Past Matrons Elect Officers For New Year

The annual meeting of the Past Matrons' club of Hope chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, was held Saturday night in the Masonic parlors with Mrs. Pete Biever, of Kanata, as hostess. The regular meeting time of the club is Wednesday night, but was advanced because of the cadman concert on that night.

Officers for the new year were elected, Mrs. Archie Bacon being elected president, Mrs. Biever, vice-president and Mrs. C. H. Eberhard, secretary and treasurer.

A social followed the business session, during which time those present were seated for a two-course luncheon, which was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Edward Ebell and Miss Edith Bell.

The tables were decorated with bouquets of the season's flowers in the pastel colors.

About 35 persons were present for the regular dinner served by Oliver P. Morton Relief Corps Saturday at noon at the Knights of Pythias hall, which was served by Mesdames Edna Smith, Edna Smith, Lorene Smith, Nellie Smith, Effie King and Harry Turner.

The afternoon's program consisted of a vocal number by Miss Bethel Fry, accompanied by Miss Leawanna Graham at the piano, and a dialogue "The Little Grand-ma," which was given by the members of Mrs. Frank Hardisty's Sunday school class of the First Christian church.

The installation of officers was completed with Mrs. Belcher Koehenauer being installed as patriotic instructor, Mrs. Effie King, secretary and Mrs. Edna Ryerson, assistant conductor.

Four applications for membership were received.

Neighborhood Club Meets Tomorrow

Compositions by Calman will be featured in the musical program of tomorrow afternoon's meeting of the Neighborhood club at the clubroom in the library building.

Mrs. W. H. Robinson, Jr. will sing "Moon Behind the Cotton-wood" and "Land of the Sky Blue Water," by this famous composer who will appear in concert here Wednesday night at the L. D. S. tabernacle, under the auspices of this club, and Miss Ann Stange will sing his "At Evening" and "My Gift to You." Mrs. E. I. Holmer will be piano accompanist.

"American Short Stories" is the subject for the meeting tomorrow, and Mrs. Norman Fees is the leader.

UNION (Special).—St. John's guild of the Episcopal church met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ed Holly.

There was a short business session, which was followed by a social, during which time the

We have just found the price that is paying our shoes off the shelves. This price seems to suit everybody, but still there are some who kick at the styles and narrow toes, and the heel does not suit, etc. But never kick at the price. I am figuring on taking a vacation on the profits we are making on this lot of shoes. Just think! $1.00 per pair. Any woman will only one foot can get fitted at 50c, for one shoe, either right or left, we don't care which. So, bring in your $1.00 and kick all you want, just as long as we are able to fit you. I would be disappointed if you just bought a pair although finding fault in some way about them.

hostess served refreshments.

UNION (Special).—Last Monday evening the Union confederated club members and their wives gathered at the Union hotel for a sea-food dinner.

Two long tables had been arranged in the dining room and decorated with bouquets of cut flowers. The guests were seated at 7 o'clock and a nine-course dinner was served.

Following dinner dancing was enjoyed in the hotel livingroom until 11 o'clock.

Bridge Luncheon At Stoddard Home

Mrs. Elmer Stoddard was hostess at an attractive luncheon Saturday afternoon at her home on O avenue, when members of the club and several others were her guests.

Luncheon was served at 1:15 o'clock at five small tables, which were effectively arranged with bouquets of pink roses and carnations.

Bridge was the diversion following luncheon. Mrs. Norman Fees made high score among the club members and the guest prize went to Mrs. Walter H. Guild.

Mrs. Harry Zuehlke received the consolation prize.

UNION (Special).—Mrs. S. E. Miller was hostess to the members of the Carnation club and a few guests at the Union hotel at a 1 o'clock luncheon Thursday afternoon.

The table was decorated with bouquets of pink roses. Places were marked for 16 and a five-course luncheon was served.

After luncheon bridge was played at three tables with Mrs. George Baird winning high score. Mrs. Walter Cook received the consolation prize.

Mrs. Edith Pity sang several solos during the afternoon, accompanying herself at the piano. A guest prize was presented her.

A short business session followed the card games, when officers were elected for the coming year. Mrs. Bert Knight was elected president of the club; Mrs. Frank Sturgill, vice president, and Mrs. Floyd Churchill, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Edith Pity will be the next hostess to the club Thursday, Jan. 27.

UNION (Special).—One of the most enjoyable parties here this season was Wednesday afternoon when Mrs. Mary Hutchinson was hostess to 28 of her friends at a 1:15 o'clock luncheon at the Union hotel.

A five-course luncheon was served around a table decorated with baskets of red carnations, which were also used in the livingroom, where bridge was at play following luncheon.

Mrs. George Sublett made high score and the second prize went to Mrs. Frank Conner. Mrs. Kerr received the consolation prize.

Past Commander Of W. B. A. Honored

Mrs. Frank Pike, who has completed a year as commander of the local review of the Woman's Benefit association, was the inspiration for a surprise dinner party Saturday evening at her home, given by several members of the review and other friends.

Dinner was served at 6 o'clock with covers laid for Mrs. Mattie Steward, Mrs. Lena Elliott, Mrs. Ada Goeck, Mrs. Helen Lane, Mrs. Clyde Charlton, Mrs. Ida Charlton, Mrs. Irene McCarthy, Mrs. E. N. Jensen, Mrs. Schyllida Wadby, Mrs. J. M. Koehenauer, Mrs. G. McVey, Mrs. Edna Cunningham, Mrs. Mae Nodro, Miss Sadie Nodro, Mrs. Pearl Bowman, Mrs. J. G. Stitzinger and Mrs. C. Nodro.

