OFFICE CAT

The charity of some people should be charged up to publicity.

A hen can hatch only so many eggs, and a man can hatch only so many ideas.

SAD TALES

He was calling on charming Miss Jeld.

And being intensely well bred, He said, "Dearest Miss, May I give you a kiss?"

"Oh, please do not ask me that!" she said!

—Seward, Ohio, Advocate.

And then, oh alas, and ahah, He found she had her smack!

And this young miss Who got the kiss, She ran and gave it right back!

—Hastings, Neb., Tribune.

Thereupon the flirtatious Miss Jeld Who is so very intensely well bred, Said, "I gave you the kiss, For kismet, like this, So, I'm giving it back to you, Ned."

—Warren, Ohio, Tribune.

And a fellow in Boston named Suring, Asked a Boston highbrow for a huz, She gave him a benance, And he took the cleaner A week to arrange him off the run.

It really is something the average father believes in until his son gets to acting the doped fool.

We have learned to our delight That all this proof rouse is not kess-peak.

Teacher talking on the wickedness of stealing—"Now, if I were to put my hand in some one's pocket and take money, what would I be?"

Little Boy—"Please, Miss, you'd be his wife."

Bylander—"I observe that you treat that gentleman very respectfully."

Gargamant—"Yes, he's one of our early settlers."

Bylander—"Early settler? Why, he's not more than forty years of age."

Gargamant—"That may be true, but he has his hills on the first of every month."

Every mother fears that her sons will grow up and marry and that her daughters won't.

"Kiss in Taxi" At Arcade Is French Farce

If motion picture audiences need any further proof that Bebe Daniels is the screen's outstanding comedienne, they have it at the Arcade theater where Paramount's latest, "A Kiss in a Taxi," is being shown today and Tuesday.

"A Kiss in a Taxi," is French farce, crisp, delicious, rapid action, filled to the brim with laughter and played by a skilful cast. As Gimette, auring waitress of the Cafe Pierre, the dark-eyed star presents one of the best characterizations of her career. Brilliant support is accorded by Chester Conklin, Douglas Gilmore, her new leading man, Jocelyn Lee, Henry Kolker and Richard Tucker. Clarence Budger, the man who directed Bebe in "Miss Brewster's Millions" and "The Campus Flirt," handled the megaphone for "A Kiss in a Taxi"—a fact that should prove

Lines and Colors Softer This Spring

PARIS, CAP)—In its efforts to lure women away from masculine styles Paris offers softer colors and lines which follow the figure more closely. Much blue and pink is used in combination for the sport clothes, which wish to look particularly feminine.

Little by little Paris dressmakers are accustoming their clients to curves in what has been for several seasons a straight line from shoulder to hem. Waistlines are making a mighty effort to come back and some designers are doing their utmost to forward the movement.

The Young people's class of the Methodist church gave an enjoyable social Saturday night at the church.

Miss Young returned to his home at Elgin Sunday. He has been working in Stange's camps.

Miss Leiferts (Nielsen) returned to Elgin Sunday after visiting her mother, Mrs. Elmer Nielsen in La Grande for a few days.

AT THE THEATERS

"The Sap" Is Showing Last Time Tonight

Kenneth Harlan, last seen amid the stinging melodramatics of "The Fighting Edge," triumphs in a new field in the title role of "The Sap," the Warner picture which opened at the Sherry theater yesterday for a run of two days.

Here is a picture so accurately true to life that it grips with more tenacity than any melodrama ever devised. It is a portrait of a man's soul, done with marvelous dramatic power, and Kenneth Harlan turns it into a mighty achievement.

From the thundering war scenes in France, the action moves into a small American town, and the warfare is then concentrated within the heart of the ex-soldier, who knows he is not a hero, in spite of his decorations. It is a story of his fight to win courage to fight others, as well as himself.

The theme is tragically serious; the treatment is uniformly quick and light. There are as many gay wisecracks as in a Syd Chapin comedy, but they all are lines that stay right in character.

David Butler, magnificent in life acting as the town bully, has most of the "wise" lines to put across, and many a gem also falls to the lot of Heinie Conklin.

May McAlister, a young and beautiful heroine, and Estelle Jensen as the boy's mother, are exceptionally fine.

Comedy showing "Teacher-Teacher."

Ben Lyon Leaves Star Theater This Evening

Ben Lyon is featured in "High Hat," Robert Kane's sensational satire on the movies, which will be shown tonight for the last time at the Star theater.

Cast as a box extra in a New York studio, the popular young star of that other movie burlesque "Bluebeard's Seven Wives," has lots of amusement mimicking himself and his picture friends in a story that is as fast-moving as it is funny.

New show Tuesday.

Conflict between the old and the new is the basic theme of "Sensation Seekers," starring Billie Dove with Huntley Gordon, which comes to the Star theater Tuesday for a two day run. In this motion picture drama of personal life in fashionable society is presented the spectacle of the hide-bound puritanism of yesterday trying to defeat the liberty of today, reducing every person to the rigorous discipline of dogma.

Youth breaks the traces and becomes lawless beyond reason, but at last the fiery temper, which will not yield to force, is seen to yield to love.

"Sensation Seekers" was directed by Lois Weber, famous woman director.

A Mack Bennett comedy "Should Sleep Walkers Marry" will also be shown.
