. Maxwell, soprano, and Leo Cullen Bryant, violinist, both of this city, will be presented in joint recital at the First Methodist Episcopal church in Baker Monday night of next week, under the auspices of the McElwain club of that city. The program is scheduled to start at 8:15 o'clock, both Mrs. Maxwell and Mr. Bryant are well known in music circles here and several of their followers will go to Baker to hear them Monday evening.

Mr. Bryant, who has been teaching violin here for several months, appeared before the public for the first time about six weeks ago and was enthusiastically received. Mrs. Maxwell has been heard at various times and her program are always appreciated.

Mr. Bryant will have three groups of selections on Monday evening's program. He will be accompanied by Mrs. W. H. Parkinson at the piano. Mrs. Maxwell will sing two groups accompanied by Mrs. J. D. Meyers.

A reception for the musicians in the church parlors will follow the program.

With the new officers presiding for the first time since their election, the Kings Herald of the First Methodist Episcopal church met Tuesday afternoon after school in the basement of the church.

Miss Lenore Headley is the new president of the organization; Boyd Jackson is vice president; Ruth Buchanan, secretary; Adam Leighton, assistant secretary; Frank Tyler, treasurer; Jean McKennon, note book secretary; Gladys Johnson, thank offering secretary; Robert Lockwood, stamp secretary; and Fern Broomfield, librarian.

Instead of the regular lesson yesterday Thanksgiving stories were told by several of the members. A general discussion followed the stories and questions taken from the Friend were answered.

Mrs. G. C. Headley and Mrs. R. W. Leighton served refreshments before adjournment.

Following is a list of committee appointments recently announced by Mrs. G. J. Frankel, president of the Oregon Federation of Women's clubs:

Recent La Grande appointments by the state federation president were: Mrs. Carl G. Helm, community welfare committee; Mrs. H. H. Cleaver, press and publicity committee; and Mrs. Donald M. Fague, division of literature.

Club women of Oregon will be interested to learn that Miss Vella Winner, state chairman of the press and publicity department, has returned to Portland, after an extended trip abroad.

COVE (Special).—The bazaar given by the Woman's club Friday was successful. Nearly all of the articles offered for sale were disposed of, and about $200 was added to the club's treasury from the bazaar.

Mrs. T. Gayette acted as chairman of the bazaar committee. Mrs. R. S. Comstock was in charge of the apron booth, Mrs. C. Bertsch, the needlework; Miss Thelma Anderson, the candy booth; Mrs. Lynn Chadwick, the furniture selling, and Mrs. J. B. Weimer and Mrs. J. Gayette the fish pond.

Dinner was served at noon by several of the women.

In preparing for the bazaar the women were divided into two groups, entering into a contest to produce the most and finest needlework to be sold at that time. The judges for the contest were Mrs. A. A. Antles, Mrs. Tom Twie and Mrs. T. H. Conklin. Section 2, of which Mrs. Bertsch was captain, won by two points.

When boiling clothes, time and effort are saved by putting all small articles such as handkerchiefs, baby clothes, dollies, in a flour sack or pillow slip before putting them in to boil. This method also insures longer life to the clothes.

Grinding bread crumbs does not mess up a kitchen if a paper bag is tied on the food chopper and the crumbs are allowed to go into it. Time is also saved by this method for the crumbs are then used directly from the bag.

The shiny surface is removed from materials by pressing over the surface with a damp cloth dipped in bluing water.

Wet spots are removed from silk materials by rubbing over the spot with a dry piece of tissue paper, or by rubbing the material together between the hands.

Luk spots are removed from table linen by the application of lemon juice or salt.

Grease spots are successfully removed from materials by placing a brown paper over the spot and pressing over the surface of the paper with a medium hot iron.

A great deal of time and patience are saved in preparing meals and washing the dishes afterwards by washing up all utensils as they are used. If there is not time to wash them before the meal, they can be put to soak and washed before the dining-room dishes are begun.

Another way to remove the shiny surface from materials is to press over the surface with a cloth dampened with vinegar.

The losing side will entertain the others at dinner sometime soon.

COVE (Special).—The Ladies' aid of the Methodist Episcopal church will hold its annual bazaar on Wednesday, Dec. 1. This group of women spend much time each year preparing for this event and always have on exhibit many articles of needlework, besides plain sewing such as aprons and dresses. A hot meal will be served at noon and dinner at 6 o'clock.

PURPLES AND DARK REDS
The Queen of Rumania's favoritism for purple and dark ultramarine reds has had a profound effect on Parisian designers and these shades are becoming more prominent in the new winter fashions.

Short velvet jackets particularly in deep purple, have made their appearance for the Riviera season. The deep red shades have found particular favor in wraps.

