Pickens, with Mrs. Pickens, Mrs. Lynn Cox, with Mrs. Pickens, Mrs. Lynn Rohmberg, Mrs. L. I. Doney and Mrs. F. M. Jackson as hostesses.

Mrs. Phil Thompson was installed as president; Mrs. Frank Jackson, vice president; Mrs. H. P. Lewis, secretary; Mrs. George Parker, treasurer; Mrs. H. H. Clorver, mission study secretary and Mrs. J. C. MacPherson, secretary in literature.

The program on "Foreigners in America" was given by Mrs. O. E. Silverthorn, assisted by Mrs. William Miller, and Mrs. E. P. Mossman led in the devotional.

The hostess committee served before adjournment.

The intermediate and senior Christian Endeavor societies of the First Presbyterian church joined in a St. Patrick's day party last evening in the basement of the church, the party being given by the intermediate society and the invitation extended to the seniors.

Appropriate decorations in green were used and the 45 young people present were divided into groups, each group representing an Irish family. All were given names as they entered the rooms.

Games were enjoyed and a short program was given, consisting of a piano solo by Miss Marian Hanna and two readings by Miss Dorothy Harrison.

Refreshments, which were also carried out in the St. Patrick's day colors, were served by the social committee of the intermediate society, of which Miss Catherine Humphreys is hostess.

At the close of the party Mrs. I. C. Bowser announced the union meeting of the two societies Sunday evening at 8 o'clock at the church.

Mrs. Howard Miller Hostess at Bridge

With members of the Junior Bridge club as her guests Mrs. Howard Miller entertained at a party yesterday afternoon at the home of her mother, Mrs. H. E. Colledge.

Three tables were at play during the afternoon and high score was won by Mrs. Dale Cox. Miss Carolyn Rosenthal received the second prize and the guest prize went to Mrs. Charles Hingner.

Spring flowers were effectively arranged about the rooms. Luncheon was served after the card games.

Mrs. Andrew Loney and Mrs. Dick Lindsay will be the next hostesses to the club March 25.

The Central Church of Christ congregation observed church night last night, when members met at the church for a potluck dinner, followed by a program.

Those present joined in several songs, after which Mrs. E. McPherson sang "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep."

The Rev. C. V. Dunn gave a brief talk concerning the religious canvass of the city and urged that the church keep up with the progress of the community. He also said something about the Eastern Oregon convention of the Christian church to be held at Pendleton next week, March 15 to 17. Several from here will probably attend.

Following the church night program the regular monthly meeting of the church officers was held.

Once each year the Neighborhood club selects a program and next Tuesday is the date set for this year's program, which will be a musical cantata "The Three Springs."

Members of the sextet are Mrs. Earl Stoddard, leader, Mrs. Lester Stoddard, Mrs. T. H. Maxwell, Mrs. James McNamee, Mrs. W. E. Nelson and Mrs. Vernon Alsworth.

Assisting them will be Gilda Ashby, Jane Stoney, Judy and Sally Stewart, Barbara and Ruth Stoddard and Patsy Jesse, who will give several interpretative dances in costume.

Greenwood Parents and Teachers Meet

The Greenwood Parent-Teacher association met yesterday afternoon at the school, presided over by Mrs. C. E. McPherson, president.

The program opened with the singing of the first verse of "America" by five little students who entered school for the first time at the beginning of the school semester, after which they gave the first salute.

The children taking part were Norman Allen, Marie McManus, Betty Quinlan, Mildred Salter and Mary Jane Griskell.

Eldridge Huffman demonstrated the new daylight screen to be used in connection with the picture projector. He showed the "Alice in Wonderland" story and several views of Crater Lake, giving an explanation as the pictures were shown.

Margaret and Eleanor Hicks played two piano duet numbers, "Coccolia" by J. Ernest Phille and "New Christian Endeavor Grand March" by Eugene Walter. Mrs. J. K. Charlton told of her visit to Corvallis to the exhibits of the fourth clubs there as a representative of the Greenwood Parent-Teacher association, and told of the work being done by these clubs.

Pining the business session it was announced that the hot luncheon had been discontinued for this year.

Five rooms tied for the picture for having the largest number of parents present for the meeting. They were the rooms of Mrs. Harley Williamson, Miss Ruth Casca, Mrs. Clem Green, Walter, Nitzel and Mrs. Hazel Landry. The rooms will decide among themselves who will have the picture.

The Soanetaha campfire girl group met at the home of Dorothy Brownton Wednesday afternoon for the purpose of making headbands, one of the requirements of the wood-gatherer rank of the campfire.

Several girls are preparing for the rank and hope to have them completed by the next ceremonial meeting, which will be at the home of Jean Williams.

The girls have been assigned poems to be given at that time. Lola Robertson and Alice Cook will be initiated into the group at the meeting.

Mrs. Oscar Porech, Mrs. Lowell Williamson and Mrs. H. G. Avecy will be hostesses to the members of the Westminster society at a party in the basement of the First Presbyterian church Monday evening. There will be an important business meeting preceding the party, at 7:45 o'clock, and all members are urged to be there.

