Mrs. Bohnenkamp Hostess to Club Members

Mrs. Chase Bohnenkamp was hostess to the club Saturday afternoon at a luncheon at 115 o'clock. Pink rascades were used to decorate each of the three small tables where luncheon was served and a bowl of daffodils served as a centerpiece for the large table.

Bridge was enjoyed after luncheon. Mrs. Norman Kees made high score and the guest present to Mrs. Clayton Turner, of Salt Lake City, who is a house guest at the home of her sister, Mrs. Earl Stoddard.

Members of the P. S. club were entertained at an attractive bridge luncheon Saturday afternoon at The Tiffin when Mrs. Ray Albert was hostess.

A three-course luncheon was served at 1:30 o'clock at an effectively arranged table, which covers were laid for 12. Daffodils served as a pretty centerpiece and nut cups and place cards corresponded.

Three tables of bridge was the diversion following luncheon, the first prize being won by Mrs. Elmo Clegg and the second by Mrs. Jack Blatt. The guest prize went to Mrs. Milton Price.

After the card games the club members surprised Mrs. Albert with a handkerchief shower. She will leave La Grande sometime before the first of April to make her home at Boise, Ida.

The next meeting of the club will be Saturday, Mar. 26, when Mrs. G. G. Griffiths will be hostess.

Sextet Presides At Club Program

Tomorrow's Neighborhood club program is in charge of the club sextet and will be given in two parts.

The first part will consist of piano and vocal numbers and part two will be the presentation of the musical cantata "The Three Springs" by the sextet, assisted by Jane Stange, Judy Siegrist, Sally Siegrist, Barbara and Mary Louise Williams and Tussy Jesse.

Once each year the sextet furnishes one program for the regular club day, which is looked forward to with pleasure by the clubwomen.

About 32 juveniles of the Neighbors of Woodmont lodge gathered at the K. P. hall Saturday afternoon in regular lodge session.

Two were initiated during this lodge meeting, after which games were enjoyed until late in the afternoon, when refreshments were served.

COVE (Special) — The Ladies' Guild of the Ascension Episcopal church met at the rectory Wednesday, where the day was spent sewing. The guild members are making aprons to be sold at an Easter bazaar.

At the last regular meeting of the society officers were elected for another year. They are Mrs. A. G. Conklin, president; Mrs. Erna Barker, vice president; Mrs. H. H. Danks, secretary and Mrs. A. H. Orton, treasurer.

Name Delegates To Conference

Delegates to the annual state conference of the Daughters of the American Revolution were appointed Wednesday when the local D. A. R. met at the home of Mrs. O. S. Moran. The state conference will be held at Corvallis and will be the last of this month.

Delegates appointed to attend from here are Mrs. L. I. Busby, Mrs. Ray Murphy, Mrs. Ray Williams, Mrs. H. G. Smith and Mrs. Earl Reynolds.

During the program hour, Mrs. Ed Kiddle gave an interesting paper on John Adams and Mrs. Busby gave a study of Patrick Henry.

A sociable and refreshments followed the program. Mrs. Moran exhibited a flintlock which belonged to her ancestors and was used during the French and Indian war. It was recently brought from the east by her.

A surprise party was given by the friends of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Dierks recently honoring the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Dierks. The party went from La Grande to the Dierks farm home near here, taking with them a hot luck supper. A large birthday cake with lighted candles served as a centerpiece for the table. After supper the time was spent visiting.

At a late hour refreshments were again served.

COVE (Special) — Cards are out announcing the marriage of Miss Helen Morland to Harold Miller at Fortuna, Cal., on Feb. 10.

Mrs. Miller is a teacher at Fortuna. After her school closes in the spring they will make their home at Callame, Wash.

while making gravy and mashing potatoes.

Macaroni Croquettes

One cup macaroni broken in half-inch pieces, 3 tablespoons butter, 3 tablespoons flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon mustard, 1/2 cup milk, 1/2 cup tomato puree with 1/2 teaspoon soda dissolved in it, 1/2 cup grated cheese, fine dried bread crumbs, egg.

Cook macaroni in rapidly boiling water for 20 minutes. Drain, rinse in cold water and drain thoroughly. Melt butter, stir in flour, salt and mustard mixed and stirred.

Stir until mixture bubbles and add milk slowly, stirring constantly. Add tomato puree and cook, stirring constantly until mixture boils. Add cheese and cook until cheese is melted. Stir in macaroni and remove from fire.

Spread in a layer about 1/2-inch thick on a platter or shallow pan. Let stand over night or several hours to become very cold and firm. Cut into rounds with a biscuit cutter. Remove these with a spatula to a pan of bread crumbs. Cover croquettes with crumbs and dip in egg slightly beaten with 2 tablespoons milk.

Roll again in crumbs and fry in deep hot fat until a golden brown on both sides.

The fat should be hot enough to brown a lard cube of bread from the soft part of the loaf in 40 seconds or 200 degrees Fahrenheit. (Copyright, 1927, NEA Service, Inc.)

CANCER FIGHT MUST BE CONTINUOUS
By Gilbert Fitz-Patrick, M. D., Chicago
Vice President Gorgas Memorial Institute

We are careful to watch for the bandit on our highways; we bolt and bar our doors against the thief and assassin who come in the night, but what are we doing to disarm cancer, this fiend which will take a much heavier toll from us than the bandit and the midnight marauder?