The rooms were decorated with bouquets of red carnations, which were a gift to the honor guest from her husband.

During the evening a gift was

READING DIFFICULTIES IN OTHERWISE NORMAL CHILDREN

By E. Bosworth McCready, M. D., F. A. C. P., Pittsburg

Member Gorgas Memorial Institute
Can it be that some physical disability is the cause of Johnny's inability to learn to read? The parents are intelligent and well read and they know that disease, tonsils, eyestrain, and many other conditions may cause mental backwardness and abnormal behavior. The family physician is consulted. He makes a thorough physical examination, finds nothing of consequence, and sends the anxious parents to consult a psychiatrist who is experienced in the study and treatment of problem children.

This physician repeats the physical examination with the same results. He also inquires minutely into the family history, particularly as to mental traits and emotional, physical, mental, and emotional, from early babyhood up to the present time. He applies various tests by which intelligence is measured. Finally he is ready to render his decision to the anxious parents. Johnny is neither a dunce nor a swamp. In general intelligence he is superior to the average. But, while not of defective intelligence, he has an intellectual defect. Paradoxical, perhaps, but true, as is seen when the doctor goes on to explain:

The ability to read is dependent not only upon the integrity of the visual organs, the eyes, and upon the optic nerve which carries the impressions to the general visual center in the brain but also upon the development of a very special center in the brain which has for its function the storing up of the memories of printed and written words.

The centers for the storing up of memories of numerals and musical symbols are close by but separate so that one may be affected without the other being involved.

In some persons, one or the other of these centers, more usually the reading word center, has failed to develop properly or has been injured by a very minute hemorrhage at birth. Such persons, and they are not few, have great difficulty in learning to read and spell. They see the word but fail to recognize it because the memory of the appearance of the word has not been retained.

An analogous condition exists when the hearing-word center is affected. In such cases words are heard only as undifferentiated sound, for hearing in general is not impaired. The child is made to repeat what he has not heard and consequently does not talk, or talks imperfectly, repeating words as they have incompletely or imperfectly impressed themselves upon his word memory. Thus some children for years speak a language of their own.

using definite sounds, always the same, for definite objects, actions and states of feeling. They are reproducing sounds made by others as they, the children, hear them, and are unaware that these words are not exact reproductions. The immediate family comes to understand them, other children, strange to say, understand them even at first contact, but to others their talk is a meaningless gibberish.

After supper the evening was spent at four tables of cards. Mrs. Reece McAllister made high score among the women and Mrs. J. A. McCarthy received the consolation prize. J. A. McCarthy scored highest among the men and low score went to Ole Rogers.

UNION (Special).—The Women's Christian Temperance union met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. E. Pursel. The regular business session was followed by an interesting program. Mrs. A. L. Dickinson gave a reading "The Sanctity of the Law" and one entitled "Reviews from International Students' Minds." A report of the various state elections was made by Mrs. E. E. Pursel. She also gave a reading entitled "A Set of New Year's Resolutions."

The Rev. R. S. Hughes, former pastor of the Presbyterian church here, was a guest at the meeting and gave an address on "Friendship." He also spoke of the commendable work of the W. C. T. U.

Following the program refreshments were served by Mrs. A. L. Dickinson and Mrs. Viola Parker.

MENUS

By Sister Mary
BREAKFAST—Baked winter pears, cereal, thin cream, country sausage, buckwheat pancakes, syrup, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Spinach mold with creamed oysters, brown bread and butter sandwiches, almond pudding with grape juice sauce, milk, tea.

DINNER—Roast beef, browned potatoes, brown gravy, brussels sprouts, head lettuce with French dressing, orange ice, sponge cake, milk, coffee.

The spinach mold with creamed oysters is sure to please. Scallops, mushrooms or chicken can be used in place of the oysters if preferred.

Spinach Mold
Three cups finely chopped cooked spinach, 2 tablespoons melted butter, 1/2 cup finely chopped mushrooms, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 2 eggs.

Beat the eggs in a bowl with salt and pepper and mix thoroughly. Beat eggs until light and add to spinach mixture. Turn into a well-buttered ring mold and pack firmly. Cover and steam for 30 minutes. Turn out on a hot chop plate and fill with the creamed oysters.

The mushrooms are often omitted from the spinach mixture but they add much to the tastiness of the dish and should be used if possible. Canned or dried mushrooms can be substituted for fresh ones if necessary.

A trial marriage that was different was entered into by Aage Woldike, New York broker, and Elsie Rizer, Washington actress. They were married more than a year ago but agreed to keep it secret so they could call it off quietly if it didn't "take." It did—so the other day they announced it to their friends with the card shown here.

A Buying Guide

Before you order dinner at a restaurant, you consult the bill-of-fare. Before you take a long trip by motor-car, you pore over road maps. Before you start out on a shopping trip, you should consult the advertisements in this paper. For the same reasons!

The advertising columns are a buying guide to you in the purchase of everything you need—including amusements! A guide that saves your time and conserves your energy; that saves useless steps and guards against false ones; that puts the s-t-r-e-t-c-h in family budgets.

The advertisements in this paper as so interesting, it is difficult to see how anyone could overlook them . . . fail to profit by them. Just check with yourself and be sure you are reading the advertisements regularly—the big ones and the little ones. It is time well spent . . . always.
