Mr., Mrs. Guild Entertain at Bridge Dinners

Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Guild entertained at dinner Saturday evening and were again host and hostess at a Sunday night supper at their home on O avenue, having 15 guests on both occasions.

On both nights dinner was at 7:15 o'clock, the guests being seated at one long table, which was effectively arranged in the pastel colors, bouquets of pink and lavender sweetpeas being used.

Bridge at four tables was enjoyed following dinner. On Saturday evening Mrs. A. L. Buchanan made high score and received first prize among the women and the men's prize went to Dr. Lee Bouvy.

On Sunday evening the prizes went to Judge and Mrs. Hugh E. Brady.

Mrs. G. R. Williams was hostess at an attractive party Saturday afternoon when members of the F. S. club were her guests.

Red, white and blue, in keeping with Washington's birthday, was the color scheme used to decorate the home. Mrs. Williams' little daughter, Louise Marie, dressed as a tin soldier, received the guests at the door and presented each with a red, white and blue George Washington hat. Frezias were the flowers used.

Bridge was at play during the afternoon with Mrs. Jack Hlatt as first prize winner. Mrs. W. D. Warner received the second prize and the guest prize went to Mrs. Ray Ledbetter.

A two-course luncheon, also carried out in the patriotic colors, was served by the hostess following the card games.

Mrs. Ernest Landry will be the next hostess to club on Saturday, Feb. 5.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Clevinger entertained the members of the Alhambra Pianists club Saturday evening at their home on Third street, when four tables were at play.

High score at cards was made by Andrew Shannon and the consolation prize went to Mrs. W. E. McClure. Miss Ethel Harnden received the guest prize.

The rooms were attractively decorated with a number of pink cyclamen and bouquets of pink and white carnations.

After the card games the hostess served a two-course luncheon.

Members of the J. J. B. club were entertained Friday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gilmore at their home on N avenue.

Bridge, at three tables, was the diversion of the evening, with Mr. and Mrs. Al Herman winning high score. Low score fell to Mr. and Mrs. Jess Rosenbaum.

Following the card games the hostess served luncheon.

The next meeting of the club will be Friday, Feb. 4, when Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hunting will entertain.

MENUS

By Sister Mary
BREAKFAST—Orange juice, cereal, thin cream, poached eggs on spinach, crisp graham toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Broiled lamb chops, baked potatoes, buttered canned peas, head lettuce salad with French dressing, baked apple dumplings, milk, tea.

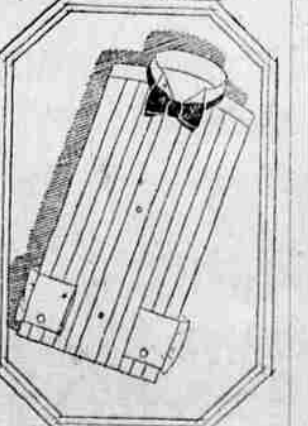

DINNER—Stewed chicken with noodles, glazed sweet potatoes, buttered onions, romaine salad with Thousand Island dressing, bran rolls, mince pie, milk, coffee.

The baked apple dumplings used in the luncheon menu are a little out of the ordinary in their preparation. They are unusually good and insure thorough cooking of the fruit.

Baked Apple Dumplings
Four large tart apples, 1 cup sugar, 1 lemon, 1 cup flour, 2 tablespoons baking powder, 1 tablespoon butter, 1/2 cup milk (about), 1/4 teaspoon salt.

Parse apples and core without breaking apples. Make a syrup of the sugar and about 1 cup of boiling water. Add grated lemon rind and carefully put the apples in the syrup. Cook until the apples are tender but not broken. Remove from syrup with a skimmer. Continue to cook syrup until thick. Mix and sift flour, salt and baking powder and rub in butter with the

WHAT TO DO WITH A BROKEN NOSE
By J. Eastman Sheehan, M. D.
New York City
Member Gorham Memorial Institute

The engineer in charge of a large manufacturing plant was sent for in an emergency. A few minutes later he found himself with the whole of his nose resting on one cheek. It was well for him that the injury was so complete that something had to be done about it without loss of time, because a surgeon was called immediately and today there is nothing to show what happened.

Many another man, after a less shattering blow on that useful organ, has waited to see what would come of it; and for years afterward has presented to the world an exhibition of the perseverance of fate in his regard.

There is no good reason why he should do himself this injury, for injury it is in more ways than one. Not merely is the nose visible; it is the first thing conclusively seen by whoever looks at its owner.

The first mental question one asks in presence of a man with a broken nose is how did he get it? And as yet we are not all so classifiable as to give him the benefit of the doubt. They may prove for him a serious handicap. Now is it the greatest, for the man himself is likely to be sensitively conscious of its appearance and to believe others more disagreeably affected by it than they actually are. On that account he will shrink from human contacts and so impair his economic efficiency and limit his enjoyment of life. There are few stronger barriers to advancement than a poor opinion of oneself.

Finally, there is almost certain to be, at least on one side, marked indifference with normal breathing, which is always a serious menace to health. These are handicaps no man ought to be expected to bear if he can be relieved of them.

But can he? Undoubtedly he can. For the same reason that the nose can so easily be fractured, the break can readily be corrected. Certain elements of bone, cartilage, and other tissues, rather loosely assembled, are combined in the formation of the outer nose. A heavy blow disrupts their junctions. With care, and without much discomfort, they can be put back where they belong. And the sooner the better.

Sometimes the surgeon likes to reset the displaced elements by first swelling has set in. If that cannot be arranged, then as soon as the swelling has abated, the longer the delay the more firmly the parts will be set in their new positions, but even if the same has been practiced for years it is still possible, by taking away a little bone and adding a little tissue, to restore the natural contours and to direct the alveoli that was blocked by the injury. Progress in local anesthesia has eliminated all of the pain and most of the discomfort after a little one-day fast. The sedation and even "knock-out" himself, with better health for good measure.

Breaks Insurance Record

Mrs. Henry C. Yelver of Cincinnati, daughter of the late Julius Pleischmann, yearling, is the most heavily insured woman in the world. A policy for $3,250,000 has just been issued to her, 12 companies, combining it. William R. Bass, the lucky agent, gets $27,000 as his first year's commission. Mrs. Yelver is the wife of a wealthy furniture manufacturer.

Lace Returning To Popularity On Underwear

LONDON, Jan. 24 (AP)—Nottingham lace manufacturers are again anticipating a boom in their products as the result of a return to popularity of lace on women's garments this year.

Models of spring underwear fashions have been designed for a larger proportion of lace accessories and these are signs of a return to a form of "frill" which is intended to be worn over simple and simple under structures as a separate article. Frills and ruffles on spring underwear will also make employment more general in the district.

EFFICIENT WOMEN IN GERMAN POLICE

Women police in Germany have been found so efficient in their particular line of work that the leading police authorities are anxious to increase their number. Some difficulty in being experienced has arisen of the women police which the authorities have to pass and the comparatively low pay allowed by the regulations. After studying the authorities that they are of good character and fundamentally qualified to do police duty, the women applicants have to serve a six months probationary period before being finally accepted.

UP-TO-DATE NURSING IN POLISH HOSPITALS

Modern nursing methods, introduced by the American Red Cross during the war, are being adopted throughout Poland. Nurses trained in a school founded and directed by Miss Amelia Greenwald of Gainsville, Minn., are being placed in many hospitals. Miss Greenwald, decorated by the Polish government, is to return to the United States soon. She has put the training school on a sound financial basis and has arranged for a few graduates to go to America from time to time for further experience and study.
