Christmas Party At C. H. Reynolds' Home Last Night

One of the prettiest holiday dinner parties of the season was held last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Reynolds of Washington avenue, who entertained 32 guests.

Dinner was served at 7:15 o'clock at eight small tables, where bridge was enjoyed afterwards.

A miniature Christmas tree served as a centerpiece for each small table. Each place was marked with a Christmas place card, and score cards were in the Yuletide colors. Bouquets of red carnations were used about the rooms. In addition to a large and brightly decorated Christmas tree, the hostess was assisted by Miss Marjorie Reynolds.

Mrs. P. B. Appleby made high score among the women at bridge and the men's prize went to Dr. Ray P. Murphy. Mrs. H. E. Dixon received the consolation prize.

Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds will entertain at another Christmas dinner this evening, to be followed by bridge.

Members of the Women's Christian Temperance union enjoyed a Christmas program yesterday afternoon following the regular business meeting at the Methodist Episcopal church. The congregation sang Christmas carols and talked about Christmas gifts.

During the business session various committees reported. It was decided to hold a W. C. T. U. institute here sometime in January, when several of the organizations here will be asked to participate. The definite date for the institute has not yet been set.

COVE (Special).—The Women's American Legion Auxiliary here mailed a box to the invalid soldiers' hospital in Portland this week. The box contained jellies, canned fruit and several toy floats.

The auxiliary membership here is small, but meetings are held about monthly and nearly every month something is sent to the veterans' hospital.

Lodge Installs New Officials

The Ladies' auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen met in regular lodge session last evening at 7 o'clock at Eagle's hall, with Mrs. Grace Adskin, president, presiding. After the regular business meeting a public installation took place.

Mrs. Grace Adskin was installed as past president; Mrs. Nora Courtney, president; Mrs. Hazel Coughenower, vice president; Mrs. Ada Paddock, secretary; Mrs. Gertrude Galbraith, treasurer; Mrs. Gertrude Hagersett, chantress; Mrs. Laura Kennedy, conductress; Mrs. Jessamine Stoop, inner guard; Mrs. Adia Childer, outer guard.

Because of the serious illness of Mrs. Marie Enberg, Paul's mother, she could not be installed as warden.

After the installation, at about 8:30 o'clock, a Christmas tree was held for the children of the lodge members. This was followed by a basket social for all trainmen and their families. The shadows of the owners of the baskets were sold, causing much merriment.

About 50 persons were present. Mrs. Adskin and Mrs. E. C. Coughenower were announced as the winners in the membership contest, which the auxiliary has been conducting for the past three months. They were given awards.

Mrs. Adskin, who has completed a two-year term as president of the auxiliary, was presented with a basket of Christmas gifts from the members of the organization in appreciation of her work during that time.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Lytle, of Silverton, Ore., who are visiting here with their daughter, Mrs. Coughenower, were guests at the meeting.

The young married people's Sunday school class of the First Christian church entertained at a party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Voetz Saturday evening.

About 10 couples were there and some were enjoyed during the evening. Mrs. Dallas Green was in charge of this feature.

The hostess served refreshments at a late hour.

GRANGE HALL (Special).—Several women of this district met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Robert Masterton, and spent the time making gifts for the Christmas tree at the Blue Mountain grange meeting Saturday.

Those present were Mrs. Alex Davis, Mrs. Sam Williamson, Mrs. C. B. Hoffman, Mrs. Ira Kennedy and Mrs. Charles Tual, of La Grande.

Mrs. Masterton served refreshments.

About 20 juniors of the Women's Benefit association were entertained at a Christmas party last evening at the home of Mrs. Lou Harris on 1st street. A number of the mothers were also present and during the evening games were enjoyed.

Santa Claus visited the children at about 8:30 o'clock and presented each with a gift, besides a bag of candy and nuts. At about 9 o'clock lunch was served.

The Greenwood Parent-Teacher association met Friday afternoon at the school and an interesting program was given, presided over by the president, Mrs. C. F. McPherson.

Two eighth grade girls, Dorothy Rhine and Nora Sitter, sang two duet numbers, "Lullaby" and "Silent Night," accompanied by Ethel Harnden at the piano.

The second part of the program was a health play in three acts. The first was "Mary's Vegetable Garden," the second was a song, "Health Crusaders," and the third was a playlet, "The Magic Basket." These were given by the pupils of Mrs. Ernest Landry's room.

Caroline Humphreys gave two readings, "Ellen Mason and the Shakespeare Club," and "You Get Up," after which, J. W. Jorgensen, superintendent of schools, gave a talk. He told of his war experiences eight years ago this Christmas and ended his talk by telling what he considered was the true spirit of Christmas.

During the business session the picture committee reported that the pictures won at the art exhibit were framed and in the school rooms. Mrs. McPherson completed her report of the state congress of parents and teachers at Salem, which she attended as a delegate from the Greenwood association; the hot lunch committee made a report saying that it had served as many as 125 students in one day; the still film projector committee reported that films for the machine had arrived and that it could be used immediately.

It was decided to have the used book exchange only one day this year instead of an entire week, when the parents are urged to come and get books for their children. This movement was started by the parent-teacher association last year to save the expense of buying new books.

Four of the teachers had projects on display in their rooms, which were visited by the members of the association after the meeting. Miss Ruth Kaffa had a health exhibit; Mrs. Lola Hestons, a history exhibit; Mrs. Hazel Landry, health; and Mrs. Marguerite Towler, history.

The Helonala Bridge club has adjourned until after the Christmas holidays. A meeting was scheduled for yesterday afternoon, but because of the illness of the hostess it was postponed.

The Royal Neighbors will meet Wednesday evening, Dec. 29, instead of Dec. 24, the regular meeting time.

The Monday Musical chorus will meet for rehearsal tomorrow evening at 7:15 o'clock at the First Methodist Episcopal church. The members are practicing for a cantata, "The Light Eternal," which will be given Sunday night at the church.

PIONEER DIES

EUGENE, Ore., Dec. 22 (AP).—Mrs. Melissa Osburn Stennet, born near Brownsville on Nov. 24, 1848, died at the home of her grandson, Arthur A. House, 22 miles northwest of Eugene yesterday. Mrs. Stennet and her twin sister were said to be the first white children born in the Oregon country after the Whitman massacre. The Osburn family escaped by hiding under the floor of a house.

LUNCHEON—Parsnip soufflé, rye bread, hearts of celery, molded prune pudding, milk tea.

DINNER—Braised lamb, potato marbles in parsley butter, canned string beans, spinach salad, whole wheat bread, canned pears, chocolate cake, milk, coffee.

Very often canned vegetables need additional cooking rather than mere reheating. As you learn the different brands, carry by your grocer, you become more clever in preparing them for serving. However, any canned fruit or vegetable is vastly improved by acing before serving.
