Mattie: "Edna says she's going to furnish her home entirely with antiques."
Cattie: "A splendid idea — a home should always reflect the personality of its mistress."

I'll bet my dough on the gazaboo who rolls up his sleeves and goes out and accomplishes something while the higher ups are conferring or committing over it.

A man either marries because he is in love or in debt. If he isn't in debt, he soon will be after he gets married.

Gracious to Society Matrons: "Your eyes shine like the seat of a pair of blue serge pants!"

While plowing in the south forty Hank Jilson turned up an alarm clock where he lost his watch last year. Hank allows that you can't beat that soil for growing.

Another paradox of life: Watching a young woman with nice legs and a short skirt sitting down, crossing her legs, and trying to cover them up with the skirt.

At poker I can't tell the jack from the king.
I look at the papers but don't see a thing.
I can't tell a Ford from a Packard straight right.

I once kissed our cook instead of my mate.
Now I wish all you please at my ludicrous plight.
And give thanks to God that you're blessed with sound sight.
But there's one little thing that I haven't yet done.
— Mistaken a two-dollar bill for a one.

The teacher was giving the primary class a talk on flowers. "Now, children," she said, "who can tell me what makes the flower spring from the seed?"
"God does it," answered one little girl, "but fertilizer helps."

WARSAW, (AP)—The first lady of Republican Poland, Madame Moscicka, is one of its most active social workers. In the Zamek, Poland's White House, she has established a children's relief office, while at Spalin, the summer residence of the Polish president, she helped to found a kindergarten. In Warsaw and in the provinces are many schools for infants which owe their start to the first lady of the land.
Madame Moscicka is kept busy most of the day by the demands of her social work. Mothering other people's children has long been one of her activities, although she has four children of her own—three boys and a daughter. She now is a grand-mother.

LONDON (AP)—Understudy waiters were introduced at a Guildhall banquet attended by the Prince of Wales when waitresses served for the first time in the place of men and this broke down an age long city tradition.
The understudies were men, kept in the background, prepared to "go on" at a moment's notice in case the two girls serving the Prince should become awed and overpowered but the girls did their jobs to perfection.
Because of the increasing crimes of violence throughout Japan, the police of the largest cities may be armed with pistols. Most policemen in Japan are now armed only with short swords.

PAVLOVA VS. CHARLESTON BETHLEN (AP)—Anna Pavlova hasn't much, if any, use for the Charleston. Talking to an interviewer here on a variety of subjects the great dancer emphasized almost more than anything else her dislike for this form of dancing. "The Charleston? Pooh!" she said. "It's just business, you know. In America there are thousands, I don't know how many thousands, of dancing teachers. They get up congresses and set the vogue for such dances as they think will help their business most. Hence the Charleston."
A little more emphatic, perhaps was her reputation of the bubbled-hair craze.
"The gratest piece of stupidity that femininity has ever perpetrated," was her blunt way of putting it.

Kansas golfers are being asked for $2,000 to continue experiments at the Agricultural college to determine the best grass seed for golf greens.

AT THE THEATERS

Arctic Filmed In Curwood Film at Sherrys

They have taken James Oliver Curwood's story, "Tentacles Of The North," to Hollywood. And, according to the screen version of it that came to the eyes of the Sherry theater last night at the Sherry theater, they brought the Arctic Sea of California, froze into it a rugged old whaling ship, and turned loose a crew of half-mad men, a beautiful girl and the great mystery of the waste space.
Layart made the picture, Louis Chaudet directed it and a mightily enthused audience viewed it last night.
Gaston Glass, as the young naval officer who joined the Van Horn whaling expedition for a lark, deserves no little credit for the finish of his performance, its realism and superior characterization. Likewise, Alice Calhoun, as the lovely Rao Brown, gave mad aboard a deserted ship, played a difficult role with remarkable poise.
As Dan Blake, the gentleman adventurer who becomes a beast beneath the spell of the Arctic storm, Joseph Girard takes even honors with the principals, and Frank Baker, as the heavy-lifted first mate is deserving of equal praise. Al Roscoe, in the character of Captain Van Horn, is killed off early in the story but his brief appearance is highly effective. Al Ferguson is an impressive seaman of the whaling ships.
Comedy showing "Excess Baggage."

