A Cleveland man writing to the Baltimore Sun says that, barring her foot-gear, the costume of the girl of today can be sent through the mails for four cents, and darned if some of the girls don't almost look as if they were on their way back from the post-office.

One: "Well, I showed up the teacher before the whole class today."
The Other: "Why? Wise us up."
One: "She asked me for Lincoln's Gettysburg address 'n' I had to tell her he never lived there. Oh, you should've heard the class laugh then."

As a problem in simple arithmetic, we have always wanted to know how much is—
A nominal sum?
A ridiculously low figure?
A silver offering?
Your own price?
An enormous profit?

DRAWING ROOM "DISLIKES"
LONDON (AP)—At an "afternoon gathering" of celebrities in aid of charity in a Park Lane drawing room, the guests were asked to make short speeches on "Things I object to."
Dame Madge Kendal confessed there was nothing she could object to and told funny stories instead. Mrs. Rosita Forbes objected to being awakened at all hours in the night; Lady Askwith declared she hated sham and fuss; Nigel Playfair said he finds the "modern spirit of liking everything," trying and would be glad to see a return to good old narrow-mindedness. Miss Cicely Hamilton confessed to a hatred of idealism because it leads to war.

FEW WOMEN TEACH GERMANS
BERLIN (AP)—The woman teacher in the German high school is a comparative rarity. A recent count showed that 25 women in all on the faculties of these institutions. But even that number is far larger than before the war, the majority of them having qualified and been accepted as teachers since 1918.

COVE PERSONALS
COVE (Special)—Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Williams are visiting their former home in Indiana.
Mrs. M. Boerger is visiting her son and family at Wenatchee, Wash.
Several Cove people plan to attend the annual "At Home" at Hot Lake on New Year's day.
T. G. Wilson is ill at his home here.

Some people are so hopelessly solemn that any sign of gaiety in others seems to hurt them.

Doctor: "What you need and must have is change."
Patient: "Then there's no hope for me, doctor. It will take all my change to pay your bill!"

Strangely enough, a year is like a calendar. Everybody welcomes a new one but few know what they'll do with it.

SLIPPING ALONG
Slipping along—slipping along— Now with a sorrow and then with a song. The world seems to sigh as so gently it grieves. Where the wind softly sweeps through the old Autumn leaves.

Slipping along from the Summer-time glow To the gathering clouds and the hurrying snow; North the glittering stars through the long silent nights That seem to reflect this earth's myriad lights.

Slipping along! Though an hour may be slow, The weeks and the months with strange swiftness will go. We'll patiently wait for the robins to sing. We'll be slipping along very soon into Spring.

The cast also includes Hayden Stevenson, Dolores Del Rio, Margaret Quimby, Robert Ober, Allen Manning and Malcolm Walter.

"Country Beyond," Screened by Fox, Now at Star

A splendid example of what may be accomplished when a serious and conscientious effort is made to translate a great novel to the screen, was witnessed by the audience who saw the first showing of "The Country Beyond" at the Star theater yesterday.

In this widely read novel by one of America's foremost writers, James Oliver Curwood, there is a wealth of character material and story value, which Fox Films, under the direction of Irving Cummings, has utilized to the best possible advantage.

With Olive Borden, the winsome Virginia beauty, in the role of Valencela, and a cast of supporting players, each of whom interprets his or her peculiar role with understanding sympathy, it is no wonder that such a pleasing and entertaining picture is the final result.

There is everything to commend "The Country Beyond" to local audiences—wholesome comedy, heart-gripping pathos, action and a swiftly moving plot.

Supporting Miss Borden are a number of favorites of the screen, including Ralph Graves, Gertrude Astor, J. Farrell MacDonnell, Evelyn Solbie, Fred Kohler, Lawford Davidson, Alfred Fisher and Lottie Williams.

"The Country Beyond" and a comedy will be shown at the Star theater again today and Saturday.

FIRST TEXAS WOMAN SENATOR
AUSTIN (AP)—The defeat of Governor Miriam A. Ferguson by Attorney General Dan Moody does not mean that women have been relegated to a back seat in Texas politics.