CHINESE WOMAN IS ON DREAD TRIBUNAL

HANKOW, China, Mar. 12 — Miss Chwan Yu-yi, a delegate of the "Revolutionary Women," is the only woman member of the "Revolutionary Tribunal of Wu-chang," which consists of representatives of the Workmen, Farmers, and Students unions, and the provincial Communist bodies. She wears western-style clothes.

Miss Chwan Yu-yi helped try the Northern general Liu Yu-chun and Chen Chi-amo before a revolutionary tribunal. She indignantly cross-examined the generals because of defending Wu-chang against siege by the Cantonese.

COMMON SENSE BEST INVESTORS INSURANCE

MADISON, Wis., Mar. 12 — No state can protect its citizens from stock swindlers unless the citizens will cooperate by using their own common sense. Miss Olga M. Steig advises Wisconsin investors.

Miss Steig is an examiner for the state securities department. The "Badger" state has set very definite standards in its blue sky laws.

"But even so," says Miss Steig, "enforcement of the laws cannot be accomplished unless the people who buy stocks and bonds will work with the government."

WRITES BEST SELLERS TWICE IN ONE YEAR

NEW YORK, Mar. 12.—Occasionally an author has seen his first novel become a best-seller, but John Erskine, the Columbia professor who wrote "The Private Life of Helen of Troy" and followed it with "Claninad," has seen his first two novels become the best sellers in the same year. The former is being published in French and Italian. Erskine is also a teacher, critic, essayist, dramatist and poet.

MENUS

By Sister Mary
BREAKFAST—Stewed prunes, cereal, thin cream, vegetable omelet, Graham gems, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON — Baked apples stuffed with sausage, spinach and eggs, sandwiches, rolled-oats bread, chocolate brownies, milk, tea.

DINNER — Broiled cod steaks, mashed potatoes, beet, cups filled with new carrots and peas, celery, radishes and green onions, bean bread, pineapple cottage pudding, milk, coffee.

The dinner of fish, mashed potatoes and beet cups is served most attractively on a plunk. Too few housekeepers make use of this really simple utensil. Delightful meals can be served on one dish, saving many serving dishes and a pleasing variety of vegetables can be included in the dinner with little extra fussing.

DISTINCTION FOUND IN OBSCURE STATUE

CHICAGO, Mar. 12. — Chicago finds that it possesses a distinctive piece of sculpture in a feminine figure above the entrance to its city and county building, depicting the city breasting the winds and waves of Lake Michigan. It was so designated by Andrew O'Connor of Paris, who created the great white marble statue of justice in the Palace of Peace at The Hague. O'Connor also wrought a famous statue of Lincoln at Springfield, Ill., his former home.

HEALTH

A SOUND PHYSIQUE REDUCES INDUSTRIAL ACCIDENTS

By Albert Fay Lowell, M. D., Gardner, Mass.

Member Gorgas Memorial Institute. From the time of the pyramids, each new project, whether the building of the Panama canal, which General Gorgas made possible, a railroad, a dam, a tunnel, down to the simplest building, or the construction of chairs or other household necessities, each thing accomplished has taken its toll in human life or in injuries to the workmen. Many of the casualties could have been avoided.

In earlier times the injured man, with his family, was dependent on the fairness of the employer or was obliged to resort to the law to obtain justice, in which case he often received a pittance of the award, owing to the expenses of litigation. Often upon recovery he had to find another job.

This has been remedied in most states by the industrial compensation laws. But, owing to the fact that laws have to be made with the knowledge that there are dishonest people in all classes and trades, the honest man still suffers for the malingerer.

Hernia cases are perhaps the most frequent causes of contention between employer and insurance companies. Although there seem undoubted cases of traumatic appendicitis, yet no judgment has, I believe, been rendered for the man injured. We who see some of the claims advanced in hernia and other cases would feel that it would be a step in the wrong direction if appendicitis, as common as it is and its cause so difficult of proof, were added to hernia and tuberculosis as a basis of claim.

Honesty and fairness among the injured and the physicians attending do much to bring about a satisfactory working of the law.

In the pre-Victorian days it was notorious that Monday morning was one of accidents; the men came to work not in the best physical condition.

Many accidents occur when first starting work and also in the rush before closing. This points clearly to the fact that when working on dangerous machines (machines or hurry is apt to result disastrously).

To any one who is liable to industrial accidents, the same thing applies as in any walk of life, only to a greater degree. In industry, where a man's welfare and safety are so dependent upon his condition of health, he ought to know whether or not he has any weakness which is apt to bring about his downfall.

Inversely the same applies to the employer, and many companies are examining their applicants and placing their only in the work which they are able to do safely.

HERRIOT WRITING ON FRENCH REVOLUTION

PARIS, Mar. 12.—Edouard Herriot, former premier and minister of education, is spending his leisure time in preparing a new history of the French revolution. Every afternoon he can get away from his ministry finds him in the National library, taking notes from old volumes.

"The book is coming along," he tells friends, "and the work on it is intensely interesting. We don't know enough about the revolution. It's strikingly like our own period in many respects."
