65 Couples at Commerce Club Dancing Party

Although the crowd was not as large as had been hoped for the dance given last night at Zuber hall by the entertainment committee of the chamber of commerce was an enjoyable one. About 65 couples gathered at the hall at 8 o'clock and a pleasant three hours was spent dancing. Lindsay's orchestra furnished the music.

During the evening the chamber of commerce quartet entertained those present with several numbers.

This dancing party is the first one sponsored by the chamber of commerce since 1908. Proceeds will be added to the American Legion convention fund.

Plans are for another party immediately after the Christmas holidays. A. W. Nelson, chairman of the entertainment committee, announced this morning. Assisting Mr. Nelson are Miss Margaret Anderson, Mrs. E. M. Fowler, Mrs. Ada Phay, George S. Birnie, R. J. Kitchin, H. M. Larson, F. L. Lilly, Harry H. Richardson and Raymond O. Williams.

Several La Grande people interested in music went to Baker Monday evening and attended the concert at the Methodist Episcopal church there when the MacDowell club of that city presented two local musicians, Mrs. Thomas E. Maxwell, soprano, and Leo C. Bryant, violinist.

The program began at 8:15 o'clock with Bryant playing the first group, which consisted of concerto No. 2 by Wieniawski, "Menuet" by Mozart and "L'Abelie" by Schubert. Bryant played two other groups and each time was enthusiastically received. His second group was "To a Wild Rose" by MacDowell, "Old Folks at Home" by Foster-Kreisler, "Nobody Knows de Trouble I've Seen" by White, "From the Case Brake" by Gardner, He played "Indian Love Call," from Rose Marie as an encore. In his third group Bryant went back to the old school and played "Coeur d'Arlequin" by Deigo-Auer, "Humoresque," "Tor Alilip" and "L'aprice Viennoise" by Kreisler, and for an encore he played "Schoen Rosemarin" by Kreisler.

Mrs. Maxwell, who was equally well received by Baker music lovers, appeared in two groups. Her first numbers were "Songs My Mother Taught Me" by Dvorak, "The Nightingale" by Stephens and "Lullaby from Jocelyn" by Godard. As an encore she sang "Where Go the Boats" by Dent. "Nocturne" by Curran opened her second group and the other numbers were "As We Part" by Higginbotham and "Waltz Song" by Wang. Her encore number for this group was "Fairy Cradles" by Carow.

Mrs. Maxwell was presented with a number of bouquets, showing the appreciation of her audience.

Mrs. J. D. Meyers accompanied Mrs. Maxwell at the piano and Mrs. W. H. Parkinson was Bryant's accompanist, and both performed with technical skill.

A reception for the musicians was held in the church parlors following the concert. The committee from the MacDowell club in charge consisted of Mrs. W. O. Baker, Mrs. Gaston Dieudonne, Mrs. D. I. Stoddard, Mrs. Charles Driessbach, Mrs. Alex MacDougall

Neighborhood Club Views Operetta

"The Brownie Band," presented by 25 La Grande children under the direction of Mrs. Vernon Alnoworth and Mrs. Elmer McManus, made up yesterday afternoon's Neighborhood club program at the club rooms in the public library building.

The stage was decorated to represent a woodland scene, where Barbara Coolidge, Ruth Murellson, Lucille Price, Dorothy Pierce, Jacqueline O'Brien, Margaret Dixon, Jeanne Baum, Winifred Scott and Patricia Jesse, were enjoying a picnic. One of the little girls, Patricia Jesse, fell asleep and became lost and it was through the fairy queen, Peggy Bohrenkamp, the fairy princess, Ruth Stoddard, and the Brownies, Wilbur Teasford, Merrill Alnoworth, Max Stoddard, George Stoddard, Albert Stoddard and Chester Baum, that she was found.

Barbara Stoddard and Louise Marie Williams were butterflies and Julia and Sally Siegrist were wood nymphs, each adding to the program with solo dances.

Ethel Harnden and Ruth Black as sylvias and Robert Stoddard and Carl Melonis as owls also played an important part in the operetta.

Songs, dances and speaking made up the little play and each child performed well.

