AT THE THEATERS

"Prince of Tempters" Has All-Star Cast

Ben Lyon, Lya de Putli, and Lola Moran head an all-star cast which is appearing at the Star theater today for the last time in "The Prince of Tempters," the Robert Kane special directed by J. Edgar Mendez, former UFA executive.

The story was taken from E. Phillips Oppenheim's famous novel, "The Ex-Duke," and New York preview critics declared it one of the most astounding films released this year.

An entire new show will be presented Tuesday and Wednesday, headed by the popular Douglas MacLean in his big comedy feature "Introduce Me."

It is the story of a love-stricken youth who follows a girl to the Alps. He picks up the bag of a noted Alpine climber and is forced to climb some dizzy heights before he wins her.

The picture is filled with good wholesome humor that will prove a treat to everyone.

"Men of Steel" With Sills Opens At the Arcade

First National's long heralded photoplay, "Men of Steel," opens today at the Arcade theater for a three-day run. It was worth waiting for.

Milton Sills, who is credited with the authorship of the story, is seen in the starring role, and incidentally his greatest screen performance.

Sills is magnificent. He starts out an ignorant laborer in an iron mine. He finishes as boss of a steel mill and son-in-law to the steel mill owner. And what a course he runs in getting there!

Here you have everything that a motion picture fan's heart could possibly desire. There is beautiful romance, wonderful love story, spectacles in the steel mines that make your heart leap up, action and then more action, laughs, settings that simply hold you spell-bound and thrills that most motion picture producers dream of but seldom put on the screen.

What more could you ask?

Sills has one of the finest casts that one could hope to see assembled. Doris Kenyon in the leading woman's role does the best work we have seen from her on the screen.

Mae Allison, lovely Mae, is superb, and George Fawcett, Frank Currier, Victor McLaglen and John Kolb do much to make the picture a success.

COLLEGE LUCKY

TOPEKA—It's lucky for Washburn college that its president, P. P. Womer, lost his way in a snowstorm in Worcester, Mass. He asked directions at the nearest house. It happened to be the residence of George I. Alden, mechanical engineer, educator, wealthy manufacturer and descendant of John and Priscilla Alden, now it is revealed that prior to his death last year Alden gave the college $100,000 to found a department of citizenship.

WON'T GET FAT

NEW YORK—Edward Johnson, tenor, whose figure and voice are admired by John McCormack, just knows he will never get fat. It's his heritage. He eats what he wishes and does not bother about exercise.

A dove, found frozen in a cake of ice formed on its nest, was released, thawed out, and is able to forage for itself.

WOULD HAVE BEEN ENVOY

NEW YORK—Warren G. Harding would have rather been ambassador to Italy than president. He is quoted in Colliers as saying so to Richard Washburn Child.

These figures, carved from bones as big as a man's fist and said to date back to the 10th century, are now on show in the British museum.
