MENUS

By Sister Mary BREAKFAST - Stewed figs with lemon, cereal, thin cream, crisp broiled bacon, creamed potatoes, graham pop-overs, milk, coffee.

LENCHON - Cream of marrowfat bean soup, eye bread and butter, head lettuce, cabinet pudding, milk, tea.

DINNER - Roast loin of veal, mashed potatoe gravy, scalloped tomatoes, jellied cabbage salad, lemon soufflé, whole wheat bread, milk, coffee.

If you are not well acquainted with the varieties of dried beans available on the market, the difference between a marrowfat and a navy bean may seem of little or no importance. But a marrowfat bean is large, rich and with a thin covering, while a navy bean is small, lacking in richness and has a thick covering extremely irritating to some people. Marrowfat beans usually cost a few cents a pound more than navy beans but for many purposes are well worth the difference in price.

Cabinet Pudding - Stale sponge cake, 1/2 cup seedless raisins, 2 eggs, 2 cups milk, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon melted butter, 1/2 teaspoon grated nutmeg, 2 tablespoons sugar.

Butter a quart mold and sprinkle with raisins. Citron or candied fruit can be used if a more elaborate pudding is wanted. Add slices of sponge cake, sprinkling raisins between each layer. Fill the mold about 3/4 full of the cake and raisins. Beat eggs slightly with sugar, salt and nutmeg. Gradually add milk and melted butter, beating constantly when thoroughly mixed, pour over the sponge cake mixture. Let stand until cake absorbs custard, place in a pan of hot water, cover with buttered paper and bake one hour in a moderately hot oven. Unmold and serve warm with hard sauce.

HEALTH

CHILDREN'S COLDS

By Edward S. Himer, M. D., New York City

Member Gorgas Memorial Inst. With the return of cold weather children are prone to colds. Youngsters who have been splendidly well all summer frequently catch cold with the change of season.

Fully 85 per cent of children's illnesses in winter are due to infections of the upper respiratory tract.

Infants and young children are more susceptible because their mucous membranes are more delicate, their breathing spaces are smaller, they have developed little natural immunity to infection.

Colds are due to an infection. This is usually contracted from another individual. The affected person spreads germs about in the air by coughing, sneezing, and even in loud talking.

The child may harbor the infection in nose or throat and a cold is started by something that lowers the resistance, such as sudden chilling of one portion of the body, for example, getting feet wet, indigestion from improper eating, especially candy and other sweets.

Children that are too warmly dressed so that the skin is constantly moist with perspiration are prone to colds. So also are those who live in overheated, poorly ventilated rooms.

If, instead of saying, "It's only a slight cold, which amounts to nothing," we could foresee the possible later development, we should not be so complacent. While it is true that most colds pass away after a week, without being serious, there are dangerous complications arising from ordinary colds.

Croup (not diphtheritic) usually begins as a cold. The croupy cough starts a night or two later. Croup, while not dangerous, is distinctly alarming. Abscess of the middle ear is a common complication of colds. The infection spreads from the naso-pharynx through the eustachian tube to the middle ear.

Mastoid disease may follow the ear infection. Pneumonia, especially in young children, usually begins as an ordinary cold. There again, the infection travels from the nose and throat down the bronchi to the lungs.

The sinuses, air spaces communicating with the nose, may become involved and cause serious illness.

Some interference with digestion is a part of every cold. Occasionally it takes the form of diarrhoea. Acidosis may follow the onset of a slight cold in some children.

UNION PERSONALS

UNION. (Special)—The Rev. Mr. Bradner of the Episcopal church, gave an illustrated lecture Sunday evening at the church, his subject being Van Dyck's book, "The Other Wise Man."

County Superintendent E. A. Sayre was over from La Grande last week visiting the Union schools and looking after details connected with the state examinations.

placed under lock and key at the city hall the suit equipment that was found in the recent raid, the prohibition officers made at a house south of Union just at the mouth of the canyon along the highway. The property confiscated consists of two large copper jars, two large coils and a smaller outfit, besides a sack of sugar.

It is understood that Sheriff Broehars was here Saturday inquiring into the question of minors being in the poolrooms and card rooms.

Charley Cantor, who has been at his home for the past few weeks recovering from the effects of an operation, is suffering a slight relapse owing to an attack of flu, which is confining him to his home for a few days.

Friends of L. A. Wright, local business man and sportsman, are boosting his name for appointment in the state game commission. Indorsements are also going in from other communities in this part of the state, including the Wing, Fin, and Plectrofoot club in La Grande.

The 1927 Union Stock Show was launched last Friday night at the initial meeting which was held at the city hall. A board of directors was placed in office and this board chose S. E. Miller for their president. Discussion of the plans for this year's show was in order. Several out-of-town visitors were present. Many believe that the show will have to gradually change some of its features as there has been a slight falling off in receipts compared with the expense of putting on such a stupendous exhibition as the show has developed into.

Ella Hess who went east a few weeks ago to buy a sawmill for shipment to Union, writes that he has bought a hand sawmill and it will be dismantled and shipped here in the near future. The mill was purchased in Sawinaw, Mich. Hess is expected home soon to look after the building of the pond, mill, and other equipment for the enterprise.

A. B. Basset is here from Gibbon, Neb., on a visit to his brother, Sam Basset. He arrived in Union last Thursday.

A marshall "Deafy" Jones who was taken to the county farm about a week ago, has been a resident of Union for many years. He was well known in the towns near Union having been a peddler of fruits and vegetables to North Powder, Haines and other places. Driving his old horse and spring wagon, and generally clad in an old Civil war uniform, he was known to practically every person in this end of the valley. Being unable to do active work and in an almost destitute condition, it was thought best to take him to the county farm.

Last week was the occasion for several attempts at petty thieving from numerous yards and chicken-houses in Union. Articles of clothing were purloined from several clotheslines and one home in South Union suffered the loss of part of a flock of chickens. Some of the articles of clothing were found next morning in another

A Buying Guide Before you order dinner at a restaurant, you consult the bill-of-fare. Before you take a long trip by motor-car, you pore over road maps. Before you start out on a shopping trip, you should consult the advertisements in this paper. For the same reasons! The advertising columns are a buying guide to you in the purchase of everything you need—including amusements! A guide that saves your time and conserves your energy; that saves useless steps and guards against false ones; that puts the s-t-r-e-t-c-h in family budgets. The advertisements in this paper as so interesting, it is difficult to see how anyone could overlook them... fail to profit by them. Just check with yourself and be sure you are reading the advertisements regularly — the big ones and the little ones. It is time well spent... always.
