Four Women Are Joint Hostesses At Bridge Party

Two attractive bridge parties of the spring season were Tuesday and Wednesday of this week, at which Mrs. M. L. Smith, Mrs. E. Jacobson, Mrs. L. M. Hoyt and Mrs. E. R. Ring were hostesses at the home of Mrs. Smith on Adams avenue.

The rooms of the Smith home were effectively decorated with pussy willows, potted plants and bouquets of the seasons cut flowers.

On Tuesday nine tables of bridge were enjoyed during the afternoon and the first prize was won by Mrs. Joe Harrison. The second prize went to Mrs. Clyde Bunting Jr., and the third to Mrs. Ed Stravens.

Yesterday seven tables were at play. Mrs. J. P. Morlock made high score and the second prize went to Mrs. W. H. Bohnenkamp Sr., Mrs. J. T. Longfellow received the third prize.

On both afternoons the hostesses served a two-course luncheon following the card games.

An attractive St. Patrick's day party was last night when Miss Elvora Hansen entertained at the home of her mother.

Green was the color used to decorate the rooms, a green lighting effect being used in addition to St. Patrick's day symbols.

To gain entrance each guest was requested to kiss the barley stone, in which each guest was to draw an Irish flag from memory, was won by John Winburn. Other St. Patrick's day stunts and tricks were enjoyed during the evening, followed by cards and dancing. Miss Valette Harer won the first prize at cards and the consolation prize went to Miss Lila Bean.

A two-course luncheon, also carried out in green and white, was served at a late hour.

Those present were: Lila Bean, Louise Salisbury, Valette Harer and the hostess, William Harnden, Wayman Scott, John Winburn and Ray Keown.

Mrs. Giles Harnden was hostess to the members of the Helomala bridge club and a few guests yesterday afternoon at a luncheon at one o'clock.

Green and white was the color scheme used to decorate the rooms, and was also carried out in the three-course luncheon. Bouquets of pussy willows, a part of which had been colored green, were arranged about the rooms.

Four tables of bridge was the diversion following luncheon. High score among the club member was made by Mrs. Hazel Jensen and the consolation prize went to Mrs. Roy Farnam. Mrs. J. R. Oliver received the guest prize.

The next meeting of the club Wednesday, Mar. 22, will be at the home of Mrs. Clarence Green on Cedar street with Mrs. Sherill Ewin as hostess.

Entertains Past Matrons Last Night

Members of the Past Matrons club of Hope Chapter, No. 13, Order of the Eastern Star, were delightfully entertained last evening when Mrs. S. A. Wells and Miss Pauline Ledebere were hostesses in the Masonic parlors.

The regular business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Florence Bacon, after which the remainder of the time was spent in a social.

The rooms were effectively decorated in keeping with St. Patrick's day, green being the color chosen. Refreshments served by hostesses were carried out in the same idea.

Announcement has been made here that Miss Marjorie Condit, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Condit, of this city, has pledged Alpha Gamma Delta, woman's fraternity at the University of Oregon, where she is freshman. The ceremony is said by La Grande people familiar with the house, to have had the highest scholastic standing on the campus last year.

Miss Condit was graduated from the La Grande high school last spring, being an honor member of last year's senior class. She is majoring in journalism at the university.

MOTHER! Read This If Your Child Is Thin and Physically Below Par

The School Age—is the period when mothers must watch their children. The nerve strain of study, the physical strain of play slowly but surely saps their reserve vitality. Colds and contagion find them easy prey.

A growing school child needs Cod Liver Oil to build and keep up strength, healthy flesh, weight and bodily resistance. And now, instead of the old-fashioned, nasty oil that children hate, you can get all its benefits in McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—so easy to take as candy. Ask Red Cross Drug Store or any druggist. Demand McCoy's and if your child hasn't gained in 30 days, your druggist is authorized to refund your money.

