RADIO CONTROL BILL IS FAVORED

Senate Refuses to Send Measure to Conference—Passage Expected

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7. (AP)—The senate today refused to send the radio control bill back to conference. This was accepted by its proponents as making certain its passage at this session.

The vote was 48 to 29 with party lines disregarded. It came on a motion by Senator Pittman, democrat, Nevada, to ask for a new conference with the house which already has approved the conference report and to instruct the senate conferees to insist that the life of the legislation be limited to one year.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7. (AP)—The Green bill to enable world war veterans to obtain loans direct from the veterans bureau on bonus certificates was passed by the house today and sent to the senate.

In Colorado, New Mexico and Wyoming, bears climbing poles in search of honey or for the purpose of a view, are a continual cause of trouble on electric transmission lines.

forces were successfully defending the area.

In spite of Marshal Sun's assurances, it became known that he rushed the last of his reserves, his own bodyguard division, 8000 strong, from Nanking, provincial capital, down to the front, while unconfirmed reports to newspapers here said the attacking army had reached Puyang, 15 miles southwest of Hangchow.

Whether the report that the Cantonese will not use force on the city is a promise that they will abandon plans to drive it into the ever expanding southern territory or whether it is an offer to accept the suggestion of American Secretary of State Kellogg that the foreign settlement here be exempted from hostilities was not made known.

HONGKONG, Feb. 7. (AP)—A battalion of Durham troops arrived today.

REPORTS SOVIET TROOPS
 PEKING, Feb. 7. (AP)—Marshal Chang Tso-Lin's chief of staff and right hand man, Yang Yun-Ting, has telegraphed insistently from Mukden urging his chief to return there immediately.

One reason for his action is believed to be persistent reports of soviet troop concentrations on the Manchurian frontier. Reports of such troop movements have reached Peking from numerous sources, although a recent Warsaw dispatch stating that Russian soldiers were marching toward Kalgan, China, was discredited owing to the virtual impossibility of crossing the Gobi desert in midwinter.

HANKOW, Feb. 7. (AP)—Posters and circulars appeared in the streets today bearing the legend: "Shanghai captured by the Cantonese."
 The situation here is quiet.

The third unsuccessful swimmer was Miss Martha Stager, of Portland, Ore., who gave up at 7:58 Sunday morning.

MILLION AT FUNERAL OF JAP EMPEROR

waiting bamboo pipes signaled the start of the procession from the imperial palace. There followed immediately the booming of far away saluting cannon and the tolling of innumerable temple bells.

Police Lead Procession

At the head of the procession were numerous police in uniform. Then came a troop of the imperial guards, the pick of the Japanese army, specially chosen navy guards, and navy bands, torch bearers, and members of the funeral commission, wearing ancient court dress, straw shoes and sandals, court valets and bearers of sacred drums, arrow quivers, bows and great shields. Two priceless chests belonging to the late ruler and containing certain of his personal effects were borne along to be buried with him. Then came white priests in gray ceremonial court dress and bearers of chests containing rice and other food to be deposited in the tomb. Following these were the chief keeper of the imperial museum carrying Yoshihito's sword, also consigned to the grave, and Prince Ito, grand master of ceremonies, household minister and other officials.

The only vehicle in the procession was the catafalque, imperial regulation requiring all to walk. Virtually all the high officials of Japan, in uniform or ancient dress, participated. The emperor's ex-cused Admiral Togo, Privy Council President Kiraomni, Premier Wakatsuki, Field Marshal Oku and Fleet Admiral Inuyue because of age or illness and they motored to the funeral gardens, as did the empress dowager, Emperor Hirohito and other members of the royal family.

required the emperor to march behind the catafalque, his majesty's recent cold and the weather caused the appointment of the athletic prince Chichibu, second son of the emperor and heir apparent to represent the throne in the procession and also at the burial.

Princess Takako, sister of Yoshihito, represented the empress both at the funeral services and the burial. The empress did not participate in the ceremonies, being an expectant mother.

injured in the pressure of the crowd of one million which lined Tokyo's streets tonight to witness the funeral procession of Emperor Yoshihito.

Twenty persons were injured when crowded into a ditch. Many other casualties were believed to have been suffered at other parts of the city but details were not immediately available in the confusion.
