

PETTICOAT RULE FOUND IN TEXAS

Although Ma Ferguson is Out, Women Still Have a Lot of Power

DALLAS, Tex., Apr. 1 (AP)—Women have a lot to say about the way things are run around the Texas state capital.

They are literally "in a position" to do so, from the senate on down to departmental assistants, which have jobs serving the state which recently had its first woman governor.

Many in Office.

Miss Margie Neal is the state's first woman senator.

Mrs. Jane Y. McCallum is the second successive woman to be secretary of state.

In the attorney general's office, Miss Ethel Hilton is the first woman assistant attorney.

Miss Louise Stone recently was elected chief clerk of the house of representatives. Only 22, she is the first woman to hold that position. She appointed Mrs. Thelma Mize, another young woman, as her first assistant.

Parliamentary tangles in the house are ironed out daily by Miss Oveta Culp, parliamentarian, who sits with the speaker and rules on who is in order and who is not when the debates get into real swing.

Aids Education.

A former school teacher and publisher of a weekly newspaper, Senator Neal has introduced and fought for several bills, chiefly relating to education. Some of her astute male colleagues recently so amended one of her bills that she had to vote against it, but she is carrying on undaunted.

Mrs. McCallum, appointed secretary of state by Governor Dan Moody, who defeated Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson for re-election, succeeded Mrs. Ferguson's appointee, Mrs. Emma Grigsby Mohr, the first woman secretary. The new secretary has had a hand in nearly all the important club work in Texas for several years. She is 43 years old and the author of a book to appear in the spring on the "most useful women in history," although the title has not been announced.

Miss Snow, who was assistant house clerk before her election to succeed Carl Pihney, resigned, has taught two school terms, and was a University of Texas student until recently.

In addition to these, many lesser positions now have women in command.

SENATOR YOUR HOMPERS!

Long skirts will return, says Mrs. Corrie Chapman Catt, but it will take 30 years to work the change. So Willie can look forward to having something he can hang onto by 1957.

Men may don womanly apparel, she guesses. The only reason we want to live 30 years more is to see Daves in a gingham apron. . . . Women probably will wear hats three feet wide made of spun glass, is another prediction. One thing about a glass hat, you probably will be able to see the person you're talking to. . . . Women, so then possibly will be a bit more light-headed than they are now. Would it be contempt of court to express the desire to behold William Howard Taft in a red kimono, with sandals? It isn't contempt of court then it certainly is criminal libel.

SMILE A WHILE WITH CAL

A smile on the president's face these days is a cheering rarity as the cares of his office seem to weigh with increasing heaviness upon his naturally solemn disposition. But he hasn't forgotten how to smile. This close-up proves that, conclusively.

Congress Is Growing Younger And More Athletic; Many Golfers Listed

WASHINGTON, Apr. 1 (AP)—Congress is growing younger, and more athletic, as time passes.

That epigrammatical condition is attributed by supporters of the direct primary to the direct primary, by defenders of the younger generation to the increasing influence of each succeeding younger generation, by others to the fact that, several years ago, an unusually large number of members died within a short period. Some even go so far as to suggest that it may be due to the spreading popularity of outdoor recreation among people in general, and constituents in particular.

Whatever the cause, more members of congress, and noticeably of the senate, where the average age is traditionally higher than in the house, are interested now in various forms of exercise than ever before.

With a long recess ahead of them, they can be expected to pay more attention to the development of their skill during the spring and summer than has been possible since last fall.

Many Golfers

The majority, of course, is made up of golfers headed by Vice President Dawes, and including at least one Representative, William H. Oliver, of Alabama, who shoots consistently under 90. Tennis, however, is represented, together with horseback riding, hunting, fishing, swimming, walking, gymnasium exercises and the well-known "daily dozen."

Several have notable athletic careers behind them. Representative Daniel A. Reed, of New York, prime mover in the organization, back in 1920, of the house gymnasium, which is maintained through private subscriptions by members, was a football and wrestling star at Cornell, where he later served for fifteen years as gridiron coach. He also was coach of Penn State for a time, and Representative Albert H. Vestal, of Indiana, one of those who became interested in the gymnasium idea, has given him credit for restoring his health.

Senator Henry W. Keyes, of New Hampshire, once was the stroke, and later coach, of the Harvard crew, while Senator Daniel F. Steak, of Iowa, and Representative Hamilton Fish, Jr., of New York, were celebrated football players.

Senator William E. Borah, of

OLDEST SALT

When Admirals Sims, Eberle and other illustrious high commanders of the American navy of this decade were in their swaddling clothes, Charles A. Sedetky, here shown with his pet pipe, was sailing the seven seas with a captain's braid on his sleeve. Captain Sedetky is not only the oldest living naval officer—his 100 years make him also the oldest Mason. He's a member of Lodge No. 2, Philadelphia.