Changing Brides Now Propose to Observe "Obey"

LONDON, Mar. 17 (AP)—Just because the word "obey" has been struck from the marriage service of the Church of England, some English brides are getting contrary and insisting that it be retained.

Miss Clara E. Buckle, noted Midlands sportsman and captain of the Bradford Ladies Lacrosse team, upon her marriage to a Rugby football captain was one of the recent brides who undertook to "obey." The officiating clergyman, Canon Gower Rees, explained that the bride had elected to do so "because obeying does not necessarily mean submission, but a recognition of the central authority of the house."

No other feature of the revision has been more eagerly discussed by John Citizen, his wife and daughters. The consensus seems to be that matters are not changed much.

"What husband," it is asked, "ever carried out his promise 'With all my worldly goods I thee endow'?" And the old saw is quoted: "If she will, she will, you may depend on it; And if she won't, she won't, and there's an end on it."

Lady Rhonda, Britain's foremost business woman, rejoices in the removal of the "remnant of sex feudalism," while Sylvia Thompson, authoress of "The Hounds of Springs, after eight months of married life, says cryptically: "There are now no shrines to domesticity."

One cartoonist draws premier Baldwin, a puny bridegroom, being marched up the aisle in the firm grip of a towering, muscular bride, representing the Tory "Die Hards." "You needn't promise to obey," he whispers Baldwin. "I wasn't going to, anyway," the bride retorts grimly.

"MOTHER CONFESSOR" ADVISES EMPLOYERS

NEW YORK, Mar. 17.—Mrs. Jonathan Scott, social worker for a fashionable interior decorating establishment here, is exploring a new field in women's activities.

Mrs. Scott is a kind of official "mother confessor" for employes in family and financial matters, smoothing out differences with employers and other employes and giving individual aid generally. She works only part time, since she has two small daughters in school.

PRINCESS WASEMSKY PLANS RACING STABLE

LONDON, Mar. 17.—Princess Wasmensky, daughter of H. Gordon Selfridge, recently purchased the four-year-old hurdler, Borealis, and she and her father are planning a racing stable. Selfridge also has bought the steppelocher, Misconduct, from Major J. M. Mothson and he and his daughter have taken over all the engagements made for this horse by its former owner. They hope it will win the Grand National.

EDITH WHARTON BUYS FRENCH CONVENT HOME

HYRLES, France, Mar. 17.—Edith Wharton, the American writer, has purchased the Chateau St. Claire at Hyeres, where she has lived the last six years.

The property is vast, and the house itself, once a convent, has been rebuilt in medieval style, in harmony with a castle nearby. Miss Wharton, however, has added an air of cheerfulness and modern comfort to the dull gray facade of the building, by having green shutters at every window.

STARKEY (Special)—Most of the snow is gone at Starkey and where the fields are bare the winter wheat looks good. There is very little frost in the ground this spring. Fence building will soon start.

MENUS

By Sister Mary

BREAKFAST—Halves of grapefruit, cereal, thin cream, crisp broiled bacon with sautéed calves liver, corn bread, creamed potatoes, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Cream of pea soup, croutons, stuffed pepper salad, whole wheat bread, sponge cake and orange pudding, milk, tea.

DINNER—Baked fresh mackerel, potato croquette, best greens with lemon sauce, rhubarb jelly, griddle bread, milk, coffee.

Sometimes sponge cake seems doomed to "go begging." The rule for the luncheon pudding uses this bit of cake to advantage and is well worth keeping in mind when the family refuse the second day of the cake.

Sponge Cake and Orange Pudding

Three cups stale sponge cake crumbs, 2 cups hot milk, 2 tablespoons grated orange rind, 1 cup sugar, 4 eggs, 1 1/2 cups orange juice.

Beat milk to the boiling point and pour over crumbs. Mix grated rind with sugar and add to first mixture. Beat eggs well and add to mixture. Add orange juice, beat mixture well and turn into a lightly buttered mold. Bake 20 minutes in a moderate oven. When firm to the touch the pudding is done. Serve warm with the following sauce:

Two cups whipping cream, 1/2 cup strained figs, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 tablespoons powdered sugar.

