Dr. Maud Allen Guest at Tea at A. T. Hill Home

Dr. Maud Allen gave an interesting talk about her work in the Frances Newton hospital in India, where she has been as a medical missionary for 22 years, yesterday afternoon when she was the guest of the Missionary society of the First Presbyterian church here at a tea at the home of Mrs. A. T. Hill on First street.

Dr. Allen told of her work with the Indian women and how Christianity was elevating the women of that country.

Dr. Allen is here working to raise money to add to the equipment in the hospital. Before coming here she spent some time in Portland, where she formerly made her home and from here she went to Baker this morning.

A liberal subscription to the work was made by the missionary society and the members of the Westminster society, who were special guests at the tea.

Mrs. Lloyd I. Busby and Dr. Margaret Ingle played during the afternoon and evening. Mrs. W. B. Dickson, Mrs. William Miller, Mrs. Phil Thompson and Mrs. Clyde Webb, thirty-six women were present.

Dr. Allen is known to many people here, having visited La Grande about 16 years ago. She was introduced yesterday by Mrs. E. P. Mossman, who told of her acquaintance with her when she tends over a period of several years, and the work she is doing while in La Grande. Dr. Allen was a guest at the Mossman home.

Mrs. Elphine Herman was installed as president of the Degree of Honor Protective association last night when the regular installation of the organization was held at Eagles' hall, with Mrs. Minnie Ford, state vice president, of Baker, acting as installing officer.

Assisting Mrs. Ford with the installation were Mrs. Mary Heasler, who acted as usher, and Mrs. Marian Lyman, as musician. Mrs. Elvyn Swan was installed past president; Mrs. Alta Williams, first vice president; Mrs. Millie Keown, second vice president; Mrs. Julia Blatt, treasurer; Mrs. Elizabeth Walls, financial secretary; Mrs. Edna Owen, usher; Mrs. Pearl Campbell, assistant usher; Mrs. Hilda Williams, inside watchman; Mrs. Evelyn Walden, outside watchman; Mrs. Ethel Ledbetter, right assistant; Mrs. Hazel Landry, left assistant; Mrs. Felva Kilgore, pianist, and Mrs. Mary Heasler, captain of the drill team.

Three new members were taken into the organization. They were Mrs. Clyde Harding, Mrs. Clarence Woodell and Mrs. Charles Reddingfield.

Mrs. Swan, president for the past year, was presented with a gift from the association members in appreciation of her work while in office.

Following the lodge meeting the members were joined by their husbands and the remainder of the evening was enjoyed dancing. Refreshments were served by a committee in charge.

"It's gone!—that tired feeling and burning in my feet. I am on my feet about 12 hours a day and I can now go home when the day's work is over, without that tired feeling and burning in my feet. I can get along without my Arch-Preserver shoes. It would mean another job for me."

Dobbins Entertain At "Winter" Party

The country home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Dobbins, three miles northeast of La Grande was the scene of a delightful gathering Sunday when they entertained 16 of their friends.

The party left La Grande Sunday morning in a bob-sled, with sleigh bells and other things necessary for a regular old-time sleigh ride.

After riding for about an hour they went to the Dobbins home at 10 o'clock, where a breakfast table had been arranged, and a breakfast of home-made sausage, poached eggs, waffles, hot biscuits and coffee was served.

A happy afternoon was spent

VOICES

The day is full of voices—meaningless, insistent. They drone upon the street, chatter at parties, hurl snatches of themselves at you from passing automobiles, rise up and down dramatically from open-air platforms, end with question marks at the office, trail after you on street cars. . . . Your ears, forever open, almost have to hear.

Yet in this same room with you are voices of utmost silence, whose every word concerns you. You control them more surely than you control telephone or radio. Open a page—they talk to you quietly. Close a page—they are through. They are the voices of the advertisements. They talk direct to you. Tell of better roofing for your home, more protective paint for its walls. Shoes your youngsters can't scuffle out easily. Salads, delicious drinks, to gratify you. Reinforced hosiery, cooler underwear, purer soaps. You believe in these voices, for they have to be sincere. Else they would not be in these pages—could not have the nation's belief. You buy the goods they proffer, for you know already what those goods will do. And wide belief has lowered their prices. They are economical—sure!

LOOSE products everywhere in stores are crying out, "Buy me!" But behind the voice of the advertised product is the voice of authority. The voice that tells the why, what, when, where and how of the goods you buy.

Heed these courteous voices often. Read the advertisements every day.
