World Wide Guild Planning Pageant

An interesting meeting of the World Wide Guild of the First Baptist church was held Saturday evening at the church, with Miss Ethel Harrison as hostess.

The meeting started at 6 o'clock and the first hour was spent practicing a pageant, in which the guild will take part on Easter Sunday, and discussing the association meeting to be held in La Grande May 24, when guild members from over all Eastern Oregon will be the guests of the La Grande guild.

Mrs. G. A. Pollard and her daughter, Margaret, presented a missionary skit, which will be repeated at the association meeting.

Mrs. D. C. French will direct the girls in learning several glee songs to be given during the meeting. She spoke briefly concerning the songs.

Following this program in the church auditorium the girls went to the basement, where they joined in a "tea party." As each girl entered the room and found her place at the table she was presented with a large T.

On one side of the T was a game, which the girls worked out while they were being served. Mrs. Wayne Taylor winning the prize. On the other side was a reference to be found in the mission study book, "The Baptist Family in Foreign Fields," and reported upon at a special meeting of the guild Saturday afternoon at the church.

Miss Mable Schafer and Miss Marcel Rhine, members of the guild who are away at college, but were home for the spring vacation, were honor guests of the evening; and each were called upon for short talks. Miss Mildred Fox welcomed the guests and presented each with a gift from the guild.

After the reports of committee chairmen and reports on the point standing system of the guild, the meeting closed with the A. W. M. covenant, followed by prayer by the Rev. G. A. Pollard.

Mrs. Griffiths Is F. S. Club Hostess

Mrs. G. G. Griffiths was hostess to the F. S. club Saturday at a 1:20 o'clock luncheon at the Tiffin. Covers were laid for 14 at a table attractively decorated in a pink and lavender color scheme. Sweet peas, in these colors, served as a centerpiece for the table. The same colors were used in the place cards, to which sweet peas were attached. Nut cups were pink and lavender.

Following a three-course luncheon three tables of bridge were at play. Mrs. Everett Keown made high score and the second club prize went to Mrs. Jack Haffert. Mrs. A. V. Sanford received the guest prize.

Mrs. T. C. Spon, of Yakima, Wash., mother of Mrs. Griffiths, was honor guest at the luncheon. Mrs. Spon is visiting her daughter here for about two weeks.

GRANGE HALL (Special)—A number of women of the Blue Mountain grange met at the home of Mrs. William Taylor Wednesday, and spent the day working on a quilt which was represented to Mrs. William Sherwood as a birthday gift in appreciation of her services as master of the grange for the past two years.

At one o'clock a potluck dinner was served. Mrs. Nell Ring, who is visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. R. A. Masterton, was a guest.

The Garden

PUTTING PEP IN MENU
Radishes and young onions are the two vegetables which do most to contribute pep to the early summer diet.

Who wants to sit down to a dinner without either to express the vigor which we feel in May and June? They are as inseparable from thoughts of summer time as are the iris and the meadow lark, and an all around gardener will cultivate an appreciation of them all.

Onions are a simple problem, on the whole. One young onion is much like another; if they are grown fast they are mild, and if grown slowly they will be strong. The way to get them quickest is from onion sets. These are onions of arrested growth, grown from thickly sown seed last summer and consequently dwarfed. They are stored over winter and when planted now they immediately start in to growth and in two weeks will

FOREIGN WOMEN ENTER NEW ECONOMIC FIELDS

BERLIN—The economic status of women in Europe has changed so during the last decade that girls leaving the high schools refuse to enter the factories until they have become fully convinced that other vocations are closed to them.

Frau Luise Schmidt, teacher of trades at the Hamburg high school, declared that two-thirds of the young women between 16 and 18 in Germany choose occupations that require preparatory training. Even those who finally go to the factories for employment continue to study for a journeyman's or master's certificate.

Similar observations by the Vocational Advisory Board of Zurich in Switzerland bear out Frau Schmidt's statement that the attitude towards unskilled labor among women is changing all over Europe. The board's survey showed that of 970 girls leaving the schools of the Zurich Canton more than two-thirds take up definite vocations.

MARRY GARDEN EXTOLS SLIM PRIMA DONNAS
CHICAGO—Fashions in opera singers change, albeit with less speed, than in other things. Audiences of past days expected their prima donnas to be heavier than other women but today the singers themselves as well as their patrons prefer the slender figure.

Mary Garden, prima donna of the Chicago Opera company comments for aesthetic as well as health reasons, those who refuse to appear as the traditional stout singer. She herself has followed a program of weight control for the past three months as strenuous as her schedule of performances.

Mrs. Garden reduced 17 pounds by limiting herself to one meal a day, exercising continuously and drinking floods of water. At the same time she did not slacken in her attendance at rehearsals and performances.

IRISH WOMAN LEADER SPURNS DAIL ELECTION

DUBLIN—The attitude of Miss Mary MacSwiney on the eve of the Dail elections to the Dail shows the same fortitude she exhibited during her notorious hunger strike. The section of the Sinn Fein party at which Miss MacSwiney and Count Plunkett are leaders refuses to enter the Dail on any condition and holds out for full Republican claim. DeValera's wing of the party would enter if the oath of allegiance to King George were abolished.

WHAT ARE TONSILS?
By G. M. Tralle, M. D.

The tonsils are lymphatic glands and are a part of the lymphatic system which is composed of a large number of glands and vessels—so numerous that they form a network throughout the entire body.

The principal function of the lymphatic system is to guard and protect the body and blood stream from poisons of all kinds. They do this by absorbing and destroying germs and by converting poisons into less harmful substances.

The germs or the poison gaining entrance into the body may be so large in amount or so virulent in effect that the first lymphatic gland may be unable to cope with it and may itself become diseased or even destroyed.

When this occurs the adjoining lymphatic gland or glands become involved and increase in size and tenderness. A whole chain of glands become infected from a single small focus. This often occurs in the region of the tonsils.

The tonsils are two of the largest lymphatic glands in the body and are situated in the throat—one on either side of the base of the tongue. The part of the tonsil visible by looking in the mouth is entirely uncovered; but the part not visible is covered over with a tough membrane called the capsule, through which the nerves, blood vessels, and lymphatic vessels enter the tonsil.

On the uncovered portion is a number of little depressions or pits. These are the openings of tubes that wind and twist through the substance of the tonsil and lumps underneath the skin. When this condition becomes chronic there is no method of treatment known at present that will get rid of the disease and restore the tonsil to its normal condition. So we apply the same remedy that is applied to a decayed and aching tooth, we take them out.

BERLIN—Frau Wilhelm Hohersoldern, newspapers say, plans to hold a series of "court" functions in the Hohenzollern palace on another day next season, hoping to have the way for her husband, left with the finger as little hard. The palace has been all dolled up.
