Broccoli Crop Is
In Good Condition

ROSEMOUNT, Ore., Jan. 25 (AP).—The recent cold weather failed to do any appreciable damage to the Umpqua valley broccoli crop. Although the mercury went to 18 and 19 degrees on two consecutive days, coupled with sunshine during the day, the growers report that they are unable to find any injury to their plants. As there was no snow to protect the plants, the growers were greatly worried during the cold spell and have been

Heavy Winter Production
Causes Exchange to Hit Lower Level

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 26 (AP).—Heavy winter production of eggs in the west and resulting lower levels at principal markets in the south are forcing declines in local prices. On the dairy exchange today all grades are posted two cents lower with extras now down to the 31-cent level. Firsts are quoted at 29 cents and pullets at 27 cents. Current receipts are down to 25 cents.

The egg-lay continues heavy in spite of the severe winter weather prevailing in the northwest. There are so many commercialized henneries now with their heated and electric lighted poultry houses that the lay continues in spite of the cold snap.

Lower grades of butter are fractionally higher for the day with firsts now 42 cents. Top grades remained firm and unchanged. Very little poultry is coming now and prices are fully maintained in most lines. Hens are selling from 29 cents on light to 26 cents on heavy fowls. Broilers are scarce at 30 to 31 cents. A steady tone is shown for country dressed meats. Arrivals are moderate. Top calves go at 15 cents with a few fancy at 18 1/2 cents. Choice light hogs sell at 17 cents.

Carefully examining their plants to determine what damage has been done, but reports from all producing sections would indicate that there has been practically no loss. The plants, which looked wilted and ruined during the cold have regained their normal color and brittleness, while the cores, which became blackened following a severe freeze if the plant is damaged, are still unspotted.

Pennsylvania has 1700 bituminous and 750 anthracite mines.

Issues Climb in Today's Market;
Pressure Lifted

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP).—Selling pressure was lifted from today's stock market and prices rallied briskly on heavy buying for both accounts.

Pools resumed aggressive operations in a number of issues, Columbia Carbon, Luova and Erie first preferred being marked up to the highest prices in years. Chesapeake and Ohio climbed four points and substantial recoveries also were made by a number of other recent weak spots in the railroad group.

The recent improvement in the textile industry was reflected in the opening of the fall staple seeds and processing lines of the American Woolen company at prices 2 1/2 to 7 1/2 cents a yard above the spring levels. The closing was strong. Pittsburgh and West Virginia rose seven points to 137, a record price. Industrials reflected profit-taking including U. S. Steel and General Motors. Total sales approximated 1,400,000 shares.
