Bridge Luncheon Held at Home of Mrs. Bohnenkamp

An attractive bridge luncheon of the spring season was yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. H. Bohnenkamp Jr., when Mrs. Bohnenkamp and Mrs. H. B. Colburn were hostesses at nine tables.

Yellow and lavender were the colors used to decorate the room, a message of lavender sweet-peas and yellow jonquils serving as a centerpiece for each of the small tables where luncheon was served at 1:15 o'clock. Place cards and silver cards were little baskets. Jonquils and yellow candles were used about the other parts of the home.

During the afternoon Mrs. A. L. Richardson sang two numbers, "Love Is the Wind" by MacFadyen and "Sandman Is Calling You," by Roberts, and as an encore she sang "The Charm of Spring" by Charles. Mrs. E. L. Holman accompanied her at the piano.

Bridge was enjoyed following luncheon. Mrs. Chase Bohnenkamp winning high score, and the second prize going to Mrs. Walter Guild. Mrs. Clyde Kiddie received the consolation prize.

This afternoon Mrs. Colburn and Mrs. Bohnenkamp are entertaining at another bridge luncheon, with guests enough for nine tables of bridge.

Complimenting Mrs. Margaret O'Day, of Portland, who is visiting here with her cousin, Mrs. William Pearce, Miss Irene and Louise O'Donnell and Mrs. Melvin Larson entertained at three tables of bridge last evening.

Banquets of daffodils were effectively arranged about the rooms. During the evening's games Mrs. Hill Templeton made high score. The guest prize went to the guest of honor, Mrs. O'Day.

The hostesses served a two-course luncheon following the card games.

Members of the Monthly Bridge club were entertained yesterday afternoon when Mrs. J. P. O'Donnell was hostess at her home on O avenue.

Three tables of bridge was the diversion of the afternoon and high score was won by Mrs. Henry Hill.

Banquets of daffodils were used to decorate the rooms. Following the card games the hostess served luncheon.

The club will meet again Monday, March 14, at the home of Mrs. Charles Blummann.

Mrs. Richardson Entertains Club

The Westminster society of the First Presbyterian church met last night at the home of Mrs. Joel Richardson.

Mrs. L. C. Bowser had charge of the evening's devotional, the subject being "Great Hearings." Mrs. H. Aves spoke to the members of the society telling some of her experiences while she was a missionary in Madagascar, and the customs of the people there as compared with those in South Africa. Mrs. Aves spent two and a half years in both Madagascar and South Africa.

The meeting last night closed the year for the society and officers were elected. Mrs. Richard Thomas was elected president; Mrs. George Richardson, vice president; Mrs. H. L. Stoneking, secretary, and Mrs. Joel Richardson, treasurer.

The full adjournment of the society was raised last night to be used in missionary work.

Mrs. Richardson served refreshments before adjournment.

Members of the World Wide guild of the First Baptist church were guests at a patriotic party Saturday afternoon when the regular meeting of the guild was held at the home of Miss Marlan Harris, with Miss Harris and Miss Beulah Ferris as hostesses.

During the past month members of the guild have been working on scrap books and Saturday five unique books were displayed, to be sent to foreign mission fields.

Miss Ida Frances French was chairman of the committee which prepared the scrapbook on travel. Miss Jennie Dabow prepared one on food; Miss Ethel Brown, one on the Bible; Miss Bonnie Frances, miscellaneous and Miss Florence Nelson, foreign peoples.

The lesson for the afternoon was the first chapter from the missionary book, which the guild is just starting, "The Baptist Family in Foreign Mission Fields."

During the sociable the girls listened to interesting talks by Dr. Floyd L. Carr, field secretary of the department of missionary education of the Baptist denomination, and Dr. M. D. Eubank, former medical missionary to China, but now representative of the Baptist board of missionary cooperation.

Dr. Carr explained the Royal Ambassador work, of which he has charge, and Dr. Eubank told an interesting story of girl life in China.