"Silent Lover" Coming To Star Sunday

"The Silent Lover," first National newest starring vehicle for Milton Sills, will open at the Star theater Sunday for two days showing.
The story, adapted by Carey Wilson from the European success by Lajos Simonyi, entitled "The Legionaire," is described as a thrilling one, dealing with the skirmishes between the Foreign Legion units stationed on the edge of the Sahara and the marauding Berber tribesmen, who constantly harry European travelers and residents in those sections.
Sills is cast as a disreputable young diplomat, who loses his honor in Paris, only to regain it—and win the girl he loves—on the burning sands of southern Morocco. Supporting him is a notable cast of screen favorites, including Viola Dana and Natalie Kingston, Montague Love, Arthur Carew, Charlie Murray, Arthur Stone, William V. Mong, Alma Bennett, Claude King, William Humphrey, and others.
The joys and tribulations of face lifting are ruthlessly and hilariously exposed in Mabel Normand's new Hal Roach comedy "Anything Once!" which constitutes the fun portion of the program.

Songs and Dances To Be Featured By "Strutters"

Coming to the Arcade theater on Thursday night, Jan. 13, for just one performance, "Struttin' Sam From Alabama," will give the local theater-goers an opportunity to see the fastest and funniest negro organization presented—Disko songs—"Black Bottom"—and Charleston dances—Crescent chorus of beat-tops—Ebony hood comedians—a symphonic specialty orchestra—not an old style colored show but a musical comedy with a plot and musical score, with a colored cast and chorus, direct from a most successful Broadway run.
Reserved seats for this attraction will be placed on sale Monday at the Glass Drug Store.

Drama Laughs Abound In "Risky Business"

The plunge from thrills and comedy to silver drama—the sort that makes one hold one's breath—is the cinematic combination which makes the nerves of the most jaded or bored screen audience tingle.
That is why there is a breathless thrill for film fans who see "Risky Business," Vera Reynolds' latest starring vehicle which will be on view at the Sherry theater tomorrow. The clever work of Booth Marie Dix, who adapted the film story from Charles Brackett's Saturday Evening Post serial, "Pearly Before Coccy," and Alan Hale, who directed the film, created many thrills and much comedy throughout, but at the climax of the story there's a punch that is a masterpiece of the thrill-maker's art.
When pampered, luxury-loving Cecily comes face to face with the realities of life in a house she's stumbled into on a "walkhome" in the darkness—when she battles shoulder to shoulder for the life of a child with her doctor-sweetheart just after she's broken her engagement with him—there's real drama!
An excellent cast was chosen for the supporting roles. Kenneth Thomson, well-known young leading man of the stage, is soon opposite Miss Reynolds in his first camera role; Ethel Clayton, Zasu Pitts, Louis Natheaus, Ward Crane, George Irving and Louise Caho also bear important dramatic and comedy burdens. The production was photographed by James Diamond.
Comedy showing "Fast Male."

Orchestra Heads Vaudeville Bill Coming Sunday

A pleasing program on versatile artists that will keep the audience amused will be seen on the new vaudeville bill at the Arcade theater on Sunday.
The bill is headed by the California Red Jackets presented by Goodwin Goldie, an orchestra rendering singing, dancing, and musical numbers. This novelty is proving one of the outstanding attractions on the circuit. Billy Webber, "The Boy from the South," is better known as the dancing fool and merits this name, it is said. Mokihana & George possess pleasing singing voices and introduce native Hawaiian dances, executed in a catchy way. Shirley & Stearns are two international comedy favorites a program of fun and frolic. Swami & Gaicini are said to be clever exponents of smart comedy and magic. Its original conception makes it a pleasing and interesting offering.

Colleen Moore Coming to Arcade Monday

Colleen Moore appears in golden curls instead of her familiar shock dark Dutch bob in "Twinkletoes," which is showing at the Arcade theater for three days starting Monday. The story, of London's Lamphouse, written by Thomas Burke, laid stress on the fast, happy heroine was a blonde.
