Julian Eltinge
Featured in
"Madam Behave"

Julian Eltinge, famous woman impersonator, who is featured with Ann Pennington in Al Christie's comedy, "Madam Behave," has had a remarkable career on stage and screen.

Born in Butte, Mont., forty years ago, his real name being William Patton, he went to Boston with his parents at an early age and was educated there. When a boy, he became a dry goods clerk at a salary of $3.50 a week.

His first appearance as an impersonator was in the Boston "Lodge" show, Boston, twenty years ago, for which he received $2.50. The late Edward E. Rice saw him in this show and immediately engaged him for an appearance in one of his productions at a salary of $100 a week.

After three seasons in vaudeville, Al Woods presented Eltinge in "The Fascinating Widow." This production made a record-breaking run of four years. After this Eltinge appeared in the "Crimoline Girl" and other pictures.

"The Black Pirate"
And Doug
Coming to Arcade

Good news! Douglas Fairbanks comes at the Arcade theater on Monday in "The Black Pirate."

This picture, a new Fairbanks superproduction, is laid in that part of the southern seas known as the seventeenth century as the Pirate's Main, where Morgan and his blood-thirsty crew had their secret island, on which they hid the tribute exacted at guns' points from traders and travelers.

It is said that Fairbanks has never before had such a fitting vehicle for his blithe sort of adventuring. He plays the part of a young nobleman, who seeks to avenge the killing of his father by pirates. This he does in a series of exciting episodes that demand every known variety of dueling, fighting, and darsdevil cleverness. He captures a big ship single-handed, steals the heroine from the villains, and fights his way through the ranks of the cutthroats.

"The Black Pirate" is rated the finest moving story Fairbanks ever made, and this is a promise of considerable speed. Starting with the blowing up of a ship and maintaining an explosive tempo throughout, this picture should afford all the interest and suspense forecast for it.

Fairbanks' production is the first picture of such magnitude to be made in color, and marks an entirely new departure in this regard through its utilization of all glowing hues. It is claimed that he has succeeded in incorporating color into this film in such a bewitching fashion that the spectator is completely charmed by it, and sees it only as one sees a panorama in real life.

The star's leading lady is the beautiful Billie Dove, she and Tempe Pigott as a diuenna make up the entire feminine contingent.

"Price She Paid"
Starts 2-day Run
On Sunday

God created us all to live our lives and make those about us and ourselves happy while time flies and leaves the mark of ages on our souls. Have we a right to interfere with this way of things, and take into our own hands the destiny of eternity? What of those who become enmeshed in our misdeeds and pay the price in broken hearts—what of counselors—what of love for our fellow beings? These problems are treated in a most unusual fashion in "The Price She Paid," a Columbia production which comes to the Sherry theater Sunday and Monday. Alma Rubens and Frank Mayo are cast in the leading roles while an all-star cast including William Welch, Freeman Wood and Wilfred Lucas perform saliently in their support. It is a cinema filled with the truth, pathos and merit of life.

Comedy showing "Ice Cold Coals."

Tale of Studios
Coming to
The Star

An absorbing love story set in a background of the studio affairs of a sophisticated pianist, weary of easy triumph, makes "Don Juan's Three Nights," which shows at the Star theater Sunday and Monday, one of the most colorful entertainments seen here in months.

Lewis Stone and Shirley Mason are starred with a dazzling array of Hollywood beauties featured as the myriad loves of the hero.

Stone as the gay genius gave a convincing portrayal of a blasé, love-weary sophisticate. Shirley Mason was excellent in her characterization of the unworshipful girl of sixteen who steps into his life and initiates a string of startling events.

The plot swirls and rushes through a maze of adventure and near tragedy, to a denouement of flashing fencing foils, glinting in the Italian sunshine.

Scouters Lowry and Farina, two of the youngest members of "Our Gang," never have to look for trouble—trouble always chases them, especially in "Shivering Spooks," the "Gang's" latest film of fun which will be shown Sunday and Monday at the Star theater. With Old Man Trouble always hot on their heels, they have a merry time of it in this comedy and they help to make this new release one of the "Gang's" best to date.

They're using airplanes in the war at Herrin, Ill. now. Wouldn't that be a good place to establish a school of military tactics?

Famous last lines: "Didn't we borrow an umbrella the last time we were over here?"