Arrangements were made for a meeting at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening at the church to practice a pageant to be given by the guild, "The Lighting of the World."

The hostesses served a plate luncheon during the sociable.

Campfire Girls Practice Songs

The Sacajawea campfire girls met Saturday at the home of the guardian, Mrs. L. H. Aves, in business session, with Edna Jensen, president, in charge. During the afternoon the girls worked out a program to be followed during the next month, which included singing practice with other campfire groups Thursday afternoon in the Neighborhood club room, with Miss Art Verity in charge; a Sunday ceremony, Mar. 12, in the annex of the Lutheran church; the birthday council first and the awarding of honors Mar. 17; participation in the Lutheran league song pantomime, Mar. 24; Arbor-day tree-planting, aerobically and the joint Pan-La Grande campfire program on the evening of April 8; the play "Janey," to be given Palm Sunday evening, Apr. 19, at the church.

Sunday the girls enjoyed a treasure hunt, Natalie Ebert and Edna Jensen making and hiding the treasure, the last clue of which was found by Verla Melane, instructor. Marie Neukirchner found the treasure—a three-pound box of candy.

After the hunt the girls enjoyed games, after which they returned to the home of the guardian where hot lunch was served.

MENUS

By Sister Mary
BREAKFAST—Grapefruit sections, cereal, thin cream, eggs poached in milk on toast, crisp whole wheat toast, milk, coffee.
LUNCHEON—Creamed scallops in ramekins, carrot cabbage and pepper salad, bran rolls, apple tapioca pudding, milk, tea.
DINNER—Roast loin of pork, candied sweet potatoes, chilled apple sauce, creamed onions, head lettuce with Russian dressing, apricot whip, milk, coffee, graham bread.

Although pork perhaps shrinks more than any other meat in the cooking, this should not be regarded as waste. The shrinkage is largely due to the melting of fat and this property taken care of may be used for shortening and frying.

Creamed Scallops in Ramekins
 One pint scallops, 3 tablespoons butter, 3 tablespoons flour, 2 cups rich milk or thin cream, 1 small onion, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 2 cups hot rice pudding, 2 tablespoons butter, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 2 eggs, hot milk.

Four boiling water over scallops, bring again to boiling point and boil rapidly for one minute. Reduce heat and simmer for ten minutes. Drain. Melt butter, add onion cut in three or four slices and cook over a low fire for five minutes. Remove onion and stir in flour and salt. When perfectly blended add cream slowly, stirring constantly. Cook, stirring until mixture boils. Add prepared scallops and turn into well buttered ramekins. Top with potato mixture prepared in the following way:

Add butter, salt and well beaten yolks of eggs to hot rice potatoes. Beat well, adding enough hot milk to hold mixture together smoothly. Fold in whites of eggs beaten until stiff and dry. Drop from tip of large spoon onto creamed scallops in ramekins. Put into a hot oven long enough to puff and brown the potato mixture. It will take about 15 minutes.

NUNS TAKE JOURNEY TO CLASS IN BIOLOGY

CHICAGO—Two Franciscan nuns of Springfield, Ill., commute almost 400 miles a week to attend a single class at DePaul University, Chicago. They are Sister Maudslowe, superintendent of nurses in a Springfield hospital, and her assistant, Sister Ludwiga. Springfield is 187 miles from Chicago.

One of these days 50 people will be killed in a train wreck and the city editor will appear at the story because not one of them was insured for a million dollars.

The Garden

THE SPRING MIRACLE OF GLASS

A little glass is a necessity for the successful gardener. Glass means a sash to cover a frame under which to start seeds. The protection of a sash started to catch the low rays of the winter sun in March is one of the miracles of spring in the garden. Under this canopy of glass many plants seem to defy freezing weather even when an occasional zero snap freezes the ground.

