Several guests were present for the meeting, including Mrs. F. L. Ballard, Mrs. Gray, of La Grande, Mrs. P. J. Powers, of Medical Springs; Mrs. L. L. Snodgrass, Miss Genevieve Cole, Miss Bess Barber, of La Grande, and Mrs. Harold Noregaard, of Walla Walla.

MENUS

By Sister Mary
BREAKFAST—Sections of grapefruit, cereal, cream, fish and rice on toast, crisp whole wheat toast, milk, coffee.
LUNCHEON—Mock turtle soup, toasted crackers, banana and peanut salad, health bread, rhubarb, tapioca pudding, milk, tea.
DINNER—Smothered mutton chops with spinach, steamed rice, sliced tomatoes, whole wheat rolls, maple bavarian cream, vanilla wafers, milk, coffee.

Black bean soup served with thinly sliced lemon and hard-cooked egg makes the "mock turtle" soup planned for the luncheon. Although a real mock turtle soup uses the stock from a calf's head the black bean soup is an excellent substitute.

Maple Bavarian Cream
 One cup rich milk, 2 eggs, 1 tablespoon granulated gelatin, 4 tablespoons water, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 cup maple sirup, 1/2 cup canned shredded coconut, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla, 1/2 cup whipping cream.
 Scald milk in top of double boiler. Soften gelatin in cold water for five minutes. Beat yolks of eggs and slowly pour hot milk over them, beating constantly. Return to double boiler and cook five minutes. Add salt and softened gelatin, stir until gelatin is dissolved and remove from fire. Stir in sirup and let stand until cool and beginning to thicken. Add coconut and fold in whites of eggs beaten until stiff and dry. Turn into a mold dipped in cold water and let stand several hours to chill and become firm. Serve with cream, berries and sirup, flavored with vanilla and sweetened with 1 teaspoon powdered sugar.

KEEP BOOKS TO SHOW CHILDREN NOT COSTLY
PORTLAND, Ore.—Although she believes babies are "cheap at any price," Mrs. Eva Pitts Larimer, wife of the executive secretary of the Portland Y. M. C. A., has kept books to refute the charge the child is an extravagant bird.

The initial cost of the three Larimer children, her figures show, was $444.95.

OUT OUR WAY

The Garden

PLANNING FOR SUN AND SHADE

An experienced gardener plants his sweet corn and pole beans at the north and west sides of his garden as a matter of course. He does it by instinct after years of gardening because he knows that if planted at the south or east end of the garden they will cut off valuable sunlight from the vegetables near them.

This is a point to be kept in mind in laying out a plan for the vegetable garden. The lower growing vegetables should have full exposure to the south and east, placing the tall growing subjects, such as the corn, pole beans and tomatoes trained to single stems on stakes where they will interfere least with the supply of sunshine.

Most gardeners will plan to run their rows of tomatoes north and south if the location of the garden at all permits it in order to get the most even distribution of sunshine to ripen the fruits evenly and rapidly.

North-and-south rows are best for all vegetables because of this advantage, but in a garden of small proportions it is not so important as in the larger gardens and need not be taken into account in laying out the plantings. A garden which is partly overhung by large trees will need an extra supply of fertilizer in the neighborhood of the tree as the roots have practically the same extent in the ground that the top has in the air and they will compete for the food in the soil with the plants.

Plant the earliest crops nearest to the kitchen door so that there will need to be as little tramping over the cultivated soil as possible when spring rains make the going muddy. The radishes, young onions, and lettuce should be the closest to solid ground.

Plan this year to utilize the fences about the garden for cucumbers, small squashes, pole beans or for trellises for tomatoes. The fence will furnish much additional garden room properly handled and furnishes a ready-made trellis. Cucumbers, although grown on the ground as a rule, are climbers by nature and are always so grown in greenhouses for the winter trade.

WOMEN POWERLESS IN LINCOLN'S DAY
NEW YORK—Women may consider themselves the power behind the throne, but the presidential chairs of American history have not concealed any influential women.

UZBEKS NOW THINK TWO WIVES LUXURY
BOKHARA—Uzbekistan Soviet Republic—The ancient Oriental customs by which brides are sold by their fathers like cattle still prevail throughout Turkestan. The girls will and wish in matrimonial matters count for nothing.

Muslim girls are kept in a harem, where from the time they are 12 until their fathers are ready to sell them in marriage, they are not allowed to see a single soul except women members of the family. Brothers, girl friends, and even the prospective husband are excluded.

The native Mohammedans of Turkestan used to have numerous wives, indicating by the number their wealth, social prestige and true Muslim piety, but now even two wives are considered a luxury.

The Hotel Drouot saleroom is famous for the important auctions held within its walls.

REFUSE CHAUFFEURS UNION MEMBERSHIP
INDIANAPOLIS—Traffic lights rather than footlights are the choice of Mary Ellen Henshaw, a taxicab chauffeur of San Antonio, Tex. When she asked admission to the union, Daniel J. Tobin, president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters—Chauffeurs and Helpers of America, told her to "try the fannies" instead. Miss Henshaw is still watching her meter, however.

The last federal census showed one woman chauffeur to every 200 men, but none of the women hold union cards.

WIVES SHOULD OBEY
LONDON—Mary, Countess of Lovelock, does not approve of the word "obey" from the marriage service in the revised prayer book of the Church of England.

"When two ride a horse one should ride behind," she says. "Few persons would maintain that the husband who stands responsible for the family before the world should ride behind. The wife must yield when conflict arises. This necessity is often a welcome solution of difficulties to the woman who has promised to obey."

Is There Anything Better Than These Creamed Potatoes?

Try This Recipe

CREAMED POTATOES

2 cups milk	1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons Mazola	3 cups diced, cooked potatoes (boiled or baked)
2 tablespoons Argo or Kingsford's Cornstarch	1 teaspoon onion juice (optional)
1/2 teaspoon salt

TO make the sauce, put the Mazola in a saucepan, add the cornstarch and seasonings and gradually stir in the milk. When boiling, add the potatoes and onion juice. Cook slowly until the potatoes have absorbed part of the sauce.

IF YOU wonder why these creamed potatoes taste better, you will find the explanation in the use of Mazola. Probably no other food in the kitchen is so useful to the modern housewife—taking the place of butter for cooking and shortening; as a better, more wholesome fat for frying; and as the perfect oil for fine salad dressings.

en, says Hohote Willis Morrow, author of "Forever Free," the first novel based on the life of Abraham Lincoln.

Mrs. Morrow spent eight years scanning biographies and diaries and read more than 100 volumes for data. Mention of female names was so rare she had to resort to secret service files for the character of her villainess.

"Only in the last decade have American women become important in the lives of men who are making American history," she said. "In the period of the Civil War there were no women of outstanding political influence. We must have counted them merely as breeders of soldiers, for after reading every scrap of printed material about Lincoln and his era I find no mention of women who served outside the home."
