CATHERINE CREEK, (Special)
Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Phillips spent Sunday at North Clatsop, visiting their son, Alta Phillips.

The people of this community extend their sympathy to Mrs. R. H. Honney, whose brother was drowned when the tug Baboon sank at Puget Sound Nov. 21. Her brother, Sam Honney, was chief engineer on the tug.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Waltz, of North Powder, spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. DeVore.

Mrs. William Swiger, of Little Creek, who has been at Hot Lake for some time taking treatment, returned to her home last week much improved in health.

Charles Green, Harry Prather and sons, Kenneth and Gaylord, spent Thanksgiving with Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Miles.

Mrs. Rebecca Cusick has as her guests Sunday her son, George Cusick, and children from the Clatsop creek district. She returned home with them in the evening for a few days visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Hall and children spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. W. E. McKie.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Anderson, of Baker, and Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Stone, were dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Swively on Thanksgiving.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Miles spent Sunday visiting in Union at the home of Mr. Miles' parents.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. DeVore were in La Grande on business Tuesday.

AT THE THEATERS

Business Women Are Marrying Their Employers

The entrance of women into the business world on a large scale has given rise to many newspaper accounts of employers marrying the girls who started to work for them without any thought that they would one day march down the aisle beside their former "bosses" as blushing brides.

This is a great credit to those girls who have had the experience of leaving the business world for the home fires, changing from employee to partner, in a day. Nothing is as much a test of a girl's character as the daily business grind. There the inner woman comes out to be admired or condemned.

Of course many girls are offered matrimony by their employers who refuse it. This situation is encountered in "The Unwritten Law," the Columbia production which will be shown at the Sherry theater last night. Elaine Hammerstein has the role of a young girl who loves another and is willing to back this love against the wealth and luxury she might have.

The cast includes Forrest Stanley, William Mong, Marry Alden, Charles Cary, Johnny Fox Jr., and William Carroll. Edward J. Le Saint directed. Tom J. Hopkins wrote the story especially for this beautiful star.

Comedy showing "A Jungle Romeo."

"Gobs" Garner Guffaws in Navy Picture

Wallace Beery and Raymond Hatton have the time of their lives as the glib heroes of Paramount's second "Gobs" side of the war comedy, "We're in the Navy Now," which arrived at the Arcade theater today for a three-day run.

Starting in a prize ring, going to a naval training camp, from there to the deck of a troop transport, and in turn, a small rowboat, submarine, French dreadnaught, France and then—all the way back to where it started from, "We're in the Navy Now" creates a new laugh record for future directors to aim at.

Edward Sutherland, the man who made "Behind the Front," has injected more zing in this picture than have ever been seen before.

In one sequence, the two stars land at Brest and proceed to a cafe. There they see the girl each adores, but who remains an enigma to both. Keeping her true identity a secret, Giffithing her two authors approaching, she passes them a few drinks and they "pass" out of the picture. Only temporarily however because—well, "We're in the Navy Now" should be seen to be appreciated.

Chester Conklin and Tom Kennedy are featured. Monty Blease wrote the original screen story. John McDermott prepared the screen play.

An interesting Government film "Don't Give Up The Ship," and a Fables are also being shown.

children spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. W. E. McKie.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Anderson, of Baker, and Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Stone, were dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Swively on Thanksgiving.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Miles spent Sunday visiting in Union at the home of Mr. Miles' parents.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. DeVore were in La Grande on business Tuesday.

Buck Jones and His Horse Showing at Star

Buck Jones, who is starred by Fox Films in "The Flying Horseman," screen version of Max Brand's gripping novel of the West, now showing at the Star theater, seldom permits his assistants to care for Silver Buck when the Jones company is on location.

"It is pretty much a labor of love," Buck told Orville Bull, his director, while working near Hills, California, "and I think I feel it as deeply as the big white horse. Somehow, he seems to think I should give him special attention when this is possible, and I am always glad to do it."

"The Flying Horseman" in a picture which is bound to please Jones fans. Not only is it a thrilling story of adventure but in addition it has some of the funniest sequences seen in a Western in some time. Most of these humorous situations come about as the result of the adoption by Buck of eight wild youngsters. For screen purpose only, of course.

The winsome Gladys McConnell plays the part of the girl and others of the cast include such well known screen favorites as Hank Mann and Silver Buck.

A comedy is also being shown.

Klamath Officers Claim Speed Record

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., Dec. 2 (AP)—While officers in one section of town were hurrying in response to a call that the local office of the Shell Oil company was being burglarized, officers in another section were arresting August Marquetz, 33, for too boisterous conduct.

When searched at the station Marquetz' pockets were found to be jammed with keys, packages of canceled checks and other miscellaneous items which bore the imprint of oil firms.

Marquetz was charged with burglary and will be brought before the grand jury.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion, contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germ.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory disease, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist, (adv.)

EPITAPHS

Upon this stone this legend writes: "He never said, 'Well, nighty-night!'"

And say, while weeping at my bier: "He hardly ever said, 'Old Dear,'" May this console my mourning widdy:

"He never called his child a 'kiddie'."

Say, when I'm placed beneath the soil: "He never chortled, 'Olive Oil,'" Remember, when my days are through:

"He never questioned, 'Well, what's new?'"

O'er me carve, when I'm in "Highly": "Who lies here ne'er said, 'All right!'"

Say, when I've gone to "Other shore": "He chirped all those and many more."

When I am dead and laid away Just write: "He's gone to hit the hay."

When coldness wraps this mortal clay, Write this: She never said, "I'll say!"

Sending daughter to a finishing school often puts the finish on father's bank account.

This is the age when a husband kisses his wife's neck and says: "Why, dearie, you haven't shaved this morning!"

Town and country may some day pull together, but it is not likely they'll ever vote together.

A brute, is a man who won't shave when company is coming.

A man tries to live up to his ideals, a woman to her photographs.

Children are such disappointments. Coolidge's father wanted him to be a doctor.

It is no fun at all to beat a good loser at any game. The real fun comes when listening to the hard loser squall.
