YOUR INCOME TAX

No. 11

The revenue act of 1926 provides that in determining net income there shall be allowed individuals certain specified deductions from gross income, such as business expenses, losses, interest paid, bad debts, depreciation, rent, contributions, etc. Deductions for business expenses form the largest items in the returns of many taxpayers. Such deductions must have certain qualities to be allowed. They must relate to a business, trade, profession, or vocation in which a taxpayer has invested time and money for the purpose of a livelihood or profit. A taxpayer may conduct more than one business and claim a deduction for the business expenses of each, provided he devotes sufficient time and attention to each.

Typical expenses of a mercantile establishment are amounts paid for advertising, hire of clerks and other employees, rent, light, heat, water, telephone, insurance and delivery expense. The expenses of a manufacturing business include labor, raw material, supplies, repairs, light and heat, power, selling costs, administration, and similar charges.

A professional man, such as a lawyer, doctor, architect, etc., may deduct the cost of supplies used in advertising, expenses paid in the operation and repair of an automobile used in making professional calls, dues to professional societies, subscriptions to professional journals, office rent, cost of light, fuel, water and telephone used in his office and the hire of office assistants.

The farmer may deduct all amounts paid in the production, harvesting and marketing of crops, including labor, cost of seed and fertilizer used, cost of minor repairs to farm buildings (other than dwelling), and small tools used up in the course of a year or two.

Mrs. Burton Advises Women on Motherhood and Companionship

"For several years I was denied the blessing of motherhood," writes Mrs. Margaret Burton of Kansas City. "I was terribly nervous and subject to periods of terrible suffering and melancholia. Now I am the proud mother of a beautiful little daughter and a true companion and inspiration to my husband. I believe hundreds of other women would like to know the secret of my happiness, and I will gladly reveal it to any married woman who will write me." Mrs. Burton offers her advice entirely without charge. She has nothing to sell. Letters should be addressed to Mrs. Margaret Burton, 2665 Massachusetts, Kansas City, Mo. Correspondence will be strictly confidential. —Adv.

OFFICE CAT TRADE MARK REG. By Junius

Realtors should have a lot of respect for the genius who first put a table and a chair in the pantry and called it a breakfast nook.

MY VALENTINE

I should like to send you violets, All dripping with the dew; I should like to send you pansies, To tell my thoughts of you; I should like to send red roses, The symbol of love's bliss, But it's cheaper, dear, to write you Just a little verse like this.

The curate was trying to teach the significance of white to a Sunday school class.

"Why," he asked, "does the bride desire to be clothed in white at her marriage?"

When no one answered, he explained: "White stands for joy, and the wedding day is the most joyous occasion of a woman's life."

Then a small boy asked: "Well, why do the men wear black?"

"Who discovered America?" "Who," replied the little girl, "No, Columbus discovered America."

"Yes, Columbus was his first name."

HOW TO PICK A HUSBAND

While you're picking, pick a good one.

Free from every vice; One whose worst foe (if he had one) Could not call him nice.

Pick out one who's still untutored, As to worldly ways, One who's spent in peaceful virgins.

All his earthly days, Pick out one by whom tobacco Never has been used— One who's never flirted, rambled, Read bad books or hoaxed.

Pick one out whose conversation "Cuss-words" never defiled, One who simply says, "Oh piffle!"

When his tempter's riled, Pick one out who's never trifled.

With a maiden's settled, One who's had as set no practice In the kissing art.

Pick out one whose whole deportment Always is controlled, One whose hands and arms are never

Never over-bid, Pick one out whose thoughts and actions

Never were known to stray Out beyond the limits of the Straight and narrow way.

Pick one out at whose perfection All one's heart just melts, And you'll have the perfect husband—

For somebody else!

Talmadge at Sherrys In "Prince of Pep"

The general atmosphere of a well organized riot, plus side-splitting comedy, pervades "The Prince of Pep," Richard Talmadge's most recent production for F. B. O. The daring star is at his best in the role of a wealthy young surgeon who loses his memory through a blow on the head and who lives for a considerable time as a totally different character, ignorant even of his name and blissfully unconscious of his rightful place in society. The sensational elements of the story have been tempered with just the right amount of fun-making and horse-play; and incidentally Dick Talmadge is fast becoming one of the screen's best comedians as well as an inimitable stunt actor. A corking cast is headed by Nola Luxford, Marcia Daly, Brinsley Shaw, Viv Dillingham, and Director Jack Nelson has handled every angle of the picture with remarkable cleverness. "The Prince of Pep" which will appear for the first time tonight at the Sherry theater today, only was adapted for the screen by James Bell Smith, who had so much success in swaying together thrilling and amusing tales for this popular hero.

Comedy showing, "The Carter De Havens in 'The Panics On'."

Menjou Coming To Arcade Wednesday

Can a brunette win a man from a blonde?

That's the question solved by "Blonde or Brunette," a Paramount picture starring Adolphe Menjou which will show at the Arcade theater Wednesday and Thursday.

Blondes and brunettes of both sexes will want to see this film because it depicts a battle between two clever women for the love of the same man. Three marriages and two divorces are necessary before the issue is finally settled.

Greta Nissen, the Norwegian beauty who played in "Lost a Wife" and "The King on Main Street" with Mr. Menjou, is the blonde; Arlette Marchal, a French actress last seen as Jack Hall's leading woman in "Forsaken River," is the brunette.