Put figs through a pure strainer. Whip cream until stiff, add vanilla and sugar and beat enough to mix thoroughly. Add sifted fig pulp and serve.

"DON'T WORRY"

NEW YORK—Dr. Serge Voronoff may be able to extend active life to 125 years, but Dr. Thomas Darrington, formerly city health commissioner, has a simple recipe for living to be 120 perhaps: Avoid worry. He notes that freedom from health-ruining conventions today is adding years to women's youth.

WOMEN LIGHT GUARDS DIRECT GULF SAILORS

BILLOI, Miss., Mar. 17.—A woman's hand was guided the Billoi light to storm-tossed sailors in the Gulf of Mexico for more than sixty years.

Among old sailors there is a superstition of good fortune radiating from Billoi because the light has never faltered through the fiercest West Indian hurricanes.

When Perry Youngmans, of Albany, N. Y., appointed keeper of the lighthouse in 1866, died in the first year of his service, he was succeeded by his widow, Mrs. Mira Youngmans. She retired in 1920 after 53 years as keeper and her daughter Miranda took over the duties.

HEALTH

CARELESSNESS IN ADOPTING PREVENTIVE MEASURES IS RESPONSIBLE FOR THOUSANDS OF DEATHS EVERY YEAR

By Surgeon General Hugh S. Cummings

Member Gorgas Memorial Institute

One result of the enormous population which our country has attained and of its marvelous facilities for transportation is that opportunities for the introduction of communicable diseases are multiplied.

Increases in population produce marked tendencies to more than corresponding increases in sickness and death, and such increases will surely follow unless the means of preventing them are placed at the disposal of our public health agencies, and unless the people themselves will cooperate.

An earthquake in Japan arouses our sympathy, but it does not endanger our safety; but smallpox in England, cholera in Siam, plague in Egypt, or trachoma in Russia may be conveyed to our shores and introduced among our people in a very short time. A widespread epidemic of diphtheria in Canada will probably cause cases of the disease in the United States. In spite of all practicable precautions typhus fever cases from Mexico are occasionally found in the southwest.

The responsibilities of the medical profession and of the health officers are increasing but our knowledge of disease and the methods by which it can be prevented is also increasing. We now know the methods by which many of the more important communicable diseases are transmitted, and this knowledge enables the health officer to take action to prevent the introduction or spread of these diseases.

Some diseases, smallpox and diphtheria for instance, could be practically eliminated if the public could be made to realize the advantages of using well-known methods of prevention. Thousands of persons in the United States suffer and die each year because of lack of available information or indifference which prevents the use of methods of prevention, the efficacy and safety of which have

Cubed Potatoes O'Brien as New York Hotels Prepare Them

Until you have enjoyed the rich, satisfying flavor of Mazola-fried potatoes, you will probably never realize how wholesome and appetizing potatoes can be.

Reaching a high temperature without smoking, Mazola quickly seals in the mealy flavor of the cut potatoes and when ready to serve they are absolutely greaseless.

Prove it for yourself with this recipe—taken from Ida Bailey Allen's New Book—see coupon below.

Cubed Potatoes O'Brien

1 quart pared, cubed, raw potatoes
Salt and pepper
2 tablespoons minced onion

1 tablespoon shredded potatoes
1/2 pintonettes
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
Mazola

The potatoes should be cut in half-inch cubes. Put them in a frying basket and immerse in Mazola heated to 350 degrees F., or until it will brown a bit of bread in one minute. Drain, dust with salt and pepper and add the green peppers, pintonettes and onion sautéed until tender in two tablespoons Mazola.

Send Only 10c with this coupon and you will receive a copy of Ida Bailey Allen's wonderful new Cook Book, beautifully bound, 112 pages of unusual recipes. Write
