P-T. Association Is Organized At Fruitdale

A parent-teacher association of the Fruitdale school was organized Thursday afternoon, when a special meeting was held at the school house for that purpose.

Mrs. Salkfield was elected president of the association, which has about 15 members; Mrs. Dyal, vice president, and Mrs. T. W. Huckleman, one of the teachers of the school, secretary-treasurer.

It was decided that the regular meeting time of the association would be the first Friday in each month.

A special meeting has been called for next Friday afternoon, April 8, at the school to complete the organization work.

The Willow Parent-Teacher association met in regular session Friday afternoon at the school with a large attendance.

An interesting program was given, beginning with two songs by Miss Jones' room. A play "Chinese Puzzle," was given by the boys of Miss Lockridge's room, and Miss L. Hancock sang two numbers, accompanied by Ida May Ambrose at the piano.

Mrs. E. A. Sayre, whose daughter is in China as a missionary, gave an interesting talk on conditions there and showed some embroidery work which was sent to her from China and was made by Chinese women.

The parent-teacher association ode and song were given before the business session, which followed the program.

The hot lunch committee reported all bills paid. Mrs. Bates thanked all who assisted in making the recent rummage sale a success. Mrs. Young reported that the rope and posts had been purchased for guards around the swings at the school grounds and that a man had been hired to put them in.

The nomination of officers for the new year was then taken up. Mrs. Bennett nominated Mrs. Alexander to succeed herself as president of the association. A motion was then made for Mrs. John Barnes to continue as vice president of the association. Mrs. T. R. Cunningham as secretary and Mrs. C. J. Douhan as treasurer.

It was decided to raise the dues of the association from 25 cents and 25 cents to 50 and 40 cents next year.

The nutrition lecture to be held at Lane chapel April 5 from 10:30 in the morning to 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon was announced. A potluck luncheon will be served and each one is to bring one dish and sandwiches for one.

Mrs. Housh suggested a harvest festival for the hot lunch fund to be held in the fall. All members of the association will plan for the festival during the summer.

Two visitors, Mrs. L. Faus, city council vice president, and Mrs. George M. Pierce, president of the Riveria school association, were called on for short talks. Mrs. Faus suggested a community song practice before convention time and Mrs. Pierce told of a meeting to organize a county council to be held in the high school auditorium next Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

An evening meeting of the association was planned for May and Mrs. Birch was appointed chairman of the refreshment committee.

Instead of roll call the prize picture was given to Miss Jones' and Miss Lockridge's rooms, who furnished the refreshment program. Tea was served following the business session.

Mrs. Lynch Hostess At Bridge Party

Mrs. Claude Lynch was hostess to the Friday Afternoon Bridge club yesterday afternoon, when three tables of bridge were at play.

Mrs. Fred Spaeth made high score among the club members and the second prize went to Mrs. Harry Lavey. The guest prize was given to Mrs. Lyle Kiddle. The rooms were attractively decorated with bouquets of yellow daffodils. Following the card games the hostess served luncheon.

Mrs. Ross Eaton will be the next hostess to the club, Friday, April 15.

Members of the Valencela Bridge club enjoyed an April Fool's day party last evening when Mr. and Mrs. Claude Nash were host and hostesses at their home on K avenue.

Three tables of bridge were formed. The evening high score among the women went to Mrs. Frank Brierley and the low score to Mrs. Carl Dallas. Hay Leebetter received high score among the men players and Everett Keown the low. In keeping with the occasion the prizes were reversed, the first prizes being given to those receiving low and the consolation prizes to the high scores.

Pink and white was the color scheme used. A two-course luncheon was served following the card games.

P. E. O. Chapter in Interesting Meet

Chapter I of P. E. O. held an interesting meeting yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. L. Richardson, with Mrs. Lucy Stanchfield as assistant hostess.

Mrs. George Birnie had the program for the afternoon and she gave an interesting review of the book "Galatiah" by John Erskine. After the usual business session a social was enjoyed during the remainder of the afternoon, when the hostess served refreshments.

Bouquets of the season's flowers, tulips and daffodils, were used to decorate the rooms.

The regular business meeting and social of the Epworth league of the First Methodist Episcopal church was held last evening at the home of Miss Dorothy Brown with 19 members in attendance.

The business session took up the early part of the evening, after which games were enjoyed.

Besides the league members their supervisor, Miss Blanche Clark, and the Rev. and Mrs. H. W. Parker were present.

The committee in charge, Miss Dorothy Brown, Miss E. Jane Irwin and Miss Mary Culp, served refreshments before adjournment.

The Intermediate Christian Endeavor society of the Christian church held its regularly monthly business meeting and social last evening at the home of Mrs. Oma E. Lapham.

After the business session April fool games were played. Refreshments were served, the first course being an April fool joke.

