Tom Tyler at Sherrys Tonight With His Pals

A western picture made for the delight of those who favor a virile type of story told in a rugged country, is the description which may be applied to "Lightning Lasso," an R. K. O. production starring Tom Tyler at Sherrys. The highlights of excitement are focused on Tom's riding and how he does it. The story offers plenty of opportunity for thrills in this line, as Tom is kept busy guarding a little Prince and his governess who have escaped from the throes of a revolution in their country and are seeking safety in the west. To complicate matters there is the alarming presence of a jealous girl, who bent on revenge because Tom does not return her affection, finally terminates the tense situation in a dramatic climax. However, in spite of the dark outlook, everything ends happily in a surprising fashion for Tom and his pals.

The picture was made by Robert De Lacy who has wielded the megaphone on all the previous Tyler successes. The story was written by George Worthing Yates, Jr., and the continuity by E. A. E. Piac. Besides Frankie Darro and the incomparable Sitting Bull, the cast includes Dorothy Dunbar, Huby Blaine, Fred Holmes, Ervin Conrad, Carl Silvero, and Leroy Scott.

Matt Moore and Marie Prevost in "Kiss Me Again"

Matt Moore and Marie Prevost are co-featured in "The Cave Man," opening on Sunday at the Sherry Theater. This story by Gilbert Burgess was one of the dramatic hits of the stage. Miss Prevost has such a part as she had in Ernest Lubitch's "Kiss Me Again," while Matt Moore is presented in an entirely new type of character.

The value of a story of this kind lies in its humor and its romance. It is a liberal character study of the transformation of a man's mind and mode of living. Of course there are touches of comedy but it will be more of the subtle type to blend with the highly dramatic theme.

Comedy showing, "Never Fear."

Newest Dix Comedy Has Drama and Laughs

"Paradise for Two" Richard Dix' newest comedy-drama, directed by Gregory La Cava, arrives at the Star Theater Sunday for a two day run.

Dix has an especially strong supporting cast in this picture. Betty Bronson is featured as Sally Lane, the pretty little stage-struck girl who poses as his wife to help him collect a legacy of which his