As we do not know the underlying cause of cancer, our attitude toward it must of necessity be two fold. We must as far as possible check the ravages of cancer by preventing its occurrence so far as is in our power; and secondly, in the case of established cancer, we must cure it if possible. In addition we must make every effort to discover the origin and nature of cancer.

The first steps towards the prevention of cancer are the thorough instruction of the people and medical profession regarding the conditions that lead to it, and to watch for and recognize the danger signals of cancer.

When we consider that one woman out of every five and one man out of every eight of middle age will die from cancer, it is certainly a matter which must be of vital concern to every family.

Men and women must become familiar with those early danger signals of cancer which one can recognize without a special knowledge of the subject. Ceaseless activity through the public press is essential for such education (and the press is the best medium for disseminating information of this character), but such dissemination must be continuous.

Based on most recent statistical studies it is estimated there are 200,000 cases of cancer today in the United States, and that the number of cases is about equal to three times the annual death rate. Hence we may take the annual death rate as at least 100,000.

And cancer is increasing. Its increase is real and the most serious menace which threatens us. It is not confined to any class of persons or to any locality—but is general, striking the rich and poor, the weak and strong, the dweller of the town and of the country and the victims are found at random from north to south, and east to west.

Cancer is not like tuberculosis which thrives best among the poorly nourished and in unhygienic surroundings; but it seems rather to favor those who are self-indulgent. Perhaps the most valuable single means of preventing cancer is the periodic health examination of all men and women of the cancer age. Such examinations are proving of value because they enable the examining physician an opportunity to detect premonitory signs. To wait until there are manifest symptoms is a fatal policy.

FRIEND OF MATHILDA HOUGHTON TO BE WED

LONDON, Mar. 14.—Lady Diana King, daughter of the Earl and Countess of Lovelock, one of the season's debutantes, plans to be married this spring about the same time Miss Mathilda Houghton, her very good friend and daughter of the American Ambassador, weds Chandler P. Anderson of New York.

Both young women were particularly popular because of their engagements at pre-Lenten parties, many of which were given in their honor.

Lady Diana's engagement to Alastair Gibb, son of Sir Alexander Gibb, the famous engineer, and Lady Gibb of London, was announced last fall.

ONE COUNTY HAS FOUR WOMEN LAWMAKERS

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Mar. 15.—Hudson county, a stronghold of New Jersey's Democratic party, believes in electing women to office and keeping them there.

Four women represent the county in Congress and the legislature, Mrs. Mary T. Norton, the first woman to represent her party in Congress, began her second term in the house March 4. Miss May Carthy and Mrs. Catherine Finn are serving their fourth terms and Mrs. Marian Urbandson her second in the lower house of the state legislature.

RADIO RIVALS MOVIES IN CELLIST'S FAVOR

PORTLAND, Ore., Mar. 14.—The lure of the microphone was strong enough to pull Gladys Johnston of Portland away from the movie studio. Although she was featured in two motion picture productions and was offered new contracts, she returned to the musical field. An cellist of Station KGW, Miss Johnston is widely known to radio fans of the northwest. Besides playing in solo selections and in orchestra numbers, Miss Johnston devotes much of her time to program arrangement.

WOMAN INSULTS RUSSIAN VISITOR

Dress Designer, Fiancee of Slain Czarist, Slaps Alex Kerensky

NEW YORK, Mar. 14. (AP)—An oath to avenge the death of her fiance in the Russian revolution today appeared to be the motive for a woman slapping Alexander P. Kerensky, president of the provisional government of Russia after the fall of the monarchy.

At a meeting yesterday of 5000 of his countrymen, on the tenth anniversary of the revolution he led, Catherine Barry, 34, now a dress designer in New York, ostentatiously offering Kerensky a bouquet, slapped his face with her gloves three times.

Blames Kerensky
Questioned by police she said she blamed Kerensky for the death of the man she loved, an officer in the czarist army, who was killed after issuance of Kerensky's "order No. 1" which placed civilians over the armed forces of the country.

By request of Kerensky, who recently came to this country and is closely guarded by detectives, the woman was not held.

She had been occupying a seat on the stage with some 800 others. Her attack was greeted with cheers from monarchists in the audience. Through it all Kerensky stood silent and unmoved and waved back his friends who had started for the stage.

Meet Disorderly
The meeting was disorderly. Two persons were hurt, two arrested and 25 ejected by police. The meeting was in the Century theater.

With monarchists in the orchestra and communists in the gallery, Kerensky was between two fires. Despite constant heckling from both extremes after the slapping, he spoke for an hour in review of recent Russian history and attacked both monarchists and communists.

His only reference to the attack upon him was "None of the monarchist ex-officers in the theater would dare to come up. They sent a woman."

FRENCH FIND SPORTS MEAN UNDAINED SOCKS
PARIS, Mar. 14.—Men should help with the week-end homework, according to a leading French sporting paper, so that husband and wife, and brother and sister, may have equal opportunity for participating in Sunday sports, which are increasingly popular in France.

French women who are most active participants in sports are usually of the hard working group. Most of them come from families that have no maid. In such families every able-bodied member works, and each day has its task. Sundays used to be family mending day. But now, says the sporting journal, it doesn't get done.

Unless the male members of the family lend a hand the sportswomen of France will have to choose between the mending basket and basketball.