Those present were Ruth Cullen, Lois Conley, Wilma Hansell, Ava Williams, Winifred Dunn, Tom Hardesty, Robert Marcelle, Paul Walker and Robert Weeks.

Announcements

The Central Council of the parent-teacher associations will meet Monday afternoon at 4:15 o'clock in the Neighborhood club rooms. All members are urged to be there.

The Art Research club will meet Monday at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. C. S. Moore, at the corner of Cedar street and Spring avenue.

The regular meeting of the Woman's Benefit association will be Tuesday evening at the K. P. hall.

MENUS

By Sister Mary
BREAKFAST — Orange juice, cereal, cream, rich waffles, new maple syrup, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON — Shrimp stew, toasted crackers, lettuce rolls, rice, bread and butter sandwiches, rice pudding, milk, tea.

DINNER — Grilled fresh cod, baked potatoes, bean greens, stuffed prune salad, cinnamon toast, bran bread, pineapple ice, sponge cake, milk, coffee.

Tiny squares of hot cinnamon toast are served with the dinner salad. The prunes themselves are soaked overnight in cold water to cover and then very gently simmered in the same water until plump but not soft. Drain, chill and remove stones. Then stuff with a combination of peanut butter and cream cheese.

Shrimp stew is out of the ordinary and quite as acceptable as oyster stew.

Shrimp Stew
One pound fresh shrimps, 4 tablespoons butter, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon paprika, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 1/2 teaspoon celery salt, 2 cups milk, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 tablespoon minced parsley.

Remove shells from fish and with a sharp pointed knife remove tiny dark vein. Wash thoroughly and run cold water through them. Drain slightly. Put butter and shrimps into stew pan, add salt, pepper, paprika and celery salt, cover and simmer over a low fire for fifteen minutes. Add milk and bring to the boiling point.

Rub flour into 1 tablespoon butter and mix into hot stew. Cook five minutes, stirring constantly, sprinkle with parsley and serve with toasted crackers. (Copyright, 1927, NEA Service, Inc.)

QUEEN PLANS RETURN TO SWEDISH RESORT

ROME—Devotion to her adopted land and improved health may enable Queen Victoria of Sweden to return this summer to her royal residence at Solhuden, on the island of Oland, in the Baltic. The queen is spending this season in southern Italy, obeying her physician's orders.

When her majesty became ill last year, Swedish court circles were much disturbed lest their queen be compelled to spend the rest of her life away from them. Queen Victoria will be 65 years old this year.

The Garden

THREE CLASSES OF FERTILIZERS

More and more the application of fertilizers in the garden becomes the important factor in the spring's garden plans. Carelessly used manures often will do little good, and in some cases might even do harm. There are, in general, three classes of fertilizer, animal manure, vegetable, and mineral fertilizers, the last being confined to commercial soil stimulants and plant food.

The refuse from horses, cows, sheep, pigs, and poultry, and the imported guano, together with bones, form the first class. The average gardener in this list must depend chiefly on pulverized sheep manure or shredded cow manure sold commercially together with bone meal. The scarcity of farm manure such as was commonly used twenty years ago makes it necessary to procure the commercially prepared article. In general, the animal manures are soil builders in that they provide humus along with the fertilizing elements. They should always be well rotted, as horse manure heats when fresh and cow manure is much easier handled when well rotted.

Poultry manure is often available, but is a valuable fertilizer only when properly used. It must be well mixed with the soil or gypsum or land plaster before being applied to the soil, as it is so strong and hot fresh from the poultry run. The commercial sheep and cow manures are excellent to be used as a top dressing or to be dug into the soil. The others need to be thoroughly incorporated. They are chiefly nitrogenous fertilizers. The bone products are a different type, being rich in phosphates and lime and being slow in their operation, lasting two seasons.

Vegetable manures are those composed of rotted leaves, grass and garden refuse, as well as growing crops turned under—green manures. Their use is to add humus and mellow the texture of the soil.

The nitrates, sulphates, lime and phosphates are the mineral manures. They are quick acting fertilizers to supply elements lacking in the soil and to stimulate growth. The animal manures are best for the small garden if available.

FIRST NOVEL BY COBB'S DAUGHTER

NEW YORK—Irvin Cobb has become a grandfather. In his family circle he is proud of his granddaughter, Patricia Cobb Chapman, born several months ago.

But in the literary world he is receiving congratulations on the birth of his only daughter's first novel. With the publication of "Falling Seeds," by Elizabeth Cobb Chapman, the literary art is saying that the adage "Like father, like son," might also be paraphrased to read "daughter."

Although "Falling Seeds" is a serious novel dealing with the struggles of a modern married couple to find happiness in a conventional world, the book is credited with humor and a sense of fun.

Elizabeth Cobb Chapman, who is only 25, has developed her talent far from parental influence. She and her husband, Frank M. Chapman Jr., have been living in an old Florentine monastery, where her baby, "Princess Pat," was born and where also her first novel was written.

