New York still resorts to the old garbage disposal method of dumping barges twenty miles out at sea. Possibly if the metropolis investigated La Grande's type of sewage disposal plant an adaptation would solve the garbage problem.

KILLING THE FILIBUSTER

Since congress adjourned with several important bills left hanging in midair because of the Reed filibuster much additional comment has been made on how the evil can best be corrected, how to prevent a small minority in the United States senate from blocking the will of the majority.

Senator Norris, also an enemy of the filibuster, argues for a different remedy than rule amendment, one that has been offered in the senate for three sessions but without cooperation on the part of the house.

"What is the remedy for this inexcusable and indefensible jam? There are two ways, and only two, by which a remedy can be reached.

"First, the senate could provide for the previous question, similar to the method now used in the house of representatives. By the application of this method debate could be absolutely shut off.

"The other remedy that will cure this evil is a constitutional amendment that will abolish the short session of congress; one that will provide that the congress elected in November shall go into office early in January; that will fix the beginning of the term of members of the house and senate and the beginning of the session near the first day of January.

"If this were done there would be no legislative jam every two years on March 4, when, by constitutional limitation, congress must adjourn. A filibuster would become an impossibility, and without a filibuster the disgraceful condition we have just witnessed could never take place."

Both Senator Norris and Mr. Dawes desire to accomplish the same object it seems. Both the changing of senate rules and the amendment of the constitution appear logical. The rag rule does not have to be applied. Dawes does not want that. But limited debate should be possible on the will of the majority. And he does want that.

The constitutional amendment has been urged and argued for many years. It has three times passed the senate, yet has been held up in the house. It seems ridiculous that such a reasonable change in government procedure has not been adopted long before this.

People who study the present situation and its injustice will readily agree that the short term should be abolished, that congress should meet early in January after being elected in November. It would not only help prevent damaging filibusters but would also provide true representation.

NEW GRID PLAN IS MADE PUBLIC

Dartmouth Professor Would Restrict Playing to Under Classmen

HANOVER, N. H., Mar. 21 (AP)—The Dartmouth Athletic Council today took steps to sound open in intercollegiate football circles on a revolutionary plan of reform proposed by President Ernest Martin Hopkins.

He suggested limitation of players on varsity teams to members of the sophomore and junior classes. He would give each college two varsity teams for major games, and would put all coaching in the hands of undergraduates.

He wrote Lemuel G. Hodgkins, of Worcester, Mass., head of the council that the tendency of his suggestions would be "to guarantee that participation in college sport would be more completely restricted to college students incidentally playing football, than to perpetuate a condition where in at every college there are at least a few men who are in spirit simply athletes incidentally attending college."

Dr. Hopkins, who was graduate manager of the Green's Athletics 25 years ago, declared his proposals had been gradually developed by friendly associates, most of whom are former football players.

Admitting that no single college could of itself radically transform the existing evils of the game, President Hopkins suggested that a start might be made if, without formal organization, a limited number of colleges in the east should accept the general specifications. Harvard, Yale, Cornell, Princeton, Pennsylvania and Brown were mentioned as possible components of the group beside Dartmouth.

He said that although he did not feel that the worst that had been alleged against college football was necessarily true, "tendencies toward such conditions are more rapid than commonly recognized, and I believe that intercollegiate football is in a more hazardous position than is generally supposed among its friends."

COMMENTS VARIED

NEW YORK, Mar. 21 (AP)—Comment from local college authorities on football changes proposed by President Ernest M. Hopkins of Dartmouth college, ranged between criticism and commendation today. The plan would limit varsity players to members of sophomore and junior classes and would give each college two first string eleven for simultaneous home-and-home series.

Dr. Herbert E. Hawkes, dean of Columbia college, Columbia university, declared the plan would be "an interesting experiment." He would not predict its chances of success.

Held Not Sensible Remodelling of intercollegiate football "doesn't sound sensible to me," Dean Henry F. Fine, acting head of board of athletic control at Princeton university, said. "You know we never did believe in that over-emphasizing business here," he added.

Hockey League Season Near End

NEW YORK, Mar. 21 (AP)—Prelude of the Stanley Cup series for the world hockey championship interested the national hockey league today as the regular season entered the final week of play.

Six teams opening the hockey "post season" on March 22 have etched their position in the play off. New York Rangers, Boston Bruins, and Chicago Blackhawks, leading trio in the American section, will battle among themselves for the right to meet the best of the international group leaders Ottawa Senators, Canadians, and Montreal Maroons.

PLACID SKI-RUNNER TRAINS YEAR 'ROUND LAKE PLACID CLUB, N. Y.—John Satre, winner of this year's 25-mile ski race here, is already in training for next year's winter sports.

"An athlete can't train in a few weeks," he says. "He must keep in condition the year around." Satre, who is barely five feet tall, although 30 years old, does it by abstaining from liquor and tobacco, working out of doors and going to bed at 10 p. m.

He won the 25-mile cross country race over a course that crosses the Sentinel Mountain range in 5 hours, 12 minutes and 5 seconds.

PRIEST'S ONE CLUB BANISHES GOLF BAG CHICAGO—A Catholic priest, tired of lugging a bag full of golf clubs around the golf course he takes out in his desert parish at Goldfield, Nev., has devised a club which serves as driver, brassie, midiron, mashie and putter.

He is Father Alphonse Gavin, and the club, with a face adjustable on a steel cog to six positions, makes its debut in goldrod at the National Golf show here the week of March 21 to 24.

FEW BIG LEAGUERS AMBIDEXTROUS, NOW TAMPA, Fla.—"Turn around hitters" are becoming few and far between in the major leagues.

Only a scant half dozen of the well-known players bat right handed against left handed pitchers and left handed against right handed pitchers. Frisch of the Cardinals and Baneroff of the Braves are still hitting from either side, as are Grantham of the Pirates and Hunnicutt of the White Sox.

Red Sox Off to Flying Start In Training Camp

By Brian Bell NEW ORLEANS, Mar. 21 (AP)—The Boston Red Sox are off on a personally conducted personally campaign. If they get anywhere in baseball it will be directly due to the personality of William F. Carrigan, who has returned to the scene of his former triumphs, after an absence of ten years, in an effort to get Boston out of last place in the American League.

Bill Carrigan has personality plus and he has instilled a spirit in the Red Sox they have not known in recent years. The players training here now are practically the athletes who went through the motions here a year ago, but they do not look the same.

Manager Carrigan, who says that he has not seen more than 30 games in the ten years of his retirement having returned to the game, has come back with a vim which has proved contagious. The Red Sox are hustling now. How far they can go remains to be seen but a casual spectator at the practice periods can see there is smoke in the camp which may break into fire as the season starts.

The team of necessity will be much the same as that of last year with one department noticeably strengthened. The club promises to get some good catching. Fred Hofmann, formerly of the Yankees, has returned to the majors after a stay at St. Paul and with Grover Hartley, veteran major leaguer, but still a good receiver and fair hitter, will do the catching. The only contest behind the bat is for the position of third catcher. Clifford Knox, who had a trial with Pittsburgh, seems to be the best prospect.
