Bridge Parties Honor Mrs. Ash, Who Will Leave

Several attractive bridge parties have been given during the past week complimenting Mrs. William Ash, who with Mr. Ash will leave here the last of the week for Portland, where they plan to make their home.

Mrs. J. P. O'Connell and Mrs. H. E. Foulger were hostesses at one of these affairs on Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. O'Connell, when eight tables of bridge were at play.

Bouquets of snapdragons and red carnations were effectively arranged about the rooms. Following the afternoon's play a two-course luncheon was enjoyed.

Mrs. E. T. Andrews made high score at bridge and Mrs. William Sigrist received the second prize. A lovely great prize, which was also a farewell gift, was presented to the honor guest, Mrs. Ash.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Ash was honored at another party, when Mrs. J. P. O'Connell was hostess at her home on O avenue.

Flowers were again used to decorate the rooms and the two-course luncheon followed the card games.

Mrs. C. P. Nowlin received the first prize and Mrs. P. S. Robinson made the second highest score.

On both occasions Mrs. Ash bid the guests farewell at the close of the party and extended an invitation to each one to visit her in her Portland home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ash have made La Grande their home for the past 25 years and during that time have made many friends who regret to see them leave the city.

ENTERPRISE (Special).—Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Irwin entertained a few friends at their home here Friday evening. "Bingo" was the diversion of the evening, after which the hostess served refreshments.

ENTERPRISE (Special).—Three tables of pinocle were at play Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Swazey, Dr. E. R. Flack making high score. Refreshments were served by the hostess following the games.

Mrs. R. C. Thomas Entertains Club

Members of the Westminster society of the First Presbyterian church held an interesting meeting last evening at the home of Mrs. Richard Thomas.

Mrs. George Richardson, president, presided over the business session, when plans were made for a cooked food sale to be held Feb. 12. A nominating committee was appointed, consisting of Dr. Margaret Ingle, Mrs. Earl Reynolds and Mrs. Clyde Welch.

Mrs. Thomas led in the devotional. She reviewed "His Methods" from the book "The Man Nobody Knows".

Mrs. Earl Reynolds had charge of the evening's program. She gave a portion of the book "The Modern Women." Mrs. George Richardson played two piano numbers.

The hostess served refreshments and a sociable was enjoyed before adjournment.

An interesting program has been arranged for this evening when there will be a get-together meeting of all of the railway brother-

Campfire Girls Hold Council Fire

The first council fire of the Osoha campfire girl group was held Saturday evening at the home of Helen Sargent, preceded by a business meeting when the girls decided to send for a charter, having eight paid members. An order was also written for honor beads, county book and health chart.

At the Wobelo call the girls filed into the darkened room. Wilma Smith lighted the fire of work, Helen Sargent the fire of health and Barbara Paddock the fire of love, and seven of the girls adopted their campfire names, explaining to the group why they were chosen. Several campfire songs were sung.

Saturday the campfire group had a candy sale, which lasted all day. The candy brought by each girl was sold by noon. After which two of the girls made candy at the guardian's home while the others sold.

About 60 Royal Neighbors were present for the regular meeting Friday at the Knights of Pythias hall. Four were initiated during the evening, after which refreshments were served.

Plans were made for a meeting with the district deputy, Mrs. Phoebe Williams, of Baker, in the near future to make plans for the beginning of a membership drive.

MENUS

By Sister Mary BREAKFAST—Grapefruit, cereal, thin cream, creamed dried beef on graham toast, cinnamon toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Minceed lamb in rice border, stewed tomatoes, raisin bread, steamed cherry puffs, milk, tea.

DINNER—Boiled corned beef, mashed potatoes, browned cabbage, winter vegetable salad, spider corn bread, prune whip with custard sauce, milk, coffee.

Three tablespoons of butter and creamed with 1 teaspoon of cinnamon and 2 tablespoons brown sugar for the cinnamon toast. After spread the toast with the mixture, put pieces back in a very hot oven or under the flame until the butter bubbles up slightly. Serve at once.

Browned Cabbage. One 4-pound head cabbage, 4 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons oil, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1/4 cup cream, 1 tablespoon tomato catsup, 2 eggs.

Trim cabbage and cut in quarters. Drop into a large kettle of boiling salted water and cook, uncovered, for 20 minutes. Drain, chop in the kettle and drain again. Add butter and mix thoroughly. Mix flour, sugar, salt and pepper and add cream, stirring hard to make perfectly smooth. Add to cabbage and mix well. Stir in catsup and add eggs well beaten. Turn into a hot, well-buttered, shallow pan, cover closely and cook over a low fire on top of the stove until the bottom is brown. Turn out on a hot chop plate, under side up, to serve. The dish can be browned on the lower grate of a very hot oven with less danger of burning.

