Mrs. W. G. Sawyer Host to Lucky Thirteen Club

Mrs. W. G. Sawyer was hostess at a prettily appointed luncheon yesterday afternoon at the Foley hotel, when she entertained the members of the Lucky Thirteen club and a few guests.

A three-course luncheon was served at one o'clock, covers being laid for 14 around a table effectively decorated in green and silver in keeping with St. Patrick's day.

The table cover was of green organdie, and green candles in silver holders were used. Pink sweetpeas in a green bowl served as a centerpiece.

Following luncheon the guests were taken to Mrs. Sawyer's apartment in the Odd Fellows building, where four tables of bridge were at play during the remainder of the afternoon.

The club prize was won by Mrs. R. L. Poarch. Mrs. Charles Bingner received the guest prize and the consolation prize went to Mrs. A. L. Richardson.

Mrs. Albert Hunter will be the next hostess to the club March 24.

Probably the most interesting program of the Mother's Self Culture club since its organization in La Grande was yesterday afternoon when the mothers brought their children, who took part in the program.

"Children's Music in the Home" was the subject and six children contributed to the program with songs and recitations. They were Ann Stoddard, Jack Murphy, Junior Coburn, Nancy Lindsay, Jean Palmer and Alice Palmer.

Mrs. Otis Palmer, president, presided over the meeting and Mrs. John Hodgen assisted the children with their numbers. Mrs. Dick Lindsay played the piano.

The next meeting of the club will meet March 24 at the home of Mrs. McNees.

MENUS

By Sister Mary

BREAKFAST — Orange juice, cereal cooked with raisins, thin cream, coddled eggs, crisp graham toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON — Baked ham and celery with cheese, lettuce sandwiches, lemon snaps, milk, tea.

DINNER — English mutton chops, boiled new potatoes in parsley butter, mashed turnips, orange and stuffed prune salad, whole wheat rolls, quince bavarian cream, milk, coffee.

Be sure to use firm-fleshed navel oranges for the dinner salad. One fine large prune is placed in the center of each salad while the orange sections, free from skin, radiate from the prune. The effect is very pretty.

Baked Ham and Celery With Cheese

One cup finely chopped cooked ham, 1 cup diced parboiled celery, ½ cup grated cheese, 1 teaspoon paprika, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1½ cups milk, ½ teaspoon salt.

Melt butter, stir in flour and slowly add milk, stirring constantly. Bring to the boiling point and add salt. Boil two minutes. Put alternate layers of ham, celery and sauce into a well-buttered baking dish, making the last layer of sauce. Cover with cheese and sprinkle with paprika. Put into a hot oven until the cheese is melted and lightly browned in spots. Serve from baking dish. (Copyright, 1927, NEA Service, Inc.)

Simplest Lines Used in Newest Paris Creations

By Hazel Reavis

PARIS, Mar. 11. (AP)—Lenten quiet fails to deter the planning of fashionable wardrobes for late spring and summer. Paris is even now creating evening and dinner dresses with effective new notes. Some of the gowns of simplest lines conceal the most elaborate workmanship.

One of these gowns at the house of Welly Soeurs has crystal beads and embroidery worged into geometrical design. On the skirt are straight, flat strips of bead-work, held together with short festoons of beads. A velvet bow of two-tone ribbon in front gives a youthful air.

Revival of Sashes

The increased sleekness of hips has resulted in a revival of sashes and girdles for spring and summer. Yvonne Davidson shows a girdle of Grecian inspiration in her summer model of a dinner dress called "Midnight," a two-piece frock of two-tone blue crepe satin. A straight girdle wrapped in front in a tight twist holds the blouse close son's fast ball, now will protect trail below the hem-line in the manner of draperies. A modernistic pattern of midnight blue crepe is inset front and back. It has the square neck, featured in many of the newest Paris dresses.

In planning evening dresses, the young girl is remembered. Every dressmaker shows at least one evening model of crisp, colorful taffeta.

An evening dress by Martial and Armand, suitable for a coming out party or a first formal dance, has the big poufee of satin at the side. The bouffant skirt has points in front weighted down with crystal embroidery.

Taffetas also are used in the spring development of hats and purses. The chic Parisian now changes her bag to match her dress and when this is taffeta the purse must be of the same material. The Paris milliners are making a valiant effort to supplant felt for the summer mode and to popularize taffeta as well as supple straws.

