Mrs. Stoddard Entertains at Bridge Parties

Mrs. Earl Stoddard was hostess at a prettily appointed valentine luncheon yesterday afternoon at her home on O avenue, when she entertained 24 guests.

Red was the predominating color carried out in the decorations of the six small tables, where luncheon was served, and along with each place card was a red rosebud.

Bridge was enjoyed following luncheon. Mrs. Adolph Siegrist made high score and the second prize went to Mrs. Walter H. Guild. Mrs. Charles Binger received the consolation prize.

This afternoon Mrs. Stoddard is entertaining the club at a 1 o'clock luncheon.

Mrs. Nellie Spencer was hostess at two attractive parties this week, the first one being Thursday afternoon when she entertained the members of the N. B. B. club and a few guests at a 1 o'clock luncheon.

Covers were laid for 12 at one table, which was decorated in patriotic colors. Miniature hatches were attached to each score card as favors.

During the bridge games which followed luncheon Mrs. E. C. Conghenover made high score. The second prize went to Mrs. Boyd Pidecock and Mrs. Claude Mackey received the guest prize.

Last evening Mrs. Spencer entertained the members of the W. E. N. club, a newly organized evening bridge club.

Two tables were at play and the prize went to Mrs. E. Jacobson.

Mrs. Ernest Waldon will be the next hostess to the N. B. B. club Thursday, Feb. 17, and Mrs. M. A. Smith will entertain the W. E. N. club next Wednesday evening, Feb. 16.

Members of the Junior Bridge club were entertained at luncheon at 1:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the Tiffin, when Mrs. Lloyd Young was hostess.

The idea of St. Valentine's day was carried out in the decorations of the table, red carnations serving as an attractive centerpiece.

Bridge was at play following luncheon. Miss Carolyn Rosenthal made high score among the club members and the guest prize went to Mrs. Lester Stoddard.

Society Elects New Officers

The Presbyterian Missionary society elected officers for the new year yesterday when the regular meeting of the organization was held at the home of Mrs. C. F. Humphreys, with Mrs. W. S. Snook, Mrs. O. E. Silverthorn and Mrs. E. P. Mossman as assistant hostesses.

Mrs. Phil Thompson was elected president of the society; Mrs. H. P. Lewis, vice president; Mrs. George Baker, treasurer; and Mrs. H. E. Hannan, chairman of the program committee.

During the program hour the regular lesson of the mission study class on "Mosaic Women" was given by Mrs. L. I. Busey.

Miss Hulda Anderson had charge of the afternoon's devotional.

The Parkdale club will meet Wednesday, Feb. 16, at the home of Mrs. John Rogers in Fruitdale. Mrs. Carl Cook and Mrs. Dan Carbine will be assistant hostesses.

The Ladies' Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen will meet Tuesday evening at Eagles hall.

AFTER RESULTS THROUGH KEEPING HUSBAND WELL. A husband's health and happiness should come first in the interests of an active woman citizen especially if he is in better position than the wife to forward social legislation, believes Mrs. Bibb Graves, wife of the Alabama governor.

She is going to spend her four years in the executive mansion with this idea in mind, despite the fact that she has been very active in women's affairs and is a former president of the state League of Women Voters.

Mrs. Graves says that because her husband has been an active supporter of legislation favorable to women, she tests that in keeping his efficiency at its highest mark, greater results will be won than if she worked herself.

WOMAN COMMISSIONER WIELDS WIDE POWERS. Mrs. Elizabeth Quezau, only woman member of the Colorado State Civil Service commission, is the one woman in the state with powers greater than those of the governor. Under the civil service law of the state the more than 1,200 state employees are directly answerable to the commission, the governor being without authority to remove or discharge any employee. Removal can be only on written charges heard by the commission.

MENUS

By Sister Mary

BREAKFAST—Stewed dried apricots, cereal, thin cream, cold fish hash, spider corn, bread, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Baked macaroni with dried beef and mushrooms, bean rolls, hearts of celery, apple spider cake, milk, tea.