The first woman governor will retire in January, but about the same time Miss Margie Neal, former school teacher and country newspaper publisher from Cartersville, will take her seat in the Texas Legislature as the first woman senator of the Lone Star State.

AT THE THEATERS

Chuckles and Laughs Greet Horton

The most apt simile to apply to "The Whole Town's Talking," the comedy at the Arcade theater, today and Saturday is to compare it to the smooth run of a sleigh over snow with its tinkling bells and crunching snow.

The picture is the smoothest running Edward Laemmle ever directed, with not a bump or deviation from its theme. The tinkling of laughter all through it as constant as the ringing of sleigh bells, while the crunching snow, with sometimes a large crash, represents the veritable gales of laughter that rock the house at the delightful clowning of Edward Everett Horton and the other players.

Horton was never more ingratiating or riotously funny before as he is here as the small town sap with an undesired reputation for being a Ben Brummel.

Virginia Lee Corbin is especially sweet as Miss Love Interest while Otis Harlan plants himself in the very front of comedians by his portrayal of the stern yet philanthropic papa, Trixie Friganza is a delightful mamma.

The cast also includes Hayden Stevenson, Dolores Del Rio, Margaret Quimby, Robert Ober, Allen Manning and Malcolm Walter.

Talmadge In Comedy at Sherrys

The irresistible and irrepressible Richard Talmadge is out again in a picture that is a riot of laughter and action. "The Wall Street Whiz" at Sherrys proves he is some shucks as a comedian as well as the world's premier stunt actor.

Talmadge's latest role provides him with more opportunity than usual for laugh-making, and he is not slow to take advantage of the chances offered him. James Bell Smith wrote the story, as he has for many Talmadge pictures in the past, and both he and Director Jack Nelson have done highly creditable work. "The Whiz" is entertainment with a capital "E"—fast and funny from start to finish.

When he is asked by the wealthy mother of the girl with whom he has fallen in love at first sight whether he has a job, Richard Butler, an appropriately named young man, is forced to answer in the negative. He hasn't; but he is disgustingly rich in his own right. However, more for the amusement of the situation than anything else, he accepts the position of butler which the unsuspecting lady prefers. From there on the complications are fast and furious, and there is no stopping the delightful rush of incident and situation of the show. How he extricates himself from embarrassing positions and eventually saves the girl's father is worked out with many new kinks.

Marceline Day heads a good cast, playing opposite the star and doing excellent work. Lillian Langdon, Belle Bennett, Dan Mason and Carl Miller are other performers who stand out.

Comedy showing, "Heavy Storm."

MENDS VALUABLE ART WORK
NEW ORLEANS, (AP)—Bocuse New Orleans happens to be the home of Pauline de Lesseps, the Crescent city claims to lead the world in what many art connoisseurs are convinced is an indispensable art—the mending of valuable ornaments.

Miss de Lesseps is the last of a family whose members also have figured prominently in the history of Louisiana. Her grandfather was a cousin of Ferdinand de Lesseps, who drafted the plans for the Suez canal.

For many years collectors of historic antique porcelain have been bringing their treasures to Miss de Lesseps to be restored. Her deft fingers have worked wonders with flaring vases, outlandish bowls and hand-painted plates.

The average man has 66 pounds of muscle and 2.3 pounds of brain, according to a physician—Maybe that explains everything.

PENNYLESS PRINCESS SEEKS SON
COPENHAGEN (AP)—Pennyless and friendless Princess Dolgoroukoff, once a great figure at the Russian Court, has arrived here in search of a long lost son and a place to rest. She is a woman without a country.

The Princess is a lineal descendant of the last King of Poland, and her sister was married to Czar Alexander II of Russia. During her stay in Copenhagen she has lived at a small hotel, the Russian Emigrant Committee paying for her board and lodging. In vain has she applied for a passport to Poland, her native country. The Princess through her marriage with Prince Dolgoroukoff, became a Russian subject, and Russians are not always admitted into Poland.

Many a husband now listed among the dead or missing will show up after the shopping decks have been cleared of the debris.
