EAST MAY FORM GRID CONFERENCE

Suggestion Made Since Princeton's Withdrawal from "Big Three"

By HILDE EVANS
Without a doubt, some new affiliation of eastern teams will come as a result of the withdrawal of Princeton from the so-called "Big Three."

The idea of an eastern conference already has been suggested, it has been looked on with favor in some quarters, frowned on in others.

One of the main objections to such a scheme is that it would be an unwieldy organization, there being so many good teams in the east.

That hardly seems a logical one, since there are plenty of mighty good teams in the west outside of the Big Ten, yet that organization, also known as the Western Conference, has been mighty successful.

It should not prove to be a difficult task to select 10 teams that would have a pretty good claim to being the class of the east.

Annual Arguments
While it isn't generally known, many of the arguments that arise between the athletic bodies of the various universities can be traced to some grievance over the question of officials.

Some years ago I met with the graduate managers of Yale, Princeton and Harvard at the invitation of Jack Blossom, then in charge at Yale.

The question of umpires for the big baseball games, as well as the rest of the schedule, had been the cause of many complaints. Home umpires failed to give satisfaction.

My opinion was desired as to how the problem of lessening the trouble annually caused over the selection of officials might be brought about.

Hard to Please
Naturally I told the graduate managers that just as long as the home team furnished the umpire disputes would continue to arise.

I ventured the opinion that the same set of umpires, assigned by one man in charge of affairs and scheduled in different games in different cities each week, would be satisfactory, even though the same umpire in the role of home officials would be a failure.

In recent years the scheme I suggested of moving the umpires around has been used in many of the eastern college games and the results have been very satisfactory.

Ingram's Suggestion
Conditions in football, perhaps are even worse. As a rule there is much hickering before the officials are agreed upon. Should an official be so unfortunate as to render an important decision that determines the winner, he is practically certain to be scratched by the losers the following year.

I note that Commander Ingram, athletic director at the Navy, while reviewing on the proposed eastern conference idea, said he was in favor of a prominent athletic personage, or a commission to obtain the best results from your insurance protection, make sure of at least three things:

- (1) That the company back of your policy is well and widely known.
- (2) That the agency who writes your policy is experienced and dependable.
- (3) That your policy exactly fits your individual needs.

In other words put on your coat and call on this agency.

Dixon, of Aggies, Wins Place on Mythical Eleven

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Dec. 1 (AP)—An Associated Press selection of first and second all-Pacific coast eleven, based upon the consensus of football authorities, gives Stanford five and the University of Southern California six players on the two mythical teams.

Of these Stanford places four and U. S. C. three on the first team.

Freud Swan, captain and guard of Stanford, was chosen unanimously for first team honors, while his teammates, Ted Shipley and Ed Walker, ends, were selected by six of eight experts.

In the halfback position William (Wild Bill) Kelly, Montana, who leads the coast conference in points scored, and Morton Kaer, U. S. C., were ranked above all others.

High scoring honors have not yet been settled, an Oscar, trailing a dozen points behind Kelly's 75, has a chance to overtake his rival through the medium of another game Saturday.

The selection follows:

Baker Eleven May Play Commerce Hi
BAKER, Ore., Dec. 1.—Baker high school will play the Commerce high school, runner-up for the football championship of the Portland interscholastic league, on the local field Saturday if negotiations now in progress result successfully.

Baker was selected by the Portland school as a logical contender in a post season game and was invited to play. The suggestion met with approval here and now awaits only for endorsement of the state athletic authorities. If the game is played here an effort will be made to have the stores close two hours Saturday afternoon.

Rooks Win Four Games, Lose One
O. A. C. CORVALLIS, Dec. 1.—Oregon Aggie rooks have just completed their football schedule for this fall and turned their attention to books and final examinations. The Orange babies won four games, tied one, and lost one. They ran up 140 points to their opponents' 33.

Plenty of good line and fair backfield material was developed, according to the freshmen coaches. Here are the results of the rook football season:

- Aggie Rooks 7 Corvallis High 0
- Aggie Rooks 7 Linfield Col. 0
- Aggie Rooks 21 Albany Col. 0
- Aggie Rooks 45 Chemawa 0
- Aggie Rooks 50 Columbia U. 12
- Aggie Rooks 0 Oregon Frosh 14

OREGON PROJECT WILL BE RUSHED

Government to Begin Work at Vale as Soon as Possible

VALE, Ore., Dec. 1. (Special)—"The government will proceed as rapidly as possible with work on the Vale project," said R. J. Newell, chief engineer from Boise, who is in charge. "The first step will be a call for bids for construction of the first five mile stretch of the main canal from Namoff, about half way to Harper."

The government will also advertise for bids in the Warm Springs drainage canal in the vicinity of Vale. The contracts should be let about the first of the year.

"On the Vale project engineering data is already in the heat office of reclamation and things are in readiness to advertise for bids."

COACH MCLAUGHRY OF BROWN
MAINS FROM WESTMINSTER COLLEGE, FULTON, MISSOURI
HIS CHARGES WIN FOOTBALL GAMES ON A MILK DIET

One of the outstanding football eleven of the current season is Brown, in fact, the little Providence (R. I.) school at this moment has just about as good a claim on the national championship as any team in the country. Brown is coached by Donald "Tum" McLaughry, graduate of Westminster college, Fulton, Mo. It is his first year with the Bruins, but he has done so well he's been in the grid spotlight much of late. Previous to Brown, McLaughry coached at Amherst, where his teams thrice won the "Little Three" crown.