DINNER—Boiled mutton, steamed rice, molded spinach with hard-cooked eggs, whole wheat bread, peach charlotte, milk, coffee.

No salad is suggested in the dinner menu but of course can be added if wanted. However, since the fresh raw vegetable required daily is served at noontime and spinach forms the dinner vegetable, the day's menu is well balanced and not lacking in vitamins.

2 tablespoons water, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla.

Use a five-inch iron spider. Melt butter and tin spider until evenly coated. Spread sugar evenly over bottom of spider and sprinkle with almonds. Put over a low fire while mixing cake. Beat egg until very light, beating in sugar. Mix and sift flour, salt and baking powder and beat into first mixture, still beating with the Dover beater. Beat in water and vanilla, using beater. Spread the apple sauce over contents of spider and cover with cake batter. Bake 25 minutes on the lower grate of a moderately hot oven. Turn upside down on a large plate, cover with whipped cream and serve slightly warm. The cake must cool before covering with the whipped cream.

MARRIAGE AND CAREER PROBLEM FOR WOMEN. That the outstanding problem for women in the professional field today is the harmonizing of marriage with careers, is the opinion of Miss Virginia Gildersleeve, dean of Barnard college, Columbia university.

At Barnard it is considered a problem of individuals, but Miss Gildersleeve points out that Vassar has established a department of eugenics to meet it, and Smith is doing research work in the "coordination of women's interests."

Miss Gildersleeve declares that modern opportunities in business add to the problem by luring women away from teaching as a career.

The Garden

The tremendous development of country and suburban life in zones surrounding cities in the United States is accompanied by the rapid growth of new recreational activities among those who seek in country air and surroundings a foil for the unnatural excitement and environment of city life.

As is the case with the Englishman, the American is finding in the practice of gardening an ideal avocation; and interest in gardening is encouraged and intensified by the garden and flower show, which is now one of the chief features on the program of every progressive suburb. Originally fostered by the women, who centered their interest in flowers, the garden show is now attracting the attention of the men, who usually take pride in prize-winning vegetables.

Vegetable growing in home gardens, which for a time showed a tendency to decline, because of a lack of interest in money-saving occupations, is now on the increase as a result of suburban competition.

To grow the largest tomatoes, the first Golden Bantam corn, or take the prize for the best collection of vegetables at the community flower show, is as proud an honor as to win a cup in the golf tournament, and it is a prize which attracts far more competition.

There can be few first flight golfers, but to any owner of a 50-foot lot may be given the skill and good fortune necessary to grow the finest vegetables in the neighborhood.

And the neighborhood in which esteem is awarded to the best gardener, rather than the best golfer, needs make no apology for its social standards. They are sound, and will be lasting.

As a sport, gardening is superior to golf on every count. It is better for the health, especially in the case of elderly persons. In its intellectual and esthetic demands, it is incomparably superior.

A scientist might spend a lifetime in the study of the growth of a single seed, and die with his problem still unsolved. It is possible for the owner of a small suburban lot to create in his garden beauty which the greatest of artists could not surpass.

And gardening does not demand a large income for its enjoyment.

WOMEN GOLFERS PLAY MATCH OF 76 HOLES

The final round of the Women's Challenge Cup golf competition over 18 holes was fought out at Royston, England, in a contest of 76 holes before Miss Boyce could defeat Mrs. Goodale. After three rounds of 18 holes had been squared, it was decided to play six more holes but after that the position was still all even. The secretary of the club granted an extension and another round was started which ended in Miss Boyce's favor, three up and two to play.

WOMAN SURGEON QUITS KNIFE TO CUT DRESSES

Dr. Jane Hinton, M. A. and a bachelor of surgery of Glasgow University, finds the surgeon's knife less remunerative than the dressmaker's scissors. After a struggle of several years, the young woman has cast aside the doctor's profession and decided to get in for the more feminine occupation of cutting out dresses. Dr. Hinton concluded that there are more women doctors than the profession can absorb in Glasgow, that the expense of maintaining an office and attendant were too great, and that there was more or less prejudice against women surgeons.