One costumer has designed a sleeveless Dalmatian coat of quilted crepe de chine, dark red, to match the heavy woolen wrap which is worn over it on a cold day. The inner coat is lined with squirrel and is clasped about the waist by a narrow belt.

"WEDDING FANS" NUISANCE
LONDON (AP).—There are so many women in London with nothing to do most of the day that they have become a nuisance at fashionable weddings, say the police.

St. George's, Hanover Square, the favorite church for American weddings, was so overrun with these "wedding fans" at the marriage of Miss Joan Southey and the Master of Falkland, that ushers and the police guards were pushed about and the church stormed when the bride appeared. Authorities will take measures for the avoidance of such scenes in the future.

Don't Forget—There Will Surely Be a Few Left-overs to Use Later

BY SISTER MARY
Unless your guests have phenomenal appetites there are sure to be left-overs. Every hostess wants to be sure there's an abundance of all her viands and she's bound to provide too much.

The clever use of the left-overs prolongs the pleasure of the holiday and reduces the cost of the dinner as a whole.

In the dinner planned no extravagant vegetables or desserts or out of season delicacies were suggested. The turkey held the center of stage.

Good sized pieces of the turkey can of course be served cold neatly arranged on a platter and garnished with cranberry conserve. But the "pickings" on the bones require some manipulation so the following suggestions may not come amiss.

The first recipe uses any soup that may be left. In case the soup "comes out even" for the dinner, milk can be substituted.

Turkey an Gratin.
Two tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 cup liquid (milk or soup), 1 cup turkey cut in small pieces, 1/2 cup diced celery, 1/2 cup coarse buttered crumbs.

Melt butter, stir in flour and slowly add liquid, stirring constantly. Add celery and bring to the boiling point. Stir constantly and let boil three minutes. Add turkey, salt and pepper if milk was used and turn into a buttered baking dish. Sprinkle with buttered crumbs and bake in a hot oven until crumbs are brown.

Whenever turkey or any fowl that has been thoroughly cooked is reheated, care must be taken not to over-cook the meat. This will spoil the dish for the meat becomes like so much cotton. Any part of the made dish that requires actual cooking must be done without the meat as in the above recipe.

Turkey a la King is so good that the cook is glad of the necessity to serve it.

Two tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 1/2 cups rich milk, 1 1/2 cups diced turkey, 1 pinton, 1/2 cup broken mushroom caps, 1 egg yolk, 1/4 teaspoon salt, few grains pepper, 4 squares of toast.

Melt butter, stir in flour and slowly add milk, stirring constantly. Season with salt and pepper and bring to the boiling point. In the meantime saute the mushrooms in 2 teaspoons butter for five minutes. When the sauce boils add the pimento cut in strips. The sauted mushrooms and the turkey. Stir in the egg yolk well beaten and serve at once on hot toast.

The egg yolk of course can be omitted and the turkey can be reduced to 1 cup.

Turkey timbales are delicious and unusual.

Turkey Timbales.
One cup finely chopped cold cooked turkey, 2 tablespoons butter, 4 tablespoons stale bread crumbs from soft part of loaf, 2-3 cup milk, 1/2 tablespoon minced parsley, 2 eggs, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, celery salt.

Melt butter, add bread crumbs and milk and cook five minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and add turkey, salt, pepper, celery salt, parsley and eggs slightly beaten. Turn into buttered individual molds having molds not more than two-thirds full and place in a pan of hot water. Cover with buttered paper and bake twenty minutes in a moderately hot oven. Remove from molds and serve with creamed cauliflower or peas.

Turkey is delicious combined with pineapple and celery as a salad.

When the bones are quite free from meat break the carcass in pieces, cover with cold water and slowly bring to the boiling point. Add an onion cut in thin slices, some celery tops and a pint can of tomatoes. Simmer for an hour and strain. Then add 1/4 cup cooked rice and you will have a perfectly good soup.

Turkey soup usually means the last of the turkey but it will be welcomed with a sigh of regret if the left-overs have been painstakingly made and served.

MUFFS AND WATER BOTTLES
"Pill up my muffs" was the unusual request of two women at a London hotel buffet as they handed out the astonished waiter their muffs. The waiter removed two small hot-water bottles which he recharged with boiling water. They were returned on a silver salver and the guests departed satisfied.

Muffs are slowly making their way into vogue again and most stores showing them exhibit alongside small hotwater bottles.

This day carries us back to Puritan time of peril and privation; to the sturdy pioneers who gave sinew and strength to this nation; to those forbears of ours who knelt in gratitude when God's beneficence blessed their harvest.

In this period of plenty we yield to the spirit of the day they bequeathed to us.

We bow, in the midst of feast and festival, to do reverence to a divine power that has bestowed on us so generous a measure of prosperity.

This day of gratitude would not be complete for this institution did we not express thanks for our own prosperity and for the privilege of service to this community.