When these frames have no artificial heat they are known as cold frames. When fermenting manure gives them artificial heat beneath the soil they are hotbeds. The latter are the most useful for certain starting of vegetables that need a long season of growth and for those that are tender. Owing to the difficulties of securing fresh stable manure to make the heating compost, cold frames are coming into more general use where a few years ago the hotbed seemed indispensable. The cold frame cannot fill its place for raising tender vegetables or flowers although it offers a good substitute for the hardy vegetable and annual and many of the half-hardy sorts.

The standard frame is 3 by 6 feet and usually is sold in double units, 6 by 6, with two sash. The hotbed is the substitute for warm weather and a garden in miniature. It is a good venture, several neighbors getting together and making a frame of sufficient size and sharing the expense of securing a supply of fresh horse manure to heat it because a small space will raise sufficient plants to stock several gardens.

The hotbed should be constructed properly at the start or it is likely to prove unsatisfactory. Hotbeds sunk in the ground in the northern states are more satisfactory and safer than the type set upon a pile of manure on the level ground. For the former a pit three feet deep should be dug and extending about six inches beyond the dimensions of the frame. With the frame built and the pit ready the manure is the next task to demand attention. It must be stacked until it steams before going into the pit and then the soil is placed upon it and the heat must subside before planting seeds.

The manure should be stacked in a flat-topped heap and turned until the heating is evenly distributed throughout the mass. About a foot to 18 inches of manure is

The Evangelist, the Reverend Nelson Knight, who is now back to the city of La Grande, will conduct another sweeping revival meeting at the Church of God Chapel, beginning tomorrow evening, March 2nd, corner Victory Way and X avenue. The old song entitled "Your Mother Still Prays for You, Jack" will be sung by Claude C. Pratt and the Evangelist, Knight. Farmers and La Grande citizens may drive down the beautiful driveway without getting into the mud. —Adv.

CONNECTICUT WOMEN SEEK PLACES ON JURY

HARTFORD, Conn.—A bill in the Connecticut legislature that provides for changes in the feminine mind in regard to jury service is a target for attacks of the Connecticut League of Women Voters. The bill stipulates that women shall be eligible to jury service upon application or exempted later upon application. The league advocates jury service for women on the same basis as for men, with exemptions for women caring for the sick or for children under 14. A decision of the attorney general is that the granting of suffrage to women did not carry with it eligibility for jury service.

Better to be loved and bossed than never to be loved at all.

WOMAN POLICE HEAD FILES TO ADDRESS

LONDON—Commandant Mary Allen of the woman's auxiliary police service, known as the "flying cop," inspected the London police women's quarters one morning and flew to Amsterdam during the lunch hour and addressed the Dutch National Council of Women in the afternoon. The subject of the talk was the English police women. The next day Commandant Allen visited officials of the children's police force, the only force of its kind on the continent, and of which Amsterdam is rather proud. It has a staff of 30 officers, several of whom are women. The men are drafted from the regular force and the women recruited from among well trained social workers.

The force, without uniform, is in charge of all work relating to child protection and child delinquents, and supervises cinemas and caravets. Commandant Allen hopes to introduce similar methods in London.

Publicity stunts are getting hotter and hotter. Pretty soon, in order to get his name into the papers, Daddy Browning will have to do his fooling with 26-inch guns and bring home mountain lions for his playmates.

As long as she can fascinate men, no woman really worries about her age.

You can't mistake the flavor of Flapjack. No other hot cakes have it. Because no other hot cake flour is blended the Flapjack way!

DOUBLE ACTING

HELENA MAKES MOVIES OF DIPLOMATIC DINNER

BUCHAREST—Princess Helena of Rumania, like the Duke and Duchess of York, has become an ardent motion picture photographer. She took a 12 minute reel with her own camera, purchased while she was in the United States, at the dinner recently given in honor of her mother, Queen Marie, by the American minister to Rumania, W. S. Culbertson. Although the dinner was headed as one of the most important social events of the winter in Bucharest, Princess Helena's movie was considered the most entertaining event of the evening.

Many a woman as she grows older not only succeeds in keeping her girlish figure, but actually doubles it.