SIX WOMEN ENTER HORSES FOR DERBY

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — A pseudo-anonymity is assumed by women interested in racing here. Six women have nominated horses for this year's Kentucky Derby, four of whom use the nom de course of being stable in making their entries.

They are: Mrs. H. E. Croissant, Crescent Stables, Chicago; Mrs. Payne Whitney, Greentree Stable, New York city; Mrs. J. H. Byrd, Shoestring Stable, Lexington, Ky., and Mrs. H. C. Phipps, Wheatley Stable, Old Westbury, Long Island.

Those using their own names are: Mrs. Walter M. Jeffords, Geln Riddle, Pa., and Mrs. Louise Viau New York city.

PENNSILENIA BUREAU HANDLES 3500 CASES

ALBANY, N. Y.—This estate has operated a social service bureau with 3500 cases on file, for seven years without a cent of funds. It is known as the Afters-Care Service Bureau of the department of labor. Its director is Mrs. Anna Goerckle. "Our office started in three drawers loaned us in an official's desk," Mrs. Goerckle says. "Now we have more work than we can comfortably handle. The bureau is really a clearing house for injured workmen and their families. My business is to show people how to help themselves, and therefore I have to be somewhat of a lawyer and doctor as well as director."

BARRE WRITING PLAY FOR EASTER PARTY

GLoucester, Eng. — Peter Pan's creator is writing an Easter play for the eight grandchildren of the Earl of Wemyss, one of Sir James Barrie's very best friends.

The play will never be seen by the public, but will be produced on Easter at Stanway Hall, the Wemyss ancestral home at Morston-in-the-March, which is often visited by Sir James when he is in the mood of creating the diminutive creatures who appeal to him, he says, as strongly as they did when he brought Peter Pan into being.

Sir James says he would rather write a play like this for his friends than the children and the fairies than to put on a success which would run for the rest of his life.

NATIONAL GROWTH INSPIRES ARTIST

NEW YORK—The progress of an artist depends on the development of the country in which he works, thinks Gaston Lachaise, eminent French sculptor, and the many sculptural decorations by him of some of New York's newest skyscrapers show the merit of his opinion.

Lachaise once refused the prix de Rome because he preferred to remain in America, where, he declares, there is a greater future for art than in the past of Europe. An exhibit of Lachaise sculpture now at the Anderson gallery shows the progress of his work in the 29 years he has lived in America.

A seagull by Lachaise has a place in the Arlington national cemetery as a memorial to the coast guards. A has relief on the mausoleum of William Rockefeller and his tribute to American womanhood called "Woman" are other notable examples of his work.

A Warning!

In regard to the use of gasoline in the home for cleaning purposes.

The Portland Telegram Thursday evening issue tells us of the complete destruction of a home and serious injuries to a mother and child, all caused from the explosion of gasoline while cleaning a few garments. According to the lady's statement there was no fire in the house at the time, the explosion being caused by static electricity generated in handling the garments.

This accident happened at Freewater, Ore.

Why take these risks, thinking you are saving a few dollars?

GIRL HOUTS BANDITS FROM INDIANA BANK

INDIANAPOLIS — Masked marauders for whom the country bank once was easy prey have found their nemesis in Miss Paula Metlanie, secretary of the Indiana Bankers' association. On her own initiative Miss Metlanie executed a campaign which is outlawing outlaws here.

At her insistence a state bureau for criminal identification by finger prints has been established. She has also directed the organization of vigilante corps who are freight-proof and equipped to offer a lenden reception to bandits.

QUAKERS STAYS DANCES AT OXFORD

OXFORD, Eng.—Oxford women undergraduates at last are to be permitted to dance—with official chaperonage. And a Quakeress is largely responsible for this radical letting down of the conventional bars. She is Miss Margery Fry, newly appointed head of Somerville college. One of her dominant characteristics is her understanding of the needs of the woman student. Only two restraints are put upon the women of Oxford in this new privilege. Dancing parties must end at 11 o'clock and they must be chaperoned.

Windows That Win Are Well Lighted

GLARING light is just as wrong as dim light. Glare hurts eyesight. People look away from glare. Dimly lighted windows are passed by unnoticed. Both cause loss of business. Well lighted windows are flooded with light from concealed lamps. The displays stand out in all their attractiveness. Passersby stop and admire your merchandise in comfort.

accomplishes this. Ample light—no glare—no added cost for current.

X-RAY Reflectors double the brightness of any window. They are designed on the searchlight principle. Instead of wasting light on the ceiling, walls and sidewalk, they concentrate all the light on the goods, spreading it evenly over the display.

The lamps are hidden from the eye, giving an effect like a theater stage.

X-RAY Reflectors are the only reflectors made exclusively for show window lighting. Seventy per cent of the windows on State Street, Chicago—the second largest shopping district in the world—are lighted with X-RAY Reflectors.
