YOUR INCOME TAX
No. 20
Several salient facts are to be remembered by taxpayers in claiming deductions for taxes. Taxes on personal property and real estate, whether business or residential, are deductible. So-called credits assessed against local benefits such as street paving or drainage, which tend to increase the value of the property assessed are not deductible since they are considered as constituting the cost of a permanent improvement.

The Federal income tax may not be deducted. However, income taxes imposed upon the income of individuals by States may be deducted by an individual on his federal income tax return.
The Federal estate tax is deducible from the gross income of the estate of a decedent in process of administration in ascertaining net income of the state subject to the tax.
Taxes are deductible as such only by the persons upon whom they are imposed. Thus, the excise taxes imposed upon the sales by manufacturer of automobile chassis and bodies and motor cycles are not deductible by the purchaser, even though such taxes are billed to him as separate items.
Customs duties paid by a person on articles imported for his own use are deductible. Import or tariff duties paid in the operation of a business are deductible as taxes, provided they are not added to or made a part of the expenses of the business or the cost of the merchandise with respect to which they are paid.
Admission taxes are deductible, but the taxpayer must show that account has been kept of the amount paid during the year.
Grosses will not be accepted.
Under the revenue act of 1926 the admission tax applies only to admissions in excess of 75 cents while under the 1924 act it applied to admissions in excess of 50 cents.

Colds

The $1,000,000 way There's a way to end colds so quick, efficient and complete that we paid $1,000,000 for it. That way is HILL'S. It stops colds in 24 hours, checks fever, opens the bowels, tones the entire system.
The millions who know it always rely on it. Go start it now.
HILL'S Cascara-Bromine-Quinine
No more you get HILL'S in the red box with portrait. At all druggists.—Adv.

Barber One—Who next?
Harber Two—That young lady in the middle.
Young Lady—You brute, I do not.

"If"
If you, your lips
Would keep with slaps,
These things with care observe,
Or whom you speak,
To whom you speak,
And how, and when, and where.

If you, your ears
Would save from jeers, These things keep meekly hid,
Myself and I,
Mine and My,
And what I do or did.

"Mother, mother, the chug is gone!" cried the milkmaid all a-flustered.
"Well, 'charleston with the milk awhile and it will soon be butter."

A model husband is one that doesn't get his shins kicked under the table when company is present.

IT'S A SAD LIFE
He is a most consummate bore.
The kind that people hate,
And when he seeks a neighbor's door,
He always gets the gate.
—Newark, Ohio, Advocate.

And when he gets the gate, you'll find,
He'll say it isn't fair, Because he cannot take the gate Unless he takes the air.

A woman of 40 can forgive a younger girl almost anything but the offer of a seat in the street car.

AT THE THEATERS

Dog Is Star In "King of the Pack" at Sherrys

Animal actors have performed remarkable feats on the screen, but it is extremely doubtful if any of them have excelled or even equalled the work done by "Peter the Great," the giant police dog featured in "King of the Pack" now at the Sherry theater.
Peter milks cows, stops runaway horses, holds a rope while the heroine slides over a precipice, jumps through a fire of flaming alcohol, and in many other ways displays his remarkable strength and intelligence.

The story is laid in the mountains of Tennessee and the wild hill country furnishes some new and beautiful backgrounds.
Many clever characterizations are provided by the human actors, who, however, have to work hard to excel the canine star.

Vera Lewis offers a fine bit of acting as the woman mountaineer, a part that is only comparable to some of the unique characterizations of Lon Chaney. Charlotte Stevens, a new ladder for stellar honors, is a charmingly pretty and clever actress, and her work will undoubtedly soon place her in the front ranks of filmdom.

The story deals with a girl who is left to the mercy of a villainous stopper who hates her. Her only protector is her police dog, but in view of what takes place, he is ample security.

There are many real thrills in the story and so carefully placed that there is not a dull moment in the entire picture.
Comedy showing "Private, Keep Out."

"Tin Hats" A Delightful Comedy

If you don't like war pictures, don't let that fact keep you away from "Tin Hats," for in spite of the title, there are no actual war scenes. It is as delightful a comedy as we have ever seen, and kept an enthusiastic audience near hysteria last night at the Arcade theater where it was shown for the first time.

"Tin Hats" is a riotous yarn about three American doughboys, who through no fault of their own find themselves in Germany immediately after the Armistice has been signed, and in command of a village. This strange trio is composed of a rich man's son, a former manager, and a rudy-poly, German-American boy, played respectively by Conrad Nagel, George Cooper and Bert Roach.

Clara Windsor is a vision as the heroine of the story, Elma Von Borgen.

Conrad Nagel is developing into one of our foremost comedians.

If it is possible for a comedian to be dignified, Nagel is that, and is creating a type of comedy essentially his own.

Most of the laughs of the piece are contributed by George Cooper and Bert Roach, however, who make as funny a pair as were ever seen on the screen. These two are lefty and Dutch, bring a laugh whenever they walk in front of the camera.

"Tin Hats" will be shown again today and Saturday at the Arcade theater.

Action, Surprises Are Packed in "Ice Flood"

The stillness and calm of the great forest, the beauty of the north in the dead of winter, the sharp odor of the pines, in short, the whole atmosphere of the outdoor life, has been brought to the Star theater.

"The Ice Flood," the Universal-Jewell production which is being shown here today is a swift-moving intense and gripping photoplay.
Packed with action, surprises, thrills and the clash of elemental complex, it is tense, suspenseful and always entertaining.

With its locale in the lumber camps of the northwest, he has managed to transfer the air of that interesting locality to celluloid so perfectly that the illusion becomes almost an actual reality.

The plot is a well-knit, swiftly moving drama, with climax building upon climax until the crisis comes in a tremendous clash of nature and man—the efforts of the man to rescue the girl from a huge ice-jam.

Kenneth Harlan gives a splendid performance as the young crusader who attempts to "clean up" the worst lumber camp in the north with his fists.

Viola Dana is her usually charming self as the feminine lead, and the supporting cast is excellent.

An Andy Gump comedy is also being shown.

CHINESE GIRLS SAY EDUCATION FUTURE

Chinese girls are becoming disheartened about the value to them of an education acquired in America, Miss Lillian Burns, international institute of the Y. W. C. A. at San Francisco, asserted. "The girls are beginning to feel college diplomas will not help them in a tangible way," she says. "They say that after graduation, the only positions open to them, because of racial prejudice, are tea room waitresses or the like where they must wear costumes and look pretty, that they can not get positions where what they have learned in school will profit them."

WALLOWA, Ore., Feb. 15 (Special)—A considerable number of persons in this end of the valley are preparing to go into the poultry business on a somewhat larger scale during the coming season.
Charles Klinghammer, of Leup, received a shipment of about 200 day-old chicks early last week, and according to reports is meeting with excellent success in raising them, despite the cold weather.
