Junkman (at back door): Any old junk you want to get rid of, lady?
Lady: Yes, come in; my husband will be here in a minute.

If there's anything in the way of food more distasteful than a cold fried egg we haven't yet tasted it.

Dad (sternly): "Where were you last night?"
Son: "Oh, just riding around with some of the boys."
Dad: "Well, tell 'em not to leave their lipsticks in the car."

A doctor declares that kissing shortens life. We suppose he means single life.

Maid: "There's a man at the door with a package marked C. O. D."
Bride: "Tell him to take it back. I ordered salmon."

"What I want to know," exclaimed Mr. Household, in much indignation, "is who is boss around here."
"Well," answered his wife, "when mother and I are at the movies, and your sister is not visiting us, and the children are at school, and it's the cook's day out, you are."

"Toofus!"
"Yes, sic!"
"Call up my dentist and see if you can make an appointment for me."
"And Toofus!"
"Yes, sic!"
"Don't press him!"

PREFERS DEATH
CHEROKEE, Okla. (AP)—Blind, C. E. Marble, 69, prefers death in the electric chair to life behind prison bars for murder.

When he expressed his choice in court, he was ordered to examine him, but they found his name and electrocution was ordered for March 15. "Thank you," he said. "To be blind and in prison at the same time would be unbearable."

AT THE THEATERS

Lightning Girl, Canine Marvel, In Film at Sherrys

One of the most talented dog stars before the camera today is Lightning Girl, known the world over as the Canine Marvel, who plays an important role in "The Call of the Klondike." Hayart's newest superior melodrama which will be shown at the Sherry theater tonight. In the last analysis it is she who makes possible the ultimate happiness of the hero, Gaston Glass, and the lovely heroine, Dorothy Dwan.

But before this comes about she demonstrates conclusively that the dog brain functions as ably and as well as does the human intellect.

"The Call of the Klondike," is from all reports, an interesting melodrama as has been produced in a very long time. The gripping story has much to do with it. So, too, has the all-star cast, which includes such popular personalities as Gaston Glass, Dorothy Dwan, Earl McCreife and Jimmy Aubrey.

But in alluring credit where credit is due we must see to it that a just portion is given that capable and gifted artist, Lightning Girl. Comedy showing "One A. M."

Pilgrim Courage Depicted In Star Picture

In considering the events of American history so many "ifs" come naturally to mind. For instance, when you see "The Pilgrims," the Chronicle of America, showing today and Wednesday at the Star theater, and you realize that there would have been no Mayflower and no Pilgrims in American history if Holland had proved to be the land of refuge these people of simple faith and unselfish courage had hoped it would be.

"The Pilgrims," as produced by Yale University Press, opens in England and shows how some people who persisted in worshipping God in their own humble way were persecuted by Church and State until they decided to give up the country and the homes they loved so well, so that they might worship in peace.

America, then in its first stages of settlement, was a natural selection. Drama with all the poignancy of realism is found in "The Pilgrims," which tells a favorite story of American history.

Johnny, Ulmer and Stepien have a hard time kicking the elephant next year. In the Senate Senator Bruce, of Maryland, said that if a dry should be nominated by the democrats for president the wets would hold a convention of their own to select a candidate. Berlin, of Alabama, took exception to the prophecy.

"Struttin' Sam" Different From Usual Revues

On Thursday night, the Arcade theater will house the newest of all colored musical comedies, entitled "Struttin' Sam From Alabama," produced by Arthur Hoods.

The play is unlike the usual run of colored revues inasmuch as it incorporates a clever story that keeps well within the domain and vernacular of the colored performer.

In the cast are Thomas Harris, Boston Webb, two funny comedians, Johnson and Brown, Tom Toliver, Miss Margaret Jackson, the black Gull-Curel, Miss Fretta Shaw, and many others.

Reserved seats are now selling at the Glass drug store.

ERSKINE BUSY
NEW YORK (AP)—Prof. John Erskine, of Columbia, who is accused of jaxing up the classics, is now working on a modern version in fiction of the story of Adam and Eve. That jazz charge, he says, was made against Plato when he criticized Homer for the Odyssey.

"Rain" Coming To La Grande On Jan. 17

"Rain," the most stupendous dramatic sensation in a decade, comes to the arcade theater on Monday night, Jan. 17. The fact that this attraction has been obtained by the management of this playhouse should interest every lover of the theater in this community. Not in a long time has any production earned the praise and raved the attention of the American public as has this tense, virile, and altogether satisfying offering.

With its setting in the South Seas, peopled by both Americans and natives, with its appeal to all the emotions, with stirring dramatic incidents mingled with smart comedy, it is said to be entertainment par excellence.

Heading the stellar company to be brought here by Henry Ruffy, by special arrangement with Sam H. Harris, is Isabel Withers, youthful star and one of the most popular actresses on the American stage.