The author invents a cure. He sends his hero to a tropical island, where he gets scarlet fever, and as a layer after layer of the nose skin peels away he gets a new and beautiful nose.

Assuming that the "Potato Nose" could be got rid of by inviting a siege of scarlet fever, it must be conceded that the remedy is somewhat heroic, and in the case of adults likely to be attended by a good deal of risk. The fact is, however, that there is a much simpler remedy, even if it be true that a doctor here and there does not know about it.

The method has the advantage of mechanical simplicity, but it should be said at once that for all its simplicity it should only be attempted by a qualified surgeon. After the nose has been anesthetized, the offending tissue is shaved away—not excised in one piece but shaved.

As the shaving process advances the nose is reduced to its normal shape. There is then, it is true, a raw surface, but in a little time new skin spreads over this surface from the little islands of cells, each endowed with germinating power, which remains after the last layer has been shaved off. Presently, under proper care, the nose appears in the shape it was always meant to have, with a covering of good healthy skin, and anyone who did not know to the contrary would never suspect that there had been a deformity.

In some cases the methods of correction may be more complicated, but this treatment will suffice in the majority of instances. Even if the false tissue has infiltrated the bone.

Rotation crops are one of the most important problems and for its proper solution it is necessary to preserve the plan of this year until next spring when the new plan is drawn and it can be easily planned not to plant the same vegetables in the same position two succeeding years.

Draw an outline of the garden space to a definite scale, one-quarter to one-half inch to the foot, depending upon the size of the garden; the smaller the garden the larger the scale. Mark in the various rows of vegetables, studying directions on the seed packets or in the catalogues as to the proper space between rows, writing in the names of the vegetables and the follow crop or companion crop if one is planned.

With the garden plan made, a notebook should be acquired to be hung on a convenient hook in the garage or back porch in which to note down the dates the seeds were planted, time of germination, and the date of the first maturing of the crop. Note also the date of the sowing of follow crops. With this data the gardener knows exactly how to calculate his vegetables from year to year.

vided the inside of the nose, in these days of advanced plastic surgery there is nothing to prevent the missing part being replaced by a transfer of this patient's own tissues, taken from a healthy part. The transfer involves only temporary discomfort.

Perhaps there ought to be a society for the relief of people with potato noses. At any rate, the fact of major importance is that they can shed their burden if they go the right way about it.

MISS ASTA CROWE IS FIRST BRITISH WOMAN DIPLOMAT By the appointment of Miss Asta Crowe as private secretary to Sir Colville Barclay, British minister to Budapest, a brand new phase has been opened in the diplomatic service. Miss Crowe, eldest daughter of the late Sir Eyre Crowe, permanent undersecretary of state at the foreign office, is the first woman to conquer in the field of diplomacy and her appointment has caused a stir and brought about much speculation. Miss Crowe has already taken up her duties. Among other notable women diplomats who have served in London, Miss Crowe's appointment recalls the name of Madame Olga de Voilkoff, who was ambassador from Russia during the prime ministry of Gladstone.

The Garden

PLAN THE VEGETABLE GARDEN

Despite frequent good advice by the most successful gardeners, it is safe to say that not one vegetable garden in ten is planned in advance. No other factor in garden making is so badly neglected as the planning of the vegetable garden on paper, putting down in black and white, drawn to scale just what vegetables are to be planted, how great quantities, where they are to grow in the garden with the crops that are to follow those that mature early enough to permit a succession.

Haphazard planting is one of the most frequent causes of poor success and flagging enthusiasm in vegetable growing. A neat garden can be most certainly obtained by following a carefully thought out plan. There is time to figure it all out in a definite weeks when snow is on the ground. There isn't the time to do a real job of planning when you confront the spaded ground with a collection of seed packets in your hand and start putting the seed in as you pick up the packets.

Rotation crops are one of the most important problems and for its proper solution it is necessary to preserve the plan of this year until next spring when the new plan is drawn and it can be easily planned not to plant the same vegetables in the same position two succeeding years.

Draw an outline of the garden space to a definite scale, one-quarter to one-half inch to the foot, depending upon the size of the garden; the smaller the garden the larger the scale. Mark in the various rows of vegetables, studying directions on the seed packets or in the catalogues as to the proper space between rows, writing in the names of the vegetables and the follow crop or companion crop if one is planned.

With the garden plan made, a notebook should be acquired to be hung on a convenient hook in the garage or back porch in which to note down the dates the seeds were planted, time of germination, and the date of the first maturing of the crop. Note also the date of the sowing of follow crops. With this data the gardener knows exactly how to calculate his vegetables from year to year.
