Mrs. W. H. Reuter Entertains at Bridge Party

Mrs. Walter H. Reuter was hostess to the club Saturday afternoon with a luncheon at 1:15 o'clock at her home on First street.

After luncheon bridge at three tables, was at play with Mrs. Chase Robinson making high score.

Mrs. E. L. Ratson will be hostess to the club this week, Feb. 5.

Mrs. Claude Mackey was hostess at an attractive dinner party Friday evening at her home on First street, when she entertained 12 friends.

Dinner was served at 6 o'clock, after which three tables of bridge were at play, with Mrs. W. D. McDonald making high score and the consolation prize going to Mrs. L. H. Smith.

St. Valentine's day was the idea carried out in the decorations of the dinner table, candy hearts being used with corresponding place cards.

UNION (Special)—St. John's Episcopal Guild met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Dora Myers.

There was a short business session after which bridge was the diversion for the remainder of the afternoon.

The business served refreshments after the card games.

Clubwomen to Have MacDowell Program

Mrs. E. L. Holmes, chairman in charge of tomorrow afternoon's meeting of the Neighborhood club, has arranged an interesting program, this day being set aside for a MacDowell memorial.

The Rev. Oliver Riley will be the speaker and will tell something of Edward MacDowell's life and work. Mr. Riley is a talented musician and his part in the program is expected to be of unusual interest.

Several MacDowell selections will be given in connection with Mr. Riley's talk. Mrs. G. S. Brien will sing "The Sea" and "In the Woods," both by MacDowell, accompanied by Mrs. E. L. Holmes at the piano. Mrs. R. J. Green will play "To a Waterlily" and "Shadow Dance," and a trio from the Neighborhood club recital, consisting of Mrs. James McNamee, Mrs. A. L. Stoddard and Mrs. Verne Ainsworth will sing "The Beaming Eyes" and "To a Wild Rose," accompanied by Mrs. Holmes at the piano. Miss Barbara Hatt will play "The Witch's Dance."

Mrs. B. A. Benham entertained nine of her friends Saturday afternoon at her home at 1999 Second street, the occasion being her birthday anniversary.

An enjoyable time was spent visiting and sewing during the afternoon, after which a two-course luncheon was served.

A color scheme of yellow and white was carried out in the decorations of the room, a centerpiece of daffodils and fresh flowers used.

Miss Fran Bickford entertained.

Parents, Teachers Meet at Central

The Central Parent-Teacher association had an interesting program Friday afternoon when the regular meeting was held in the Neighborhood club rooms. Irvin Zundel played two violin numbers, "Souvenir" and "Mother Maeres," accompanied by Miss Lois Nelson at the piano. G. L. Dutton sang "Indian Dawn" accompanied by Mrs. Dutton at the piano, and J. T. Longfellow, superintendent of La Grande schools, gave an interesting talk on "Credit."

Several of the pictures, earned by the various schools during the art exhibit in the fall, and framed by the parent-teacher association, were on exhibit.

During the business session, presided over by Mrs. C. B. Johnson, a committee was appointed to investigate whether hot soup should be served in the school. Mrs. William Miller is chairman.

The refreshment committee served following the program.

Chairmen of the various standing committees of the World Wide guild of the First Baptist church met Saturday at the Foley hotel for luncheon, when committee members were selected and plans for the work of the guild during 1927 were outlined.

Plans were also discussed for the entertainment of Missie Agetanger, missionary from China, who will be in La Grande next Sunday and will speak at the First Baptist church that night.

The Tapawingo campfire girl group enjoyed a hooky-holing party Wednesday night of last week. Mr. Ploberg trailing them behind his car. They had two sleds, one large bob on which 17 of the young people rode, and another that held five.

Gerard Evans, member of one of the boy scout troops here, accompanied the girls to guide the large bob.

(Copyright, Pach Brothers. Transmitted by Telephoto.) This is the first published photograph of Mary Ellin Berlin and her mother, Mrs. Ellin Mackay Berlin, who are shortly to join Papa Irving Berlin at Palm Beach. The baby heretofore has been zealously guarded from the camera's eye. It is mainly on little Mary Ellin that Mrs. Berlin bases hopes of a reconciliation with Clarence Mackay, her multimillionaire father, who opposed her marriage to the noted song writer.

The Garden

Now that seed catalogues have become practical garden encyclopedias, the task of selecting seeds for the spring vegetable order becomes more and more puzzling. Fortunately, the seedmen are trimming their lists each year as varieties develop in the various kinds of vegetables that are clearly superior to older varieties.

The safest practical method to employ in dealing on varieties is to consult the most successful vegetable gardener in your community as to the varieties that have proved the best growers and harvest croppers for him. Vegetables do not thrive equally well in all sections. A superior variety in one section may not be as good as some other in another community. Experience is the surest teacher.

Depend upon standard varieties which have stood the test of several seasons rather than on novelties. Try a novelty or so each year to see whether it is better than the old standby but do not depend on it for a crop until you have tried it.

Do not try to grow too many kinds of vegetables in your garden. You will find that some of them are a clear waste as the family taste is registered. It is useless to take up rooms with summer squashes if none of the family cares for them. Seed is the cheapest commodity on the market when returns are considered. Buy plenty of seed of each vegetable you plant, it is better to have too much than too little seed.

Have a sufficient supply to replace if some accident such as a flood or a freeze spoils the first planting.

If you are a member of a Rotary club or other organization that gives an annual vegetable show, select some varieties known to produce the most shapely and attractive-looking roots and fruits for the show table. Catalogues indicate the best exhibition varieties. Big vegetables are usually desired for show purposes and a few of the larger sorts might be planted even if you prefer the quality of some smaller variety.

HOW INTERIOR OF BODY IS X-RAYED

By F. E. Bunnis, M. D., Cleveland Member Gorgas Memorial Inst.

Unless the patient swallows a suspension of some opaque substance, such as barium or bismuth, in milk or some other liquid, internal organs cannot be x-rayed.

When this suspension has been swallowed the expert, by watching its passage from one organ or from one part of an organ to another, can detect deformities, defects, or various other signs which, to him, give evidence of a tumor, a cancer, an ulcer, or some other diseased condition. But his eye must be trained to discover and interpret these signs.

Again, it is not possible to visualize the heart valves so as to determine whether they are diseased or healthy. But since the heart muscles are more opaque than the muscles and skin which cover the chest, the outline of the heart may be seen through the fluoroscope or may be recorded on the x-ray plate. Thus the size, position, and movements of the heart may be visualized and these together with various other clinical facts will give much valuable information.

Certain structures of the lungs are more opaque than are others and therefore cast deeper shadows. From apparatus of these shadows one is able to determine with a fair degree of accuracy whether or not a diseased condition is present.

The x-ray has proved of special usefulness in the identification of gall-stones and of kidney stones, so that erroneous diagnosis may not result.

It would be interesting to describe the refinements of method and the intricate apparatus which have been devised to minimize the chances of error in x-ray work; and to tell of some of the remarkable results which can now be attained by the conscientious roentgenologist, but enough has been said to emphasize the following points:

X-ray plates show shadows of opaque substances. They do not show pictures.

Unless a substance is more opaque than the structures which overlie it or is made so by the presence within it of some opaque substance, it cannot produce a shadow on the x-ray plate.

For a correct interpretation of the shadows on an x-ray plate it is necessary that the distance between the body and the x-ray tube be known; and also the direction of the rays and the angle between the x-ray plate and the body.

X-ray plates and fluoroscopic examinations are of value only when made and interpreted by an expert roentgenologist.