Marthe Regnier displays a close-fitting hat of pleated black taffeta with a very small brim. A tiny fringe at the right side trims it.

The Garden

THE SEED BOX IN THE WINDOW

The seed box on the window sill is the old standby of thousands of gardeners to get their early vegetables or flower seeds going and it is an efficient plan in the hands of those accustomed to the progress of their baby plants. Seed boxes are now moved to the dignity of "flats" in most gardens for the modern home has larger windows than the old-time residences where the seed box was a fixture and a bigger seed box or flat often can be used, particularly in the sun porches. A flat is merely a shallow box from a foot to two feet square. In the old days the standard seed box was a cigar box and they are still useful for starting small quantities of seeds.

It is well to bind them with copper wire near the top and bottom before planting to prevent the sides warping away and making it difficult to water them. Punch holes in the bottom of whatever form of seed box is used. Cover the holes with broken flower pots, china, or stone chips to prevent the earth leaking through but admitting drainage. Then fill with sifted soil. Level it off with a brick or block of wood and it is ready for the seed planting.

If there is a hotbed or cold frame available the seed boxes are best set into them. If no soil was put away last fall, chop up some frozen clods, thaw them out and dry them out in the oven. The baking will serve the double purpose of killing any insects and weed seeds that may be in the earth.

Plant the seed in rows and do not put it in too thickly. The thick planting makes the plants spindly and in the long run is more of a loss than a gain, as none of the plants can develop well without wholesale thinning. Cover the seed box with a pane of glass or a cloth cut to fit after it has been moistened by gentle sprinkling or from the bottom by setting it in a dish of lukewarm water. Remove the glass daily and wipe off the "sweat" and leave a crack at one end for ventilation, as soon as the plants start coming through.

WOMAN CRITIC FINDS BALLOT UNIMPORTANT

PARIS, Mar. 11.—"Why vote?" asks Mme. Alfred Valette, known in France as Rachilde, novelist and literary critic, who disapproves her countrywomen's efforts to gain suffrage.

"If women vote in France, the same ones will always go to the polls and conditions will not be changed."

Rachilde is the woman who set 50 years as the ideal age for women because, as she explained, "then gentlemen begin to leave us in peace." Another Rachilde saying is "the stogier women are, the more gentlemen are satisfied."

PRINCESS MARINA, 20, WON'T TALK MARRIAGE

ATHENS, Greece, Mar. 11.—Princess Marina, known for her beauty, merely smiles and shakes her pretty bobbed head when her girl friends talk about marriage. She is the 20-year-old daughter of Prince Nicholas of Greece and the sister of Princess Paul of Serbia.

The princess' name when royal engagements are talked about has been linked several times with that of young Prince Nicholas of Roumania, who visited the United States last fall with Queen Marie. The press here often refers to the princess' beauty as "rarer than gold."

FREIGHTER SINKS IN HARBOR TODAY

El Sol Goes to Bottom After Collission with the Sac City

NEW YORK, Mar. 11 (AP)—The Southern Pacific freighter El Sol from Galveston, was sunk in New York harbor near the statue of Liberty today after a head on collision with the American Diamond Line freighter Sac City. The crash occurred in a heavy fog that obscured the vessels from sight from shore.

Only one man was lost, John Brown, a ship's carpenter on the El Sol. All other members of the crew of 44 were saved.

The Sac City was badly damaged but did not sink and none of the crew was injured.

The two freighters were nosing through a heavy fog off Staten Island and about half a mile from the statue of Liberty when they struck. Apparently even the sirens could not be heard until it was too late.

The collision tore a great hole in the bow of the Sac City but it was able to keep afloat and anchored off Greenville. El Sol, however, a craft of more than 3000 net tonnage, was more seriously damaged and sank almost before the crew could tak to the water.

The channel at the point, which is directly in the main lane for ocean liners, is about 60 feet deep and only the tips of El Sol's spars showed after she sank. When the first report of the accident was received all efforts were turned to the rescue of life. Police boats, fire boats, a revenue cutter and all nearby small craft shoved through fog to the scene as speedily as they dared.

The Morgan Line tug El Anigo was the first on the scene and took aboard El Sol's crew. A checkup after it reached shore showed that the carpenter, Brown, was the only man not accounted for.