The costumes were planned and made by Mrs. Dwight Jesse. Mrs. Lester Stoddard accompanied the little people at the piano.

Preceding the program, Mrs. Robert S. Eakin, club president, presided over the business session, when Mrs. A. L. Richardson gave a report of the benefit concert for the Doernbecher hospital. A balance of $105 will be sent to the Neighborhood club's donation toward the $20,000 pledged by the Oregon Federation of Women's clubs.

Mrs. Evelyn Hearnshaw reported that the Christmas seal sale is progressing satisfactorily. Another state appointment for the Neighborhood club, Mrs. L. Busby, as state chairman of conservation, was announced. Under this chairmanship comes the division of birds and wild life, forestry, soils, minerals and planting.

Mrs. J. D. Lynch, of Portland, a former president of the club, who is now business manager of the Oregon Federation News, official publication of the Oregon Federation, was a visitor and spoke briefly of her work.

Announcement was made of the next meeting when Dr. W. T. Phipps will speak on the subject "The Community and the Home."

The meeting of the art department was also announced for Thursday afternoon of this week.

Three tables of bridge were at play Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ross Eaton when she was hostess to the members of the Y. O. club. The rooms were decorated with bouquets of red and white carnations. Mrs. Charles Beddingfield received high score.

Luncheon followed the card games.

St. Peter's Aid Planning Bazaar

The members of St. Peter's Aid society met at the home of Mrs. G. N. Tarkington Monday to complete work for the bazaar to be given by the society Saturday, Dec. 4, at Honan hall. Most of the afternoon was spent tying a quilt which will be sold at the bazaar.

Plans are now practically complete for the sale Saturday. Mrs. Gilbert Barron, who is president of the aid society, is general chairman in charge.

Mrs. C. J. Osborne is chairman of the parcel post booth. The members of the society have asked their friends to send them packages of 25 cent value, which will be sold at this booth without being unwrapped.

Mrs. J. Conley and Miss Lucy Wade will be at the apron booth. Mrs. C. C. Bull and Mrs. G. N. Tarkington at the miscellaneous booth and Mrs. Ray Goodnough at the cooked food table.

Tea will be served during the afternoon and the cups and saucers given as souvenirs. Mrs. H. W. Carr and Mrs. Oliver Riley are in charge of this feature.

COVE (Special).—Many Cove homes were open to relatives and friends for Thanksgiving.

SHE WATCHED MIDNIGHT LYNCHERS

An investigation which Governor Thomas G. McLeod, of South Carolina, is conducting into the lynching of three negro prisoners at Aiken centers upon the statements of Mrs. Lucy Mooney, of Aiken (above). From the cell in which she was then held as a material witness in a liquor case, she says she saw the jail stormed and recognized a number of the mob.

day. Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Conkling, of Ontario, were here and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. O. Eckersterly, while Mr. and Mrs. John Allen were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Antler. Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Rees, Miss Connie Rees, the Rev. and Mrs. William M. Bradner, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Conkling and Reed Blacker were guests at the home of Mrs. A. G. Conkling.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Miller most of the family gathered for dinner. Those present included Mr. and Mrs. William Miller and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smith, and family, Mr. and Mrs. George Gray and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Miller and family, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Miller and family and Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Chadwick and family.

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Hefty entertained at dinner with covers laid for six. The guests were Charles Lantz and J. R. Lovo.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Daniel entertained Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Lay, Mr. and Mrs. H. Daniel and Misses Cameron and Jane Daniel.

The decorating committee of the Ladies Aid society of the First Methodist Episcopal church is busy today at the church arranging the booths and tables for the annual bazaar and dinner to be given Friday afternoon and evening in the basement dining room.

Much credit is due Miss Mabel Doty and Miss Mima Cooper for the attractive window cards, members say, which are now being displayed in a number of the downtown show windows.

Many Parties at Cove During Week

COVE (Special).—Many parties took place at Cove during the past week. Mrs. Charles DeHaas was hostess on Wednesday evening at a sewing party, when Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Conkling, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Barker, Mrs. A. H. Orton, Mrs. Lynn Chadwick, Mr. and Mrs.
