HEALTH

PREVENTION OF CHILDREN'S COLDS

By Edward S. Rimer, M. D.,
New York City
Member Gargas Memorial Institute

First, as a preventive of colds, the daily routine of the child should be carefully regulated by your physician. The diet should be suited to the child's needs, and adhered to strictly. A sufficient number of hours outdoors is essential, regardless of the weather. Babies, however, should not be exposed to strong wind or extreme cold.

Be sure to have proper ventilation of the sleeping rooms. Keep the windows well open every night. Ventilating screens may be used in cold or stormy weather.

The temperature of the house should not be more than 70 degrees.

Give the daily bath before supper and finish with a cool sponge about the neck and chest.

See that the child has a bowel movement regularly every day.

The growing child needs plenty of sleep to keep up his resistance to disease. A daily nap for children under five is essential.

The clothing should not be too warm nor too heavy. It should not cause constriction. The child weighted down with clothing so that he can hardly waddle along, who perspires on the least exertion, is very apt to be subject to frequent colds.

If every individual at the onset of a cold were put to bed and kept isolated until cured, the prevalence of this affliction would be cut down at least 75 per cent. Hence every effort should be made to keep children away from persons with colds. No cold is so insignificant but that your physician should be called upon for advice as to specific treatment.

The room should be kept at a fairly even temperature, 68 to 70 degrees. Tub baths should be discontinued.

Mike: Well, I don't care if folks accuse me of having a big head.

Waiter: "How do you like your egg, madam?"

The Mrs.: "Oh—just so-so—I married him on a bet."

If colds are caused by a germ what causes the germ?

A correspondent writes asking if it is possible to drive a nail without hitting one's thumb.

Quite simple. Let one's wife hold the nail.

She told him he would never be great until he had known sorrow. Then she married him. That's what we call service!

Giving an apple a fancy shine makes a nickel one sell for a dime.

YOU
You ask what the old town needs?

It needs more men—some men of deeds.

Not men who talk—find fault and bawl.

But men who'll give the best they've got.

To make the old town what she ought.

You say we need more factories. More stores, more schools and charities.

But in the end it's men who make them—is that true?

The things the town needs most is YOU.

An Ohio woman dislocated her jaw while yucking. It would be our luck to do that just when we were concealing a yawn.

"HERE COMES THE BRIDE"
Mike: "Who wrote the greatest song in the world?"
Ike: "Mendelssohn!"

Anyone who has spent a number of hours tramping around a department store in company with a woman can understand why it is possible for them to swim channels.

The difference in a maiden and a widow is the maiden has to run after a man to catch him while the widow catches him by standing still.

The small boy loves his neighbor as himself—if she gives him something to eat.

SOCIETY NOTE
Mr. Jones has been going to town every night on account of the radio set his wife bought to keep him at home.

continued and only warm sponges given. Allow the child to drink water freely.

The diet should always be light, even if there is no loss of appetite. Fruit juices, cereals, toast, broths, and milk are sufficient.

In many children infected tonsils and adenoids are the cause of frequent colds. Their removal is followed by marked improvement.

WILL TELL AMERICANS ALL ABOUT FRENCHMEN
The way of a man with a maid in France and American influence on French manners are two topics on which Madame Suzanne Grinberg will tell the plain, blunt truth in the United States. Madame Grinberg, prominent French woman lawyer, will lecture for the American Association of University Women and the National League of Women Voters. She is the only woman on the board of the French Bar association.

AT THE THEATERS

"His Jazz Bride" Starts Today At Sherrys

For all brides and grooms, and for those who have dodged matrimony, there is an entertaining film sermon at the Sherry theater, where "His Jazz Bride," a Warner Bros. Classic of the Screen, Starts today, Matt Moore and Marie Prevost are starred in this story of a frivolous wife who, after nearly wrecking her marital happiness, repents and reforms.

This screen version of the Beatrice Burton novel, "The Flapper Wife," which ran in serial form in the leading newspapers throughout the country, gives Miss Prevost an opportunity to prove herself a dramatic actress as well as a comedienne. Mr. Moore, as the overworked and overworried young husband, hangs another scalp to his impersonations of the outwardly shy and inwardly seething young man. The supporting cast is excellent, the story moves along at a gay and rapid pace to a powerful climax, and it is only after the performance is over that you realize you have been entertained and lectured at the same time.

The cast "His Jazz Bride" directed by Herman Raymaker includes John Patrick, Gayne Whitman, Don Alvarado, Mabel Julianne Scott, George Irving and Margaret Seddon. The scenario is by Charles Logue. Comedy showing "See Here".

"Flaming Forest" Tells of Canadian Police

The stirring history of the founding of the great Canadian Northwest Mounted Police, an army of a few who conquered the lawlessness of an almost unpopulated country within the confines of the Dominion of Canada, has been reproduced on the screen by Cosmopolitan and starts a three day run today at the star theater under the title, "The Flaming Forest."

The picture, directed by Reginald Barker, famous for his direction of great out-of-doors films, is a screen adaptation by Waldemar Young of James Oliver Curwood's immortal story of the establishing of law and order in a territory of three hundred thousand square miles by some three hundred brave men who dared death daily and always "got their man."

The picture, filmed largely in Canada and Montana, is interpreted by a cast of twenty celebrated players with Antonio Moreno and Renee Adore in the leading romantic roles. Among the other celebrated players of the past are: Gardner James, Oscar Beregi, Tom O'Brien, Bert Roach, Claire McDowell, Clarence Geldert, William Austin, and little Mary Jane Irving.

NEVER BEEN TO DANCE AND MOVIES UNKNOWN

Adjutant Maude Lee of the Salvation Army's woman home, recently opened in Denver, never has owned or worn an evening dress, never has attended a dance and knows nothing of motion pictures except by hearsay. Born in Denmark, slightly more than 20 years ago, she grew up in the Salvation Army as both of her parents were officers in the order.

The adjutant has not made a sacrifice, she said, for she never wanted to lead a life other than that offered in her work.

Occasionally you meet a woman of few words—but she keeps them busy.

Barthelmess Coming in Stirring Story

"The White Black Sheep", Richard Barthelmess latest inspiration starring feature, which will be shown Saturday only at the Arcade theater, is a story of a boy who, disgraced and wrongly accused, joins the British army in the Near East and there proves his true worth and incidentally wins a great love.

Richard Barthelmess enacts the role of Robert Kincaid, scion of a long line of British soldiers, and Patay Ruth Miller portrays the role of Zelle, the Greek dancing girl, with whom he falls in love in a picturesque eate in Palestine.

Constantine Howard has the unsympathetic role of the girl who betrays him and thus sends him to a distant land.
